BRITISH CHARGE HITLER PERILS WORLD PEACE

Simon Insists Berlin Caused Crisis.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, returned from the Geneva disarmament conference today and immediately proceeded to air indignant opinions of recent utterances and personal accusations by Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Germany's foreign minister. He also indulged in a heated assault on Germany for breaking up the disarmament conference when "everything was almost lovely."

The Nazi foreign chief, in explaining yesterday why Germany felt it necessary to preserve its national honor by withdrawing from the league of nations and the disarmament parley, asserted that Sir John had misrepresented Germany's stand on arms to the United States and indicated that it was Sir John's speech of last Saturday which caused Germany to decide to bolt from Geneva.

Hints Nazi is "Untruthful."

Sir John twice today refuted the baron's statements with considerable fire and politely implied that Von Neurath was, perhaps, untruthful. The first occasion was upon his appearance at 10 Downing street.

"I would indeed be sorry for any difference with Baron von Neurath on a matter of fact," he said. "My fellow countrymen may rest assured that the suggested inaccuracies are not on my side."

Tonight Sir John was given the facilities of the government-controlled broadcasting service to state his case to the nation more fully.

"I very much regret to see that Baron von Neurath in addressing the foreign press has been accusing me of taking a false view as to this [Germany's armaments demands] and indeed of misstating the facts." Sir John said. "Well, I am perfectly willing to publish documents and records to show the truth of the matter and indeed, in view of what he has said, the British government is entitled to do so.

Says Breach is Widened.

"There is not the slightest doubt in the minds of any of us who have been closely in touch with these discussions in behalf of this country as I have that the attitude taken by the German government at the last moment represented a further widening of the breach [between the former allies and Germany] and that all the hard work which had been put into it by all of us was jeopardized, if not wrecked, by this new attitude."

Sir John, thoroughly aroused, asserted that Germany would have the world believe that it was his speech of last Saturday alone, in which he set forth the former allies' plan of disarmament, which drove the Germans out.

"As for the statement itself," he said, "it is enough to say that the distinguished representative of the United States [Norman H. Davis] who spoke immediately after me not only confirmed my account of the conversations, but indorsed and supported what I said in every way."

Calls German Claims "Absurd."

Sir John reiterated a recent statement by Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council and lord privy seal, that the country which wrecked the disarmament conference would not have a friend in the world. He urged good will and coöperation, however, in reaching an "honest and honorable compact."

Sir John branded the German claims in connection with disarmament as "absurd." He observed, however, that the present crisis calls for long deliberation and negotiation with other governments, "including, I hope, the government of Germany herself." He warned that the British government would not be rushed into any hasty decisions as to future action.

After reviewing the last year and a half of disarmament wrangles and alluding to the promise of equality given Germany at a meeting of the big powers—France, Italy, United States, and Britain—last December, Sir John presented the viewpoint of the former allies that a Germany ruled by the Hitler régime [which came to power on Jan. 30, 1933] is not entitled to parity at the same rate as was the German republic.

"A new fact, a very serious fact, emerged which does not in the least alter the pledge we gave but which necessarily affects the detailed manner of its fulfillment," Sir John averred. "Recent events in Europe unquestionably have increased the feeling of

EXTENSION WON BY CONCESSIONS AND VISITORS

Pleas for Next Year Are Considered.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The World's Fair, scheduled to close its gates at midnight Oct. 31, will remain open until midnight Sunday, Nov. 12, with the final week of the Fair, including Armistice day, the banner celebration of the entire Exposition. Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager, made the announcement last night after a conference with the directors of the Exposition.

All departments started working at once on the program for the added 12 days. Present plans call for Armistice day and night to be the highlight of the Fair with civic and military organizations working to get every man and woman who had any part in the great war to participate in the final celebration. Chicago's Armistice day celebration this year will center at the Exposition.

Great Halloween Celebration.

Full details of the closing fortnight are not yet complete, but do include a great Halloween celebration with the grounds covered by corn shocks, pumpkins, witches, goblins, and like figments of fall festivities. During the day all the program will be for special benefit of children, and in the evening the adults will be given their chance.

Yesterday's decision to keep the Fair in operation through Armistice day followed a meeting of the Concessionaires' association, at which the demand was made for the additional period. Last Friday the exhibitors held a similar meeting, and tomorrow the railroad associations will vote on maintaining the cut rates into Chicago. It is a foregone conclusion that this step will be taken.

For the last month constantly increasing pressure has been exerted on the officials to maintain the Fair in full operation through November.

Good Weather Indicated.

Officials considered that it was a physical impossibility to operate the Fair through November because of problematical weather during the final two weeks. A study of the last twenty years showed a fifty-fifty chance that the weather during the entire month would be good, but showed almost no likelihood of bad weather early in the month.

To operate and pay expenses the Fair must maintain an average of fifty thousand paid admissions a day, with any admissions over that figure representing profit. At the present time the daily average is around 150,000 admissions, with no indication of a letdown.

Surveys by the Fair have indicated that a majority of the recent admissions are from Chicago, and also a majority of the demands that the Fair operate an additional period are from Chicago. This fact was given heavy consideration in the decision to operate until Nov. 12.

Expect No October Decline.

Some fear was felt that an announcement at this time would cut into the attendance the remainder of October. A survey of the letters received, however, shows that a majority of them are from people who have already seen the Fair, intend going during the remainder of October, but wish additional time to visit some portions.

The record breaking attendance of the past week-end also had great weight in the Fair's decision.

In the concessionaires' resolution, adopted without a dissenting vote, the request was also made the Fair reopen next summer. Officials would not comment on this phase of the matter, but it was indicated that this is being given serious consideration.

Concessionaires for 1934 Fair.

After requesting the two weeks addition this year the concessionaires' resolution, presented by Robert Eitel, president of the association, dwelt on next season.

"It is the further opinion of this association," the resolution said, "that in spite of the unequaled success of A Century of Progress the complete benefits that ought to be derived from the years of efforts and vast sums of money expended in bringing about said Exposition and its success are yet to be realized."

Yesterday's attendance attained a total of 107,466 at 11:30 p. m. Despite the fact that the program yesterday included no unusual events and the weather was gloomy the turnout showed an increase of approximately 25,000 over that of Monday.

SHORT CIRCUIT CUTS OFF FAIR'S LIGHT AND POWER

Electric light and power at the World's Fair were cut off approximately half an hour yesterday afternoon as a result of a short circuit in a transformer. The entire area north of 31st street was affected, beginning about 3:30 o'clock.

The failure of current emphasizes the dependence of the Fair upon electricity. The exhibit buildings, dependent upon artificial light, went dark, and guides were sent among the crowds to urge them to go outdoors. The pump at the north end of the grounds which supplies 15,000,000 gallons of water a day to the Exposition stopped. The Sky Ride elevators and "rocket" cars, the rides on the Midway, and the hundreds of exhibits operated by electricity were halted. The electric system which tabulates attendance failed, and workers had to telephone the figures to the treasurer's department.

A score of armed guards were detailed, most of them to the treasurer's office, to prevent robberies.

Engineers of the Commonwealth Edison company immediately put emergency lines into operation. The Adler planetarium, however, remained in darkness the remainder of the afternoon and all evening while the transformer was being repaired.

MR. LOVE'S BEER TAVERN APPEARS SAFE BY INCHES

A matter of three inches will decide whether J. E. Love will be licensed to open a beer tavern at 3126 South Oak Park avenue, Berwyn.

The proposed spot is close to the Swedish Lutheran church, and Berwyn laws provide that no beverage place may be opened less than 300 feet from a church without its consent.

The question of the proximity of Love's tavern to the church was raised at a Berwyn board meeting last night. It was apparently settled in Love's favor when Building Commissioner Frank Eiselt announced that he had measured the distance and had found the tavern to be 300 feet and 3 inches from the church. However, the board deferred final action until Oct. 31.

Walter May Still Be Tired, but Not Disgusted

NEW GERMANY, N. S., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Tired and disgusted after two days of unsuccessful hunting, Walter Hubley came back home and went to bed. Awakened by a noise in his yard, he took one look, grabbed his rifle and blazed away. Result: One big moose.

Miss Windsor Loses $11 and One Romance

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The serial thriller has long ago gone to that limbo from which no movie returns; the weekly continuity in which virtue triumphed after many perils and villainy fell is also dead.

But the "Complications of Claire"—starring Miss Claire Windsor and Alfred Read—still continues its weekly releases. But it is in real life, and the latest release may wind up with Mr. Read in durance vile: A prisoner for larceny. It was not a large larceny, the magistrate in his warrant called it "petit" and Miss Windsor, the complainant, admits it involves only $11—2 fives and a singleton.

Under A Kansas Moon.

The romance, which began on a speeding train under a bright Kansas moon, where Claire, for the first time met the entrancing Oakland broker, apparently has bogged completely.

The love that caused Mr. Read to appear as a witness for Miss Windsor when Mrs. Read was asking damages for the loss of a husband, is a flop. Even his testimony seems to have been a bit sour, for Mrs. Read was awarded $75,000 damages from Claire for taking over Mr. Read's affections.

Today's stories of Miss Windsor and Mr. Read agree on one fact, that their meeting last Saturday night was the result of that trial. In all other features they disagree widely.

She Sets the Stage.

According to Miss Windsor's statement, Read telephoned her on Saturday and informed her he had valuable new evidence to support her legal battle for a new trial. He said he had three letters from his former wife to another person.

Miss Windsor had seen too many movies and read too many scenarios not to know the answer to that one.

She arranged that Read visit her at her parents' home and she had her attorney, Leonard Wilson, present. Before Read appeared, however, Wilson telephoned the police and had detectives assigned to watch the house outside. Then Read arrived. Miss Windsor's talk with him was brief. As he left the house the police halted him and he turned over to them two $5 bills and a $1 bill which Miss Windsor claimed had been in a purse on a chair during their conference. She had taken down the numbers of the bills and they fitted.

Tired of His Conduct.

Miss Windsor said in discussing the incident:

"I am sorry to have to do this, but I'm sick and tired of Read's conduct."

When told later that Read had called the issuance of the complaint a "frame-up," Miss Windsor replied:

"It is no frame-up, although I did plant the bag there to see what he would do about it."

Read, who had made ventures into the movie and boxing businesses without much success, said Miss Windsor had summoned him to Los Angeles.

Read Says She Gave Him $11.

Miss Windsor, Read said, sought to get from him an affidavit substantiating charges made by three women that he, before he ever met her, made love to them on representation he was unmarried. The actress gave him $11 to reimburse him for his trip, he said. He asserted he told Miss Windsor he could not make the affidavit she requested, because the other affidavits were misleading.

Miss Windsor went to the prosecutor's office this morning and swore to a complaint which caused a warrant for the arrest of Read.

Ann Dvorak Was Active; Rattler Was in Earnest

Hollywood, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Bitten by a rattlesnake while she was portraying the rôle of an Indian girl in a motion picture, Ann Dvorak, movie actress, was brought to a studio hospital today for an examination and treatment. She was given emergency treatment, including an injection of anti-venom serum, at the location first aid station.

Utility Officer Admits Theft of $132,000

Howard W. Duncan, former assistant treasurer of the Northern Indiana Public Service company, which has headquarters in Hammond, appeared yesterday before Judge William J. Murray in the Lake County Criminal court at Crown Point and pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $1,500 from the company.

Duncan first astonished the court by admitting that the real total of his defalcations was $132,000, which he said he lost to racetrack bookmakers. Then his attorney, Joseph Conroy, waved a large green envelope before the judge during a plea for clemency and stated:

"The Public Service officials ought to be the last to insist that this man go to the penitentiary. I've got enough here to blast the officers and directors of that company and of the holding companies which controlled it out of the trenches."

Orders Grand Jury to Meet.

The result of this statement was that Robert G. Estill, prosecuting attorney of Lake county, conferred first with Conroy and then with Judge Murray, who ordered the grand jury assembled tomorrow afternoon. Judge Murray deferred his sentence of Duncan until Monday.

Attorney Conroy refused to state the nature of his charges. They are understood, however, to concern the transfer of several million dollars of assets of the Public Service company to the holding companies during the frantic days when Samuel Insull was draining his enterprises of assets in a vain effort to bolster his bank loans.

"I know of no such transactions," said Morse Dell Plain, president of the Northern Indiana Public Service company. "If they had taken place they would surely have been shown in the annual report of the company for 1932, and they are not shown there. I have no personal information on the subject because until the first of the present year the offices of our secretary and treasurer were located in Chicago in the offices of the Midland United company."

Serves Northern Indiana.

The Northern Indiana Public Service company, a $100,000,000 concern, controls and manages utility companies serving some 26 northern Indiana cities. It is controlled by Midland Utilities company, with headquarters in Indiana, which is, in turn, controlled by Midland United company of Chicago. The latter concern, in turn, is owned jointly by Commonwealth Edison company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and Middle West Utilities company, which were three of the "blue chips" of the Insull stack.

Except for his weakness for gambling, Duncan is regarded by his friends as a model man. He neither drinks nor smokes. His home is at 7 West Mason street, Calumet City, which is in a residential section for Hammond business men.

Duncan, through Attorney Conroy, brought his embezzlements to the attention of company officials last January. A six months' audit of his accounts, in which he assisted, followed, and he was arrested on the charge of embezzling $1,500 in June.

Penalty for Embezzlement.

Under the Indiana law, embezzlement of less than $2,000 carries a penalty of from two to fourteen years' imprisonment, while for embezzlement of more than that amount the penalty is from five to fifteen years. The company has recovered $96,000 of the larger peculations from bonding companies, according to a statement yesterday by Mr. Dell Plain.

"Duncan handled a considerable quantity of cash," explained Mr. Dell Plain. "He abstracted some of this cash and covered up his defalcations by manipulations of checks. The various operating companies deposit in local banks and their deposits were regularly transferred to banks in Hammond.

Tells Duncan's Method.

"Duncan would draw checks on the outlying banks a day or so before the end of the month and deposit them to the company account in Hammond. They would show as credits on the monthly statement from the Hammond bank, but since they did not reach the banks on which they were drawn until after the first of the succeeding month they would not be subtracted from our credits there in the monthly statements of the outlying banks. By this system of duplicating credits and check kiting Duncan concealed his thefts."

Attorney Conroy offered a novel plea for Duncan before Judge Murray, whom he asked to impose a short sentence and a nominal fine. The Hammond banks where the company deposited money have since closed. By stealing the money, he pleaded, Duncan really saved the company considerable sums, since it recovered part of the defalcations from the bonding companies, which it would have lost had Duncan followed the honest course of depositing it in the banks which closed later.

ORDERS PRISON FOR NRA SIGNER VIOLATING CODE

Roosevelt Prepares Stern Action.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Fines and imprisonment were ordered today by President Roosevelt for those who have signed an NRA agreement and violate its terms.

Reports of many thousands of violations of the agreement by employers displaying the Blue Eagle have brought the administration to drop its first characterization of the pact as a "gentleman's agreement," and to substitute force and prosecution in its place.

Coincident with the signing by the President of an executive order proclaiming fines up to $500 and imprisonment up to six months for violators of the Blue Eagle agreement, rules and regulations were issued by Gen. Johnson which must be obeyed by signers.

Text of Executive Order.

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by Section 10 [A] of the national industrial recovery act, approved June 16, 1933 [Public No. 67, 73d congress], I hereby prescribe the following rules and regulations necessary for carrying out the purposes of Title I. of said act:

"A. No one shall falsely represent himself to be discharging the obligations or complying with the provisions of the President's reëmployment agreement or of any code of fair competition approved by the President under the national industrial recovery act or of any rule or regulation prescribed to carry out the purposes of said act.

"B. No one shall display, or use any emblem, or insignia, or any reproduction of any emblem, or insignia of the national recovery administration contrary to any rules or regulations prescribed hereunder by the administrator for industrial recovery.

O. K.'s Supplementary Rules.

"I hereby authorize the administrator for industrial recovery to prescribe such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary to supplement, amplify, or carry out the purposes and intent of the rules and regulations.

"C. Any person who violates any of the foregoing rules and regulations or any rule or regulation prescribed hereunder by the said administrator may be punished, as provided in Section 10 [A] of the national industrial recovery act, by a fine not to exceed five hundred dollars [$500] or imprisonment not to exceed six months, or both."

Made Arbiter for Retailers.

President Roosevelt now has become the final arbiter in the long and heated dispute over the NRA codes for all the retailers of the country.

Gen. Johnson laid the general retail code in the lap of the White House today, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace followed a bit later with the food and grocery code.

The two codes are reported to be miles apart in their treatment of the fair practices provisions aimed to govern price fixing.

Secretary Wallace said tonight that the President has a plan of his own for overhauling the whole retailers' program, and that Mr. Roosevelt expects to arrive at a prompt decision settling the question."

Both codes will carry the same general provisions to eliminate unfair price cutting, it is reported.

Wallace and Johnson Agree.

Secretary Wallace declared that he and Gen. Johnson had reached an accord on what ought to be done, but the NRA administrator declared he "had nothing to do with" the food and grocery code, and indicated that he had given the general code to the President with a series of alternate recommendations.

Johnson still favors the 10 per cent "cost plus" provision in the retailers' code, he indicated, while Wallace has declared that the codes should go no further than to prevent selling below invoice cost. Neither could say what President Roosevelt has in mind for a settlement.

The President was visited by a delegation of retailers who insisted vehemently that the 10 per cent cost plus feature, which they called a "loss limitation" clause, be retained.

"There is no retail firm anywhere," said Johnson after seeing the President, "which operates on as low as a 10 per cent price markup over cost. The average cost of marketing goods is 26 per cent, and in some instances it runs as high as 100 per cent and over, depending upon the type of service offered."

Johnson admitted that the economists assigned by NRA and the agricultural administration to study the retail codes were "practically unanimous" in opposition to the cost plus feature.

OGLESBY SHUNS U. S. CASH

Oglesby, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The city of Oglesby has refused to join the scramble for federal public works funds without careful consideration. The council has tabled a suggestion that $25,000 be sought for a new concrete surface storage tank near the new city hall.

Previously the council had rejected a proposal to ask for $100,000 for construction of a sewerage disposal system and completion of the present sewer system.

Of the council meeting The Oglesby Sentinel said that the "city council tacitly rejected the opportunity of applying for a federal loan and instead agreed informally to delve deeper into the complicated structure of work relief as it is currently practiced in Peru, Seneca, Marseilles, Ottawa, and Streator.

"These developments followed the readings of a letter from the Wells Engineering company, Geneva, city consultants on the recent new well deepening, in which the upstate engineers urged the city to take advantage of the 30-70 federal public works handouts. Said the engineers:

"'We feel that Oglesby will be making a mistake if they have any improvements that should be made and do not take advantage of the government's liberal offer. It is certainly reasonable to assume that municipal bonds on the open market will be unsaleable for some years to come due to the vast amount of government bonds being used at the present time.'

"The council had thought of asking for money to build its new concrete storage tank near its new well of about 300,000 gallons capacity and to run sewer and water mains into what is known as the deer park location. It is known that one member of the council solicited opinion among the residents of the location and was told by responsible residents there that they could not afford the special assessements at this time."

DEFENDS TRADE OF NEWSBOYS; HITS REFORMERS

Efforts of reformers to place newsboys in the same labor category with children employed in sweatshops were termed ridiculous yesterday by Howard W. Stodghill, chairman of the Newspaperboy Welfare committee of the International Circulation Managers' association. In support of his stand, Mr. Stodghill told members of the Central States Circulation Managers' association, in session at the Congress hotel, the results of a survey which have been submitted to Lindsay Rogers, deputy NRA administrator, in charge of the pending newspaper code.

Mr. Stodghill, who is circulation manager of the Louisville [Ky.] Courier-Journal, said the survey showed there are 588,387 newsboys in the United States. Of these, 414,503 deliver newspapers to a list of regular subscribers, working an average of 58 minutes a day and earning approximately $3 a week each. The remaining newsboys sell papers on the streets, each working an average of two hours and 14 minutes a day and earning about $4.28 a week.

"From the standpoint of business training there is probably no field which equals that of selling newspapers," said Mr. Stodghill. "Boys learn how to regulate their finances, are taught salesmanship, and learn the feature contents of each paper that they may intelligently make a sales talk."

ROBBER FORCES AID OF STRANGER, THEN KILLS HIM

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—(AP)—A drunken robber tonight forced a patron of a beer garden he had invaded to accompany him on two holdups, then shot him to death.

Sabel was seated in a beer garden when the robber entered, flourishing a pistol, and demanded free drinks. As he left, he forced Sabel to accompany him.

A few minutes later, with Sabel still an unwilling companion, he forced the proprietor of another beer garden to give him drinks. Then, while Sabel stood by, the robber held up a grocery store. As he left, he forced Sabel to walk in front of him at the point of the pistol.

Within a few seconds the proprietors of the grocery store heard a shot outside and found Sabel's body.

Taylorville Applies NRA Rate to Prisoners' Fines

Taylorville, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—At a meeting of the city council held Monday night, it was voted that prisoners sent to jail on a city charge to work out a fine be given the benefit of the NRA instead of being credited with fifty cents a day. The rate was raised to $2 per day.

350 MILLION TAX PUT ON USERS OF CORN AND HOGS

Will Go to Farmers for Cutting Output.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—A far reaching plan for restriction of the production of corn and hogs, involving a distribution of 350 million dollars to farmers, principally in the midwestern corn belt, was announced late today by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and George N. Peek, agricultural adjustment administrator.

The plan which is to be put into effect in the next few weeks with an initial distribution of 180 million dollars is designed to take 12½ million acres of corn land out of production next year, curtailing the corn crop by 360 million bushels, and reduce hog production 25 per cent.

By this means the administration aims to enhance the prices of corn and pork and by immediate distribution of the benefits to increase the purchasing power of the farmers at once.

Processing Tax for Funds.

The government will advance the funds necessary for immediate payment of benefits to farmers and will be reimbursed from the proceeds of processing tares levied on corn and pork.

Secretary Wallace also disclosed that the imposition of a compensating tax on beef cattle is contemplated for the benefit of live stock producers. The cattle benefit will be determined by the extent to which the increased price of pork switches consumption to beef.

Between one and one-half and two million farmers of the United States produce corn and hogs as a major enterprise. The majority of commercial corn-hog producers who will be eligible for benefit payments live in the 10 middle western states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

Two Lines of Approach.

Two main lines of approach to the corn-hog problem are provided in the agricultural adjustment administration's plan. They are:

First [a], reduction in 1934 of the average corn acreage on individual farms for the preceding 3 year base period by at least 20 per cent, and [b], a reduction of the average number of litters farrowed and hogs sold from individual farms during the preceding two year base period by 25 per cent.

Second, coöperation by the agricultural adjustment administration with the federal emergency relief administration if and when necessary to remove from regular channels of trade live hogs or cured hog products in such quantities and at such times as are deemed advisable by the administration officials further to effectuate the purposes of the act with respect to raising the prices of hogs.

The second method will be employed in combination with the first method if circumstances should warrant. In such circumstances the federal surplus relief corporation would be authorized to purchase for distribution through the emergency relief administration a percentage of the surplus supplies of hogs produced in 1933 and marketed in 1933 and 1934.

Schedule of Benefit Payments.

Each farmer who agrees to make the minimum adjustments in his corn and hog production for 1934 as provided under this plan will receive benefit payments on the following basis:

[a] Rental at the rate of 30 cents per bushel of the average production of corn during the three year base period of each acre removed from corn production. Upon arrangement with his local production control association an individual may contract to take out of corn production more than the minimum of 20 per cent of his average acreage during the last three years, but in no case less than the required 20 per cent.

[b] Adjustment payments of $5 per head [$2 on acceptance of contract, $1 on about Sept. 1, 1934, and $2 on about Feb. 1, 1935] on the number of hogs, equivalent to 75 per cent of the average number of hogs farrowed on the farm operated by the contracting grower, during the two year base period. To qualify for these payments, the contracting grower also must agree not to increase the average number of hogs bought and fed for market during the two year base period for hogs.

"A maximum of about 180 million dollars will be available for distribution as initial adjustment payments to participating farmers as soon as possible after acceptance of the contracts by the secretary," said Mr. Wallace.

Payment on Approval.

"A maximum of 80 million dollars, or approximately two-fifths of the total hog benefits will be paid upon approval of the producers' contracts; this initial payment to each farmer will be $2 per head on the number of hogs equivalent to 75 per cent of the average number of pigs farrowed and marketed from the contracting producer's farm during the base period.

"A second payment of $1 per head on the same basis is planned for about Sept. 1, 1934, on certification by the county corn-hog production control association that the contracting farmer has reduced the number of litters farrowed by 25 per cent under the average of the base period. A third payment of $2 per head is expected about Feb. 1, 1935, upon certification by the local control association that the number of hogs farrowed on the contracting grower's farm was 25 per cent under the numbers farrowed and marketed in the base period.

"The initial corn adjustment payment will be 20 cents per bushel, or two-thirds of the total rental payment of 30 cents per bushel, on the average production over the base period of the number of acres removed from corn production. This initial corn payment will be made as soon after acceptance of contracts by the secretary as possible. The remainder of the total rental payment will be paid after Aug. 1, 1934, upon evidence of fulfillment of the adjustment contract.

Processing Tax Applied.

"The program will be financed by a processing tax on both corn and hogs in amounts proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture. The initial processing ta xon hogs will be 50 cents per hundredweight of live animal, and will become effective Nov. 5, 1933, the beginning of the first hog marketing year under the act. This tax subsequently will be increased at intervals until it is $2 per hundredweight by Feb. 1, 1934. This tax of $2 per hundredweight shall continue through the 1933-'34 and 1934-'35 hog marketing years.

"A tax also will be collected on corn processed commercially, commencing with the next marketing year, in an amount to be proclaimed shortly by the secretary of agriculture. The next marketing year for corn will commence in November this year.

"The program also calls for protection of the competitive position of both corn and hogs in the domestic market if deemed necessary and advisable, by means of compensating taxes on imports and domestic supplies of products competing with corn and hogs."

3 SURRENDER $18,000 IN GOLD; WOMAN READY TO GIVE UP $84,000

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP)—A total of $18,000 in alleged hoarded gold came back to the United States government today from three persons who had been named in federal warrants as violating the anti-hoarding law.

United States Attorney H. H. McPike indicated he would drop prosecution of Mrs. Beulah Carleton, Alameda, who deposited $8,000 in the Federal Reserve bank; Mrs. Nellie Banzaff, Oakland, who returned $7,500, and James D. Potts, Alameda, who gave back $2,500. Mrs. Effie L. Martin of Fresno, has also agreed to surrender $84,000 in gold and gold certificates.

John M. Wilmans, San Francisco, who the government charged refused to return $9,000 in gold, appeared before United States Commissioner Williams and deposited $5,000 for his appearance at a hearing. His attorney indicated he would attack constitutionality of the anti-hoarding law.

Fights Prosecution.

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Frederick B. Campbell, indicted for gold hoarding, today sought to block his prosecution by asking an order restraining U. S. District Attorney George Z. Medalie from moving against him under a superseding indictment or any other head.

Campbell, lawyer and capitalist, charged with hoarding and failure to report possession of gold valued at $200,574, also asked the federal district court to rule on the constitutionality of the ant-hoarding law and the subsequent presidential order.

Major Market Newspapers Group Will Meet Today

One hundred members of the Major Market Newspapers, Inc., an organization to promote advertising and market research, will hold their annual meeting today at the Stevens hotel. The association has a newspaper member in each city with a population of 100,000 or more. Prof. L. O. Brown of the department of marketing and advertising of Northwestern university will be one of the speakers. Directors of the Audit Bureau of Circulations also will meet at the Stevens hotel today, preceding the annual meeting of the bureau tomorrow.

CHARGES EX-CONVICT SLEW WIDOW.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP)—A complaint charging Thomas M. Jones, 40, an ex-convict, with the murder of Mrs. Laura Ellen Straw, wealthy widow, was issued by the district attorney today after reviewing evidence submitted by police.

EDITOR ATTACKS NRA'S TENDENCY TO DICTATORSHIP

Proposal to Put Rein on Press Denounced.

An attack upon the dictatorial aspects of the NRA and the tendency toward government interference with the freedom of the press was made yesterday by Phil S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, before members of the Inland Daily Press association in the opening session of their two day convention at the Morrison hotel.

"Would anybody have thought a year ago," Mr. Hanna said, "that the secretary of agriculture would be given power to prevent a man selling milk for what he chose in the Chicago area? Would anybody have dreamed that the time would come when a government official would stand up and talk about boycotts and cracking down on employers who differ with politicians about the method of bringing back recovery?

Assails Licensing Proposal.

"And, bringing the matter close to home, did any of you ever remotely think that the day might come when the government would try to license newspapers as Gen. Johnson proposed?

"Gen. Johnson was quoted as saying last week that it was ghastly humor for a Wall street publication to point out how NRA has failed in the small communities. If the day has come when it is ghastly humor for the press to try to get the truth about the acts of its elected and appointed officials before the people, you just know that democracy is on its way out and fascism is on its way in."

Bureaucratic Press Bureaus.

"How much do we actually know about the stuff that comes out of Washington?" he said. "Papers that can afford to have their own men there come closest to getting the facts, of course, but the great majority must depend on press services.

"With every bureau and every commission maintaining highly skilled press agents and all striving to prove the success of their employers' endeavors, truth is becoming an orphan. Tons and tons of these handouts find their way into the press without anyone putting the X-ray on them to check their truthfulness, let alone their accuracy.

"This locust storm of publicity not only comes to the press at public expense, but an amount many times larger goes direct to the individual. If there were 3,409,447,250 pieces of mailing matter furnished by the public printer in the 1931 fiscal year, what must the total be today under NRA with its thousands of new activities everywhere?"

Raps "Selfish Minority."

While the great majority of those who signed for the Blue Eagle knew little its implications and liabilities and joined with the "let's go" sporting spirit, Mr. Hanna asserted, there also joined up a smart minority. It is this self-centered group that is making the trouble which has brought ill repute to the recovery program, he said.

"The labor leader who went out and told the workman that the President wanted him to join a union," said Mr. Hanna, "or that the workman must join a union in order to get the benefits of the NRA is certainly bad enough, but those members of big business who helped put the law over because they saw a chance to get rid of southern competition are just as culpable.

"The soviet notioned professors are doubtless sincere in their beliefs that economic planning must replace rugged individualism, but these men are merely pawns in the hands of the politicians who see in economic planning a chance to build up a federal political machine that will control the whole nation just as completely as Tammany has controlled New York.

Sees a National Tammany.

"I am not worried about Franklin D. Roosevelt misusing his power, but I am concerned about the acts of the men he has appointed and also of that day in the future when a national Tammany may assert its power and put a lesser man than Mr. Roosevelt at the helm.

"Referring to the query, 'What if NRA fails?' You have heard propaganda from zealot sources—if this does not work—chaos. Gentlemen, do not believe that for a minute. Business has been going along fairly well in spite of NRA. I honestly believe business would have a spurt if NRA was discontinued. The chaos they talk about is in the minds of those who have prostituted a marvelous endeavor by serving self-interest first."

Warns Free Press Is in Peril.

A warning that the free press in the United States in in grave danger of destruction under the NRA was given in the address of E. H. Harris, publisher of the Palladium and Item at Richmond, Ind., and secretary of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. He pointed out that congress has given to the government the right to license all forms of industry and that newspapers are now being asked to sign an agreement with the government under the NRA which will abridge the right of a free press in this country.

A report on the newspaper code hearings was made at an executive session of the Inland Daily Press association by Charles R. Butler, president of the association, who has just returned from Washington. A code for newspapers has not yet been signed.

At the conclusion of the day's meetings members of the association adopted a resolution declaring that it is the publishers' duty to the public to maintain the liberty of the press and to protest vigorously against any action tending toward its curtailment.

Discuss Liquor Advertising.

The question of acceptance of liquor advertisements after the repeal of prohibition was discussed during an advertising round table talk. About half of the more than 100 publishers present indicated they would not accept such advertising and thirty specifically said they would not accept whisky advertisements.

Victor L. Moffett, editor of the Monmouth Review, was elected president of the organization of Illinois Associated Press editors at the annual meeting of about 25 downstate and Chicago members in the Morrison hotel during the day. Barney Thompson of Rockford Newspapers, Inc., was elected vice president.

ST. LOUIS PHYSICIANS SET $5,000 TOP FOR FEES OF SURGEONS

St. Louis, Oct. 17.—(AP)—A maximum fee of $5,000 for a surgical operation is fixed in a fee table and code of practice indorsed by the St. Louis Medical society. No minimum fee is fixed for major operations.

The table endorsed by the society last Friday was made public today.

A committee to be known as the code and contract board may suspend any member of the society, after trial, who persists "in unethical practices."

One provision provides "no member of this society shall make any contract, expressed or implied, to attend an individual, family, club, lodge or other organization by the year, or any terms other than those authorized by these regulations."

Fees to be charged when the patient visits the doctor range from $2 to $5, and when the doctor visits the patient, $3 to $5.

While maximum fees are fixed for all classes of cases, they may be increased when extraordinary services are required.

ELEPHANT WINS FIGHT WITH FLEA IN NRA OFFICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—A great host of reporters, almost all of the elder statesmen of journalism, and all of the Washington gossip colyumnists, made a path today to the office of the NRA commissar, Gen. Hugh Johnson.

In brilliance of talent and numerical attendance ,it undoubtedly was the greatest press conference the general ever has held. Even the "black sheet" boys, who exchange stories and thus save much effort and shoe leather, turned out for the conference.

Elephant and Flea.

They did not come to report some great announcement by Gen. Johnson, but they did want to witness what Frank R. Kent of the Baltimore Sun had billed as the contest between the elephant and the "very small flea."

The "very small flea" was James True, writer of a weekly letter of business gossip out of Washington. Another man has dubbed him the "big bad wolf." He had been notified by Administrator Johnson, the elephant of the sketch not to come to any more of the general's press conferences because of a statement True had made that "sinister influences" were affecting some decisions on NRA codes.

Mr. True's letters, by his own generous estimate, only circulate to 1,000 individuals, and he was almost unknown to the Washington news world until overnight, Gen. Johnson made him famous by barring him from the conferences. True announced the freedom of the press was involved and that he expected to go to the next press conference, which was held on schedule this afternoon and caused the unseemly onrush of journalists.

True a Mild Mannered Man.

The staff of Gen. Johnson was well prepared for the "very small flea.," Mr. True, be it known, is a tall, white haired man with the mildest of manners, whose light blue eyes, with a kindly gleam in them, shine through scholarly Oxford mounted eye glasses

Because Mr. True had announced his intention of going to the press conference, despite the Johnson notice that he was not welcome, everybody in the NRA organization was considerably upset.

The Johnson conferences customarily are held in a large conference room, but today, to make certain that the big bad wolf, Mr. True, didn't get in, the notice was posted that the conference would be held in the general's private office. At the hour set, Mr. True appeared in a cloud of newspaper men.

Door to Office Guarded.

Guarding the door were Billy Donaldson and Billy Collins, regular guardians of the house and senate press galleries; Charles Michaelson, chief propagandist for NRA and his principal assistant, William V. Lawson, and a special detective, a big detective.

Mr. True advanced, somewhat nervously extended a telegram toward Mr. Lawson and asked:

"Does this entitle me to get in?"

It was a message from a grocers' trade publication, announcing that Mr. True was their regular Washington correspondent and demanding that he be permitted entry to the press conference.

Denied Permission to Enter.

Mr. Lawson looked at the message.

"No, sir, it does not," he replied.

"Is that official," True inquired gently.

"Yes, it is," said Lawson.

The big, bad wolf turned quietly and walked away, saying, "Well, I'm barred out, for good."

Gen. Johnson later read a long defense of his action, which was stated by him to be "off the record," because he had concluded, a bit tardily, many thought, that he didn't want to give Mr. True any more advertising.

The senior journalistic statesmen and colyumnists, who had journeyed all the way from the comfortable lounge of the Press club to see Gen. Johnson tame the big, bad wolf, were disgusted.

The dramatic climax of a contest, perhaps a pitched battle, was lacking. Johnson had his way in suppressing this minor critic of the administration, and the incident was, for the time being, ended.

CLAIRE MAKES THEFT CHARGE

Claire Windsor, stage and screen actress, and Alfred C. Read Jr., whom she accused yesterday of stealing $11 from her home. Read's ex-wife recently won a $75,000 judgment against Miss Windsor on the ground that she stole Read's love. (Story on page 1.)

MRS. WILLETT'S SUIT IS GOING TO TRIAL, SHE SAYS

Angered by Reference to Mexican Trip.

Mrs. Grace Williamson Willett announced yesterday that she would no longer consider offers for out of court settlement of her $1,000,000 suit for alienation of affections against Mrs. Mary Cave Hall. Angered by the attack upon her "through inference and innuendo," during the taking of depositions in Waukegan on Monday, Mrs. Willett declared that she will demand a court hearing and will seek even larger damages.

The depositions, which were taken by Miss Alice Greenacre, Mrs. Hall's attorney, concerned a tour through Mexico in 1932 by a party of men and women which included Mrs. Willett. The reference to this trip, Mrs. Willett said, "added to the damages caused to myself and to my family."

Former Friend Accused.

Her suit against Mrs. Hall, a former friend, charges that Mrs. Hall alienated the affections of Mrs. Willett's husband, Howard L. Willett, executive of the cartage company bearing his name. The suit was filed early this year after the Willetts had separated.

"For the last month advances had been made to me to make a settlement out of court," said Mrs. Willett. "These advances became more and more pronounced as the date for the trial of the alienation suit drew near.

"Due to obstructions to the settlement caused by Attorney Greenacre, the terms had not been fixed when the taking of the depositions was begun. During that hearing in Waukegan inference and innuendo with malicious intent were made against me.

Deaf to Any More Pleas.

"As a result I shall no longer listen to pleas for settlement, and shall continue an unrelenting prosecution of my alienation suit. The amount of damage I shall seek will be increased as a result of the depositions."

The two witnesses who appeared in Waukegan were Dudley Crafts Watson, art authority and tour director, and Mrs. Bertha Van Wagenen Alling, member of a Lake Forest family. They told of the Mexican tour, made under the leadership of Mr. Watson. During the questioning references were made by Attorney Greenacre to Edmund Harris of Baltimore, a young architect. Both witnesses denied that there were any improprieties in Mrs. Willett's friendship with him.

MIND YOUR STEP TILL PROHIBITION ENDS, U. S. WARNS

E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits in the Chicago district, yesterday warned Chicagoans that importing of liquor or setting up a still for the manufacture of whisky in the home is illegal as long as the prohibition law remains on the books.

A telephone call to Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol in Washington, brought the warning that no let up in prosecution would precede actual repeal. Supervisor Yellowley announced that he had received a number of queries as to the legality of ordering whisky from foreign countries as repeal neared.

Supervisor Yellowley also announced yesterday that there are now 138 breweries in the Chicago district, made up of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana. The Chicago district now leads all other districts in the United States in the number of breweries and the production of beer.

NATIONAL LIFE INSURANCE PUT IN RECEIVERSHIP

Palmer Moves for Speedy Reorganization.

The National Life Insurance company of the U. S. A. with offices at 29 South La Salle street, the largest life insurance company in Illinois, was placed in receivership yesterday by Judge William J. Lindsay of the Superior court.

Petition for receivership was made by Attorney General Otto Kerner representing Ernest Palmer, state superintendent of insurance. Patrick J. Lucey, former attorney general and former co-receiver of Corporation Securities company, Insull investment trust, was appointed receiver, and posted bond of $100,000.

Counsel for the company did not oppose the petition and officers admitted that the company's $1,000,000 capital and part of the surplus of $614,237 had been wiped out by the impairment of assets.

Stocks Overvalued.

The bill set forth stocks included among the company's assets are carried at values $3,000,000 in excess of the present market values.

At the close of 1932 the company had insurance in force of $228,000,000 or $75,000,000 in excess of the peak business of the Illinois Life Insurance company which was placed in receivership a year ago.

Supt. Palmer said last night that negotiations are already under way for a reorganization of the company or a reinsurance of its policyholders. He expressed confidence that this could be effected without ultimate loss to policyholders although it would be necessary to place a temporary lien on policy reserves.

While many of the company's assets are carried at figures substantially in excess of the market value, other resources, such as real estate, are of uncertain value and unliquid, the petition set forth.

Realty Values Set Too High.

At the close of 1932 the company carried real estate investments at $7,312,975. Since that time, the bill asserts, the company has acquired additional real estate which it now carries at a total value of $7,917,296.

"The fair cash market value of the real estate owned is far less than the total carried by the company as the book values," the bill adds. "It is of doubtful and uncertain value, unliquid and not available for the payment of its claims and liabilities. The value does not exceed $4,000,000."

The bill further declared that a large portion of the company's $17,583,883.70 of mortgage loans are "hazardous." The bill does not attempt to set forth the present value of these loans but declared that they are much less than the book value.

Among the securities owned by the company is a block of 11,050 shares of stock of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company which is carried at $336 a share as compared with the current market of $26 to $30 a share. The total value set on this stock is $4,011,150, as compared with an actual market value of "not more than $300,000."

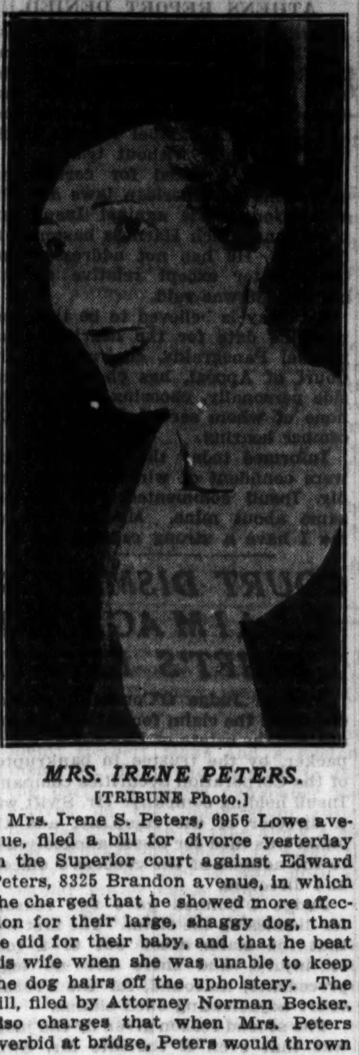
Charges in Petition.

"Your petitioners represent that the assets of the company are greatly less than the total liabilities and that the capital stock and all sums carried on unassigned funds or surplus are fictitious and do not reveal the true condition of the business or affairs of the defendant company; that the capital stock of the company is entirely impaired and that the reserves are impaired in excess of $2,000,000," the bill sets forth.

The bill further states that officials of the company had been notified of the deficiency but had not been able to make it good. The company was in immediate danger of suits for a receiver and judgments, it was added.

"While it will be necessary," Superintendent Palmer said last night, "to place a temporary lien upon reserves of the company the department has every confidence that a reorganization or reinsurance will be effected without undue delay and that the interests of the policyholders will be fully protected and they will suffer no ultimate loss."

SUES FOR DIVORCE



MRS. IRENE PETERS.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Irene S. Peters, 6956 Lowe avenue, filed a bill for divorce yesterday in the Superior court against Edward Peters, 8325 Brandon avenue, in which she charged that he showed more affection for their large, shaggy dog, than he did for their baby, and that he beat his wife when she was unable to keep the dog hairs off the upholstery. The bill, filed by Attorney Norman Becker, also charges that when Mrs. Peters overbid at bridge, Peters would thrown down his cards and leave the table in disgust.

DESCENDANTS OF FIRST SETTLERS WED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beaubien, descendants of Chicago's earliest settlers, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last night in their home at 1343 61st court, Cicero. Friends and relatives visited the couple.

Mr. Beaubien is 75 years old and is the youngest son of Mark Beaubien who erected the first frame building in Chicago, the Sauganash hotel. Mrs. Beaubien is 66 years old, and is the daughter of Alexander Beaubien, the first white male child born in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Beaubien are second cousins.

Born at 69 Pine street, Mr. Beaubien was employed by the Chicago Telephone company in his youth and then served on the police force for thirty years, retiring ten years ago. Mrs. Beaubien was born in a house at Fulton and Wood streets. She met her husband at a reception given by her father to John Wentworth.

Among the family mementoes is a diary written by Mrs. Beaubien's father shortly before his death. The pages tell of his birth in 1822 and the scenes of his childhood with Indian wigwams and the huts of French fur traders sprinkled along the branches of the Chicago river.

DAINGERFIELD, AUTHOR, FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Foxhall Daingerfield, 46, author of several popular mystery stories, was found dead this afternoon in a field at Haylands, a thoroughbred farm near here. A bullet wound, believed by authorities to have been self-inflicted, caused his death.

Daingerfield was the author of "Ghost House" and "Murder of the Gay Nineties."

MISSOURI GOVERNOR URGES REPEAL AND LIQUOR SALE TAXES

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Repeal of Missouri's bone dry law and legislation taxing the sale of intoxicating liquor was recommended by Gov. Guy B. Park to a special session of the legislature today.

He presented a program to produce approximately $14,000,000 additional revenue annually—principally by a 1 per cent general sales tax, which he estimated would bring in $9,000,000.

Gov. Park said there should be no return of the saloon and that local governments should regulate the sale of intoxicants and their own taxes.

He proposed a state tax of $1 a gallon on whisky and other "hard" liquors, 20 cents on wine, $1 a barrel on 3.2 beer [an increase of 68 cents], and $1.50 a barrel on beer of more than 3.2 content. The total revenue, he estimated, would be $3,000,000 a year.

An additional $500,000, he said, might be obtained from permits or licenses.

Capital Milk Hearing Is Marked by Charges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Charges that the Pure Milk association sought to bankrupt certain Chicago dairies which refused to comply with its farm price demands were heard today as the government rested its case against the Edgewater Dairy company, first Chicago milk distributor to be tried for alleged infractions of the federal milk marketing pact.

Final arguments in the Edgewater case will be delayed until the cases against the Wagner Dairy company of Cicero and the Lake View Dairy company of Chicago have been tried.

At the same time Farm Administrator George N. Peek declared that while no exact date has yet been set the farm administration is preparing to open an exhaustive investigation in Chicago "very shortly" at which the entire milk situation will be delved into.

Closes One Prosecution.

The government closed its prosecution of the Edgewater company with officials of the dairy maintaining a steadfast insistence that they were not aware of having violated the federal marketing agreement's schedule of fixed prices.

The charges against the Pure Milk association was made by Attorney Arthur R. Seelig, Edgewater counsel, while Don N. Geyer, secretary and manager of the Farmers' Marketing association, was on the witness stand.

Mr. Geyer declared it was a farmers' coöperative organization, engaged in handling the farmers' product in the Chicago market and in various types of research work relating to the production of milk.

Mr. Seelig then introduced a letter purporting to be signed by Geyer, urging the Model Dairy company of Chicago to turn its claim against another dairy over to the Pure Milk association. Geyer denied on the witness stand that he had ever sent the letter or that the signature it bore was his own. Later he explained that while he could not remember the incident, the letter was probably sent by his office and signed in his absence by his secretary.

Show Chicago Letter.

Th letter, addressed to Frank Daniels of the Model Dairy company, 2007 West 18th place, Chicago, on May 5, 1930, was as follows:

"We understand that you have a claim against the Tinley Park and Liberty dairy, totaling $385, and we are informed there is a movement on foot to put him into bankrutpcy.

"So, if you will give your claim to W. J. Andrews, 105 W. Monroe street, telephone Randolph 2743, you will probably do yourself a good turn."

Efforts of Mr. Seelig to disclose other similar activities by the Pure Milk association were barred as irrelevant by Elmer Hays, A. A. A. legal expert, who presided.

Alfred Kahlert, president of the Edgewater company, told from the witness stand how a committee of fellow dairy operators in Chicago, accompanied by a representative of the Pure Milk association, visited him with a promise that the association would "take the heat off him in Washington" if he would comply with the milk price schedule prescribed in the marketing agreement. This he refused to do, Kahlert said.

Denies Knowing Prices.

He replied to government questions that he was still unaware of the fact that the federal agreement stipulated a price at which milk was to be sold to private vendors. He denied that the Edgewater Dairy operated any retail milk depots or stores or that the company had its own retail milk routes. Although he admitted having numerous business conversations with the "vendors" to whom he sold milk, he denied that he was ever informed that they were selling milk below the price fixed in the agreement.

Attorney Seelig obtained a ruling from the chair that the question of the sale of milk at wholesale could not be gone into at the present hearing because violations of the wholesale price schedule were not alleged against Edgewater in the government's order to show cause.

FORD COMPANY DENIES AGREEING TO PARLEY TO SETTLE STRIKE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—(AP)—A Ford Motor company spokesman said tonight that no telegram had gone today from the Dearborn offices to Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the national labor board in Washington, and declared that a communication earlier in the week, of "quite a different tenor" from the one described by Senator Wagner, had been withheld.

Refusing to disclose the contents of this earlier message, the spokesman said that it had been addressed to Senator Wagner and that he is at liberty to give it out.

Told that Senator Wagner had said the Ford company had telegraphed its willingness to meet representatives of its striking assembly plant workmen in the east, evincing a change in attitude, the Ford spokesman said the Ford company "is not going to be drawn into this thing until the time is right."

Senator Wagner, he said, is "trying to get some publicity with something that he knows won't stand up through tomorrow." He refused further comment.

Neither was any comment forthcoming on the announcement of a conference reported scheduled for tomorrow morning between the management of the Edgewater, N. J., Ford assembly plant and representatives of the striking workmen at the Newark NRA headquarters.

The situation, he said, presumably will be clarified when such a conference is held.

OLSON REPORTS INSULL BEARING WORLD GRUDGE

Visited Exile in Athens Sanctuary.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Samuel Insull is a man embittered against the world, according to former Judge Harry Olson of Chicago, who returned today aboard the Olympic from a tour of Europe and Asia, during which he visited the self-exiled Chicago utilities magnate in his sanctuary in Athens, Greece.

"I visited the scene in Athens where Socrates drank the cup of hemlock," ex-Judge Olson said, "and I can say that from my brief observation of the man, Sam Insull is now drinking the cup of human hate."

But despite his harrassing fight against the efforts of the American government to extradite him to face Chicago charges of fraud in connection with bankruptcy of his utilities empire, Insull is improving in health, Mr. Olson pointed out.

In Good Shape Physically.

"He appeared to be in pretty good shape, all thinks considered," he said.

Reiterating a previous denial that he was representing Insull in the extradition case, Mr. Olson said his visit was made purely out of friendship for Insull, pointing out that his itinerary carried him through Athens.

Judge Olson was accompanied by Mrs. Olson and their daughter, Jane.

Save for attendants Insull was alone in his room in the Athens hospital when Mr. Olson visited him. The judge said he knew nothing about the "mystery woman," Mrs. Helen Kouryoumdjoglou, who is said to be Insull's constant companion during his exile.

It has been reported that the Insull family has been disrupted by the senior Insull's friendship for this woman, but Olson said there is no indication of such a break and otherwise would not commit himself on the matter.

Germany Ready to Strike.

Asked about the political crisis in Europe, Mr. Olson said that in his opinion it was grave.

"Europe at the moment is on edge," he said. "From what I gathered, Germany has taken the position that the time is ripe to strike again at France. She thinks that the United States, being hard up, will stay out of it this time. And France, having defaulted on her American debt, will hardly have the nerve to ask for aid from this side if she gets in a hole."

Mr. Olson planned to leave with his family for Chicago at once. He is counsel for John Bain in the Bain bank chain embezzlement case. Bain's appeal from sentence will be brought up for oral argument in Chicago on Oct. 20, he said.

ATHENS REPORT DENIED.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

ATHENS, Oct. 17.—State Prosecutor Regamakos today spiked a statement in Athenian newspapers that Assistant Federal Attorney Harness had demanded Samuel Insull's forthright surrender without trial.

"We have asked for certain explanations of American laws and the accusations made against Insull, explanations which Harness hastened to furnish. He has not addressed any other letter except relative to this matter," it was said.

Saturday is believed to be the most probable date for the hearing. Emmanuel Panegrakis, chairman of the Court of Appeal, has chosen to preside personally, choosing four judges, none of whom served during the December hearing.

Informed today that federal forces were confident of winning their case, Mr. Insull commented: "I feel the same about mine. My lawyers tell me I have a strong case at law."

COURT DISMISSES CLAIM AGAINST SWIFT'S ESTATE

Probate Judge O'Connell yesterday dismissed the claim for $37,308,646 filed against the estate of Edward F. Swift, packer, by the trustee in bankruptcy of the Corporation Securities company, Insull holding company. Mr. Swift was a director of the company, and the claim was filed for losses allegedly due to the actions of the concern's officers and directors.

Judge O'Connell gave two reasons for dismissing the claim. The first was that the claim arose out of a tort, or injury, and there are no legal precedents, he found, for the Probate court adjudicating such claims.

The second reason given by the judge was that even if the late Mr. Swift were liable for damages, he was not liable alone, since the claim stated that Samuel Insull and other directors shared responsibility for the acts.

An appeal to the Circuit court was taken by attorneys for the trustee in bankruptcy.

POLICE PICK UP 3 TINY BOYS 2 MILES FROM HOME

Three lost boys, two of them 4 years old, and one of them 2, were guests at the Sheffield avenue police station from 3 o'clock yesterday to 10 last night They were found wandering hand in hand at Diversey parkway and Lincoln avenue. They identified themselves as Bobby, Johnny, and Jimmie. They made themselves at home at the station under the care of Policeman George Golbeck, father of nine children, and were sound asleep when Robert Clautier, 4336 Kenmore avenue, father of Bobby, 4 years old, appeared and took them home. The two other youngsters were John Simon, 4 years old, and his brother, Jimmie, 2, of 4340 Kenmore avenue. They were approximately two miles from their homes.

FINED FOR DEFRAUDING BUS LINE.

William Shirley, 26 years old, 4204 Calumet avenue, a Negro, was fined $5 yesterday by Municipal Judge Joseph H. McGarry for placing a slug in one of the turnstiles admitting passengers to the intramural buses at the Fair.

WEBER TO FACE JURY INQUIRY ON WINKLER KILLING

Coroner Hears Reports of Beer Partnership.

County Commissioner Charles H. Weber's beer business was interjected yesterday into the investigation of the murder of Gus Winkler, north side gangster.

Winkler's connection with a loop mail robbery was under inquiry when he was shot to death on Oct. 9 in front of Weber's beer depot at 1414 Roscoe street. The murder is believed to have been due to one of Winkler's three activities, beer business, gambling, and giving information to the government.

Weber Denies Partnership.

Gossip that Winkler was a partner of Commissioner Weber in the beer business was again denied yesterday by Weber, who was in Miami, Fla., when the slaying occurred. It was decided to have Weber appear before the coroner's jury when the inquest into Winkler's death is resumed next Monday. Today the members of the jury will visit the Weber beer depot to inspect the murder scene.

Reports that have reached Coroner Frank J. Walsh are to the effect that Winkler, who succeeded the slain Ted Newberry as north side gang leader, had put the money into the business known as the Weber Distributing Agency, the beer sales concern. Weber merely lent his name to the concern, which was really controlled by Winkler, the coroner has been told.

Gets Beer Concession at Fair.

Contrary information was that early last spring, a brewing company had prevailed upon Weber to take its agency on the north side. Weber got the beer concession in the Streets of Paris at the World's Fair. Charles Conrad and Arthur Schroeder, part owners of the Vanity Fair night club, became his partners in the Fair concession.

Both Conrad and Schroeder were with Weber in Miami on the day Winkler was slain. They were said to have gone there to discuss gambling possibilities during the winter. When informed by telephone that Winkler was shot to death in front of his distributing depot, Weber said he had never known Winkler and had never seen him. He said he didn't know why Winkler was about to call at his place when shot.

Rumor of Gang Invasion.

Since Winkler's death the rumor has grown that Winkler used his gang power to force his way into Weber's business and was in fact a partner in the World's Fair concession. Weber has denied all such rumors.

On the day of the murder Weber said he had no traffic with gangsters and was glad Winkler had been killed, that the city was well rid of such fellows. Yesterday he reiterated those statements.

"I will be glad of the opportunity to go before the coroner's jury or a grand jury and say under oath that Winkler had no interest in my business in any way," Weber declared.

"We have had nothing to do with any of them and don't want them. No one has dared try to muscle in on our business."

The rumors that the coroner wants run down are that Conrad, partner of Weber, was in conflict with Winkler and that now that Winkler is out of the way, Conrad is undisputed boss. The police said there has been no trouble on the north side regarding beer sales since beer was legalized.

Complaints that some places were allowed to sell beer without licenses if they bought from Weber were denied by Police Commissioner Allman. Every beer selling place is licensed, he said.

United States Attorney Dwight H. Green said he had never heard of Winkler having an interest in Weber's beer business.

Partner of Lebensberger.

Winkler was known to have been a partner of Edgar Lebensberger, night club owner, who was found dead, supposedly a suicide, on the day he was indicted for complicity in disposing of bonds stolen in the mail robbery of last Dec. 6. Joseph Sans, employé of Lebensberger, and John J. "Boss" McLaughlin, gambler and former legislator, were named in the same indictment. Winkler was also involved in the disposal of these bonds, according to investigators.

Efforts to free Sans on bail failed yesterday. The government said an attempt had been made to kill or rescue Sans last week and if he were released on bail it was feared he would be slain or spirited away.

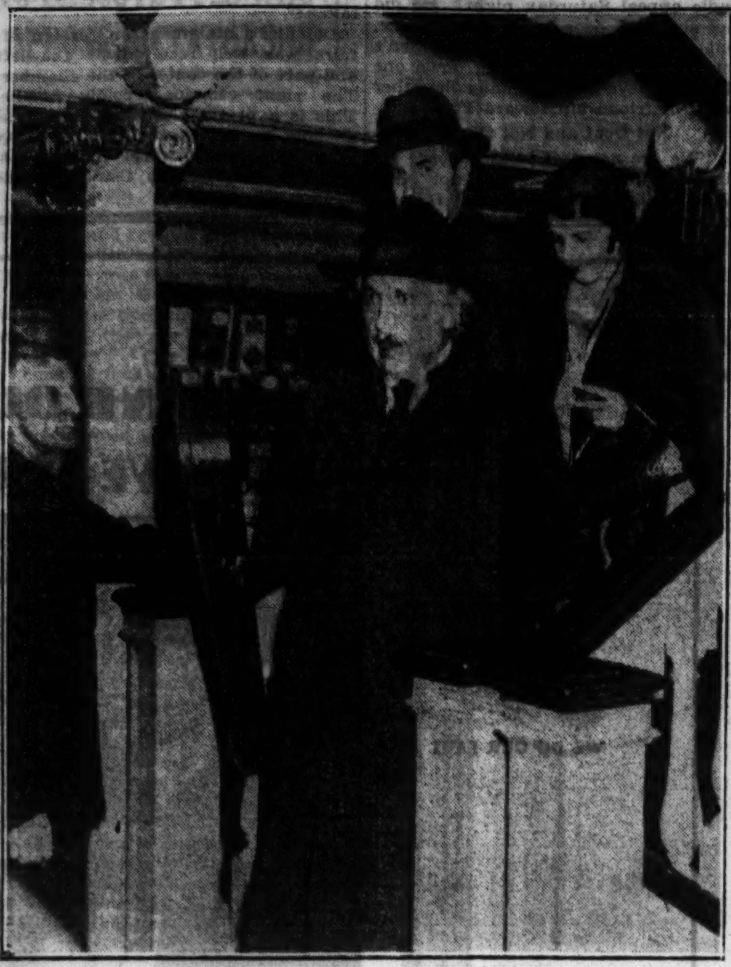
Einstein in U. S.; Avoids Crowd



Prof. Albert Einstein shown as he arrived in New York harbor yesterday on the liner Westerland. The Einstein party avoided crowds at the dock by transferring from the liner to a tug and was rushed to Princeton, N. J., immediately on landing.

EINSTEINS RUSH TO PRINCETON; AVOID GOTHAM

Avert Pro or Anti Nazi Episodes.

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Prof. Albert Einstein has learned a thing or two since he came to New York in December, 1930, and had to submit to a widely confused shipboard interview.

The professor arrived today on the Red Star liner Westerland to assume a chair of mathematics at the institute for advanced study at Princeton. He evaded all ship news reporters and cameramen by the simple expedient of transferring to a tug as the liner was crawling up the harbor. He sped straight to the battery and was on his way by private car to Princeton before the Westerland docked.

Wife Again with Him.

With the professor—a "fuzzy headed little genius" he was called on his 1930 visit, which was probably one of the reasons why he bolted an interview today—were his wife, as buxom and as smiling as ever; his assistant, Prof. Walter Mayer, and his secretary, Eileen Ducas.

This afternoon they were hidden away at the home of friends in Princeton. In a few days they will settle in the brown shingled house at 11 Cleveland lane, Princeton, which will be their home while the German mathematician and physicist pursues his studies.

Apart from his general and deep rooted objection to interviews and official welcomes, the mathematician was said to have avoided landing at the pier because there might have been demonstrations by pro-Nazi or anti-Nazi sympathizers.

Dr. Abraham Flexner, director of the institute, arranged for the tug to take the professor and his party off the liner. The tug went down the harbor, carrying E. S. Bamberger, a contributor to the institute's endowment; Herbert Maas and a customs inspector. They had planned to take the party off before newspaper men arrived on the immigration cutter, but had forgotten to take along a special immigration officer to clear the party, so they had to wait until the regular cutter came along.

Party Quickly Cleared.

When the staff boat made fast, an immigration officer and a health inspector hurried to the Einstein suite on A deck and the party was cleared quickly. Then, with Mr. Bamberger and Mr. Maas leading the way, the professor and his party went to the gangplank that carried them to the deck of the tug.

Ship's men held reporters and cameramen back at a safe distance, but flashlights popped and reporters shouted questions. The professor was wearing an old gray suit, badly in need of pressing, white shirt with a loose collar, and he carried a violin case.

FORMER ANNA GOULD LEFT $5,000 BY WILL OF NEW YORK LAWYER

Riverhead, L. I., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The Duchesse de Talleyrand of Paris, formerly Miss Anna Gould, daughter of the late Jay Gould, receives $5,000 under the terms of the will of the late Tyler Morse, New York attorney, filed here today for probate.

Constant Cristall, the lawyer's valet, receives $10,000. There are numerous smaller gifts to friends. Mrs. Katherine Brown Fuller of 383 Park avenue, widow of George A. Fuller, receives the residuary estate "in token of my gratitude to and affection for him."

1ST SPEED BOAT PIRATE SENT TO PRISON 6 YEARS

Joseph Pennick, 28 years old, 727 California terrace, the first man on record to attempt piracy in a Lake Michigan speed boat, was sentenced to six years in a federal penitentiary yesterday by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Pennick pleaded guilty to charges of attempted robbery, assault, assault to commit a felony, and assault with a deadly weapon—all on the high seas.

Assistant United States Attorney Warren P. Canaday showed that Pennick boarded a speed boat at the Wrigley building pier on Aug. 8. He rode to the Fair and started to make the return trip with eight other passengers in a boat piloted by James M. Nester, 1232 North La Salle street.

Pennick leaped to his feet, drew a revolver while the boat was a mile off Roosevelt road, and ordered Nester to hand over his money. Nester and a passenger, Kenneth Bonine of Jones, Mich., subdued Pennick after the latter had fired two shots, the second grazing Bonine's head. Pennick pleaded that he was drinking at the time and said that he had no previous record.

COUNTY WORKERS PAID $450,000 FOR THE LAST OF JULY

County employés got approximately $450,000 yesterday in a pay roll for the second half of July, the second cash pay day they have had since the first of the year. They have been given tax warrants for the rest of their salaries. The county highway police, for whom the county board made no appropriation for the second half of the year, in the belief that state police would take over their work, were not paid, despite a mandamus writ which they obtained recently instructing the board to make an emergency appropriation for their salaries.

YOUTH SEIZED AS KILLER OF 5 IN HIS FAMILY

Tampa, Fla., Oct. 17:—(AP)—Victor Licata, 21, was under arrest tonight on a charge of murder after his parents, two brothers, and a sister were killed with an axe in their home here today.

Lunacy charges were filed against Victor last year, but had been withdrawn at the request of the family.

The dead are: Michael Licata, 47, the father, owner of a downtown barber shop; the mother, Mrs. Rosalie Licata, 44; a sister, Providence Licata, 22, and the brothers, Philip, 14, and Jose, 8.

Officers who broke into the house at noon, after being called by the neighbors, found the parents and Jose and Providence dead. Philip died in a hospital tonight. Victor was found in the bathroom of the home, crouching on the floor. He quietly submitted to arrest.

DENVER WOMAN KILLED.

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Harry Weinstein, 47, of Denver, Colo., was killed in an automobile-train crash west of here last night. She was en route to Chicago with her husband and three others.

BRITISH CHARGE HITLER PERILS PEACE OF WORLD

Sir John Simon Says Crisis Was Caused by Berlin.

nervousness, a sense of positive alarm which is the real reason why heavily armed states hesitate to weaken their armed forces.

"More anxiety exists in England about the international situation than for many years past. And on the continent the feeling is also more acute—and everybody knows why."

Returning to a defense of his interpretation of the German arms stand, the foreign chief asserted that automatic armaments inspection, maintenance of the status quo among armed states and specified measures of disarmament by the former allies during the second period of the proposed treaty were accepted by all. Everything was almost lovely when the German demands for "sample" armaments cropped up and the Germans were requested to supply details, he said.

Says Hitler Wants to Rearm.

"What happened then?" he went on. "When at length the German claim was formally restated there cannot be the least doubt that instead of defining what was meant by 'samples' the claim was for substantial rearmament from the very beginning."

Sir John's address followed great confusion during which a speech which had been scheduled by Lord Lloyd, Tory diehard, was canceled, reinstated, and then canceled again to make room for the foreign secretary. It was finally arranged for Lord Lloyd, who was expected to make a flaming attack on Germany, to speak tomorrow.

The British cabinet will meet tomorrow to discuss the disarmament crisis officially for the first time in the light of Germany's withdrawal from world council chambers.

Geneva Marks Time.

GENEVA, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Whether Germany will follow through her announced intention of resigning from the league of nations was believed tonight to hinge on the outcome of the disarmament crisis.

An opinion frequently heard was that nothing definite may occur until after the German plebiscite on Nov. 12.

American representatives were quoted as sharing a belief that progress in disarmament before the resumption of the conference on Oct. 26 is unlikely.

LABORITES SHOW GREAT GAINS IN NORWEGIAN VOTE

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Labor party strode into big gains over the Conservatives, Liberals, and Agrarians in the Norwegian national elections today.

Labor accumulated 22 seats from the opposition for a total of 69. The Conservatives lost 10 seats, retaining 31; the Liberals, 24, losing nine, and the Agrarians, 22, losing three. The few results still to be recorded cannot greatly affect the final standing.

Eighteen parties competed for votes, but only four showed any strength. Labor won many votes through its extensive program of unemployment relief.

The chief reason for the swing to labor, however, was considered due to the break in the united front of the Conservatives, Liberals, and Agrarians, following rejection by the Conservatives of an alliance with the new national union.

JAILS FAKE GAS COLLECTOR.

Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green yesterday sentenced George Lawton, 33 years old, 1140 Wilson avenue, to nine months in the Bridewell after he had pleaded guilty to collecting $5.08 from Mrs. Emma H. Larson, 2733 North Halsted street, by presenting her with a bogus gas bill.

French Premier Asks New Taxes to Meet Big Deficit

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Revealing that France has been on the brink of inflation on two occasions this year, Premier Daladier today put before parliament a budget project involving drastic economies and new taxes in order to meet a deficit of $320,000,000 [figured at par].

By a vote of 470 to 120, the premier obtained the approval of the chamber of deputies on a motion of extreme urgency [gag rule] in voting on the financial program, which is likely to lead to the cabinet's downfall. It is clear that the parties of the right will not vote for the new taxes contained in the project, while the parties of the left, outside the government party, will not vote for reductions in the salaries of civil servants and pension cuts.

Reveals Dangerous Position.

Daladier made no bones about the dangerous situation the government has already faced twice.

"In February and April the government feared it would not be able to pay the civil servants," he said. "We lived through difficult hours then. We don't want to see them again tomorrow or ever."

Daladier revealed that the deficit amounted to more than 8 billion francs.

[The franc is worth 3.94 cents at par. At current rate of exchange it is worth 5.74 cents.]

About half of this, under Daladier's plan, will be made up through new taxes, tightening of the tax fraud prevention machinery, state monopoly for the sale of arms, revenue from the national lottery and credits obtained by striking new silver money.

A total of 3,600,000,000 francs will be accounted for by economies—2 billions by salary and pension cuts and 1,600,000,000 by a reduction of credits to ministries for social insurance and living allowances of certain classes of functionaries.

New Taxes to Be Imposed.

In the provisions for added revenue income tax exemptions will be cut to produce 900,000,000 francs. The plan also includes taxes on gas and electricity distribution companies, heretofore exempt. Another new tax will be on gasoline, replacing sundry automobile taxes but adding to the tax burden a total of 450,000,000 francs.

The monopoly for the sale of arms and certain ingredients of steel manufacture it is estimated, will yield 250,000,000 francs, while the lottery is expected to yield 650,000,000 francs. Veterans' pensions will be hit for 350,000,000 francs.

In addition to the above drastic program, Daladier presented a huge national works program to help the unemployed similar to the one in the United States. The plan calls for expenditures of 13,736,500,000 francs.

FRENCH PREMIER BARS SANCTIONS AGAINST HITLER

Urges a Continuation of Geneva Parley.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Premier Daladier today indicated before the chamber of deputies that France favors going on with the disarmament conference despite everything and is not thinking of taking any immediate sanctions against Germany because she pulled out of Geneva Saturday.

Great significance was attached to the premier's remarks, although they did not indicate that the French government has yet worked out a concrete policy regarding Germany. Daladier's object was to reassure parliament sufficiently to postpone until next week the discussion of a series of interpellations provoked by the foreign crisis while he stakes the life of his cabinet on a bill for balancing the budget which was introduced today.

Without saying that France had definitely taken a decision to continue work on framing a majority disarmament convention, for the study of which a week's breathing spell was voted yesterday by the general commission of the disarmament conference in Geneva, Daladier made it clear that France has no intention of embarking on any adventures such as a new Ruhr occupation, and she is at least favorable to the idea of continuing with the conference.

"We are faithful to our policy of international collaboration," Daladier said. "We have never failed to display moderation and the heavy sacrifices we have already made authorize us to maintain our policy. We are not going to weaken that policy, however, or make it a subject of international barter. In this spirit France will be present before the league of nations on Oct. 26."

Still Maintains Rights.

The reassuring tone of the premier's speech does not mean that France renounces her right to demand an investigation of Germany's secret armament or to hale Germany before the world court or the council of the league in case of violations, but it is now considered extremely unlikely that any such action will be taken until after a further effort to frame a disarmament convention, has been made.

In one part of his statement Daladier, after explaining that the departure of Germany from Geneva forced the governments of the world to take into consideration the new problem connected with the organization of peace, proceeded to answer Hitler's radio appeal Saturday night. He did not slam the door in Germany's face, but plainly voiced his countrymen's suspicion at Hitler banging down one fist in Geneva and extending the other hand in friendship toward France.

Not Deaf and Not Blind.

"We are not deaf to any words addressed to us but we are not blind to any acts," Daladier said. "If some one really wants a rapprochement he does not begin with a rupture. If he wishes to respect new international engagements, why oppose the verification of those engagements already taken?"

"This is GAS AND OIL MONEY — BELIEVE IT OR NOT!"

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

Sally: "Really? Tell me about it, Helen." Helen: "Well, as I use the car most of the time these days and actually buy the oil and gas, Dick thought it a good plan to turn the car budget over to me entirely." Sally: "How does that give you extra money?" Helen: "I have more time than Dick and have learned some surprising things about the cost of car operation. Dick thought all gas and oil sold at approximately the same price were of equal value. When the motor broke down, he considered it just hard luck and paid the repair bill." Sally: "Isn't it?" Helen: "No! It is poor motor protection. More than half the entire motor wear occurs during the few minutes of starting when the motor is cold. Only one brand of oil—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—penetrates the metal so that a portion of it, nearly a quart, stays up in your motor, greatly reducing the wear. So checking back on repair bills that were paid before I changed to Conoco, we've saved a lot of money this last year." Sally: "What about gasoline?" Helen: "To me that choice depended on quick starting—Dick used to choke the car until he was wild. It wasted so much gasoline in cold weather—ran the battery down and the nerves, too. With Conoco Bronze, the motor starts at the first turn and has power galore—goes further on each gallon and is anti-knock also. So you see how I did it?" Sally: "I certainly do, Helen—and I think you're a very clever girl!"

CONOCO

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because the penetrative oiliness, called "The Hidden Quart," stays up in your motor and never drains away. Costs a total of only one-fifth of a cent a mile. Conoco Germ Processed Oil is the highest grade motor oil obtainable... the paraffin base crude oil sources, the scientific skill and the most modern of refineries combine to make it so. Then it is Germ Processed with an exclusive Conoco formula.

Instant Starting and Lightning Pickup can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting it cannot be excelled—all the possible fuel needs of modern cars have been fulfilled at no increase in price.

It can be easily identified by its bronze color but you must be sure it is Conoco Bronze Gasoline for only in this way can its advantages of unusual performance and greater economy be obtained.

HITLER ASSURES DODD YANKS WILL GET PROTECTION

U. S. Envoy Has Talk with German Chancellor.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Ambassador William E. Dodd of the United States emerged from a 45 minute conference with Chancellor Adolf Hitler and Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Nazi foreign minister, today apparently greatly impressed with the German leader's desire for peace.

The chancellor reëmphasized to the ambassador the government's peaceful assurances contained in his speech to the nation Saturday. He also assured Mr. Dodd that the era of assaults against Americans for failing to salute the Nazi swastika emblem is over. Hitler said that the government will take every precaution to prevent a recurrence of such incidents.

The chancellor further promised that assailants of foreigners will be severly punished. He also said new orders will be issued to safeguard foreigners from attacks.

Two Sent to Jail.

Shortly before the visit a so-called speed court sentenced Paul Sckardt, a glassblower, and Friedrich Wilbertz, a chauffeur, to six months in prison for assaulting Roland Velz, a native of Meriden, Conn. The assailant of Dr. Daniel Mulvihill, another American, also was punished.

The German government is investigating 32 other cases in which Americans complained that they were attacked. A report will be presented to the American embassy in the near future. It is believed, however, it will be impossible to identify most of the assailants. Nevertheless, the embassy is confident that the assaults will end.

Gen. Wilhelm Hermann Goering, Prussian premier and reichsminister, issued an order today that foreigners must not be molested but must be given police protection.

Dodd Tells of Interview.

Prof. Dodd, speaking of his interview with Hitler, declared he felt "somewhat better about the general outlook than in the past few days.

"I found the chancellor greatly interested in American public opinion. He desires that there be no misunderstanding between Germany and the United States," he said. "The interview was very cordial. The attitude of a desire for peace contained in Saturday's speech [by Chancellor Hitler] was reëmphasized in our talk.

"The chancellor is imbued with the hope there will not be war and is tremendously aware of the implications of war.

"All these assaults on Americans are about to come to an end. You have seen Gen. Goering's order. This is approved 100 per cent by the chancellor, who is honestly perturbed over the situation. In the future the assailants will be dealt with severely and summarily."

Studies Foreign Relations.

After devoting the first months of his rule to internal problems, Hitler is now turning his attention to foreign relations. He fully realizes the seriousness of his government's position in international affairs. It is understood in diplomatic circles that he hopes Ambassador Dodd and the United States will help him frame a compromise in which the former allies will recognize part of Germany's claim to equality in armaments.

For the first time Hitler and his lieutenants are evincing considerable interest in the American attitude on European problems. The feeling is prevalent here that only joint pressure by the United States and Italy will help solve Europe's armaments tangle. Berlin is looking to Washington for guidance, judging from an officially inspired news agency which sees in the statement of Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large at Geneva, evidence of the "similarity of the American and German attitudes toward the disarmament conference which is bound to reduce international tension." The agency added:

"By requesting France and Britain to present disarmament proposals the United States brings pressure to bear upon these nations and compels them to demonstrate their desire for disarmament to the rest of the world. That is all Germany is asking for, too."

AUSTRIA THREATENS TO EXECUTE FOES WHO OPPOSE DICTATORSHIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Oct. 17.—Following charges of the police yesterday that a Nazi plot to overthrow the Dollfuss government and set up a Hitlerite régime had been frustrated, the government today threatened to declare martial law and restore the death penalty for dissenters to his dictatorship.

This threat was published in the official government Gazette, which said: "There is an overwhelming popular demand for the restoration of the death penalty." Capital punishment was constitutionally abolished from the criminal code some time ago.

Meantime, attention was centered upon a scheduled meeting here tomorrow between Chancellor Dollfuss and Foreign Minister Edouard Benes of Czechoslovakia.

The purpose of this meeting was somewhat of a mystery tonight. An official denial was issued that the meeting was connected with the confiscation of the Czechoslovakian newspaper, Prager Tagblatt, here today because it printed alleged instructions to the Austrian Socialists for a general strike the moment the government ordered the Socialist party dissolved or attempted to oust the Socialists from the Vienna city hall.

Political police today began an investigation of conditions in all garrisons and branches of the army in an effort to determine to what extent the Nazi influence has spread. This action was taken following the arrest yesterday of ten persons at Linz on charges that they had plotted to seize the garrison there and set up a Nazi form of government.

DENMARK ACTS TO DEFEND SELF AGAINST INVASION

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Coincident with reports the military units in Slesvig had been reinforced, Prime Minister Stauning declared today that the Danish southern frontier will be defended by "all means at our disposal." The premier, speaking in the folketing [the lower chamber], asserted that the Slesvig frontier is the frontier of the whole of Scandinavia and any violation would involve all the Scandinavian countries.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

U. S. MAY SPEED UP 60 MILLION ARMY PROGRAM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—In view of the collapse of the Geneva disarmament parley following Germany's withdrawal, army and public works officials today considered speeding up of a 60 million dollar program for motorizing the American army and for building up of its air corps.

Pigeonholed in the public works administration are plans drawn up by army experts for putting the army on wheels and augmenting the air combat force. Officials of the administration admitted today that these plans might be pulled out for additional consideration if Europe collapses into an explosive shambles.

Must Not Clash with Treaty.

Sidetracking of the army's program for motorization and airplane construction, which the war department wants to carry out with public works money, resulted in part from existence of the disarmament conference, it was said.

The section of the public works act which allows allocation of funds for army motorization and airplanes directs also that the President must suspend such construction if it interferes with the terms of any existing or future treaty, it was pointed out. For this reason, consideration of the army's request during the arms conference was considered inappropriate.

Act on First Threat of War.

European conditions, as far as officials here are now able to judge them, were not held today to warrant immediate expedition of the army's proposal through the public works administration, it was said. The outcome of disarmament still is regarded as hanging in the balance.

With the first threat of war, however, the program would be put through rapidly, according to predictions made today.

Sixty million dollars from the fund has been asked by the army for its program of motorization. Twenty millions of this sum would be spent on attack equipment and would provide for the motorization of a battalion of artillery and seven armored car troops comprising 91 armored cars in addition to the necessary transport cars for this organization and 565 tanks.

The remaining 40 million dollars would go for defensive equipment, mainly tractors and trucks. Much of this equipment would go to the National Guard, which has very few motor vehicles.

Details of the airplane building program have been carefully guarded, not being disclosed even to all of the officers in the air division of the war department, it was said there today.

COL. E. M. MARKHAM IS APPOINTED CHIEF OF ARMY ENGINEERS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today appointed Col. Edward M. Markham as chief of army engineers to succeed Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, whose tour of duty expired Sept. 30.

Markham will have the rank of major general. Brown was appointed by former President Hoover, who at the time announced that he hoped Brown would remain at the post for long term planning of river and harbor construction work.

Markham is a native of Troy, New York. He is 56 years old and was graduated from West Point in 1899. He will have charge of the engineering projects approved by the army for the public works administration.

President Roosevelt also appointed Brig. Gen. Halstead Dorey to be major general of the line succeeding Maj. Gen. Edwin B. Winans who will retire Oct. 31.

These new brigadier generals succeed Brig. Gens. Dorey, Meriwether, L. Walker, Joseph C. Castner, and George H. Jamerson. The last named officers are to be retired between now and Nov. 30.

Col. Patrick W. Guiney was designated assistant to the quartermaster general with the rank of brigadier general, succeeding Brig. Gen. Louis H. Bash, whose tour of duty expired Sept. 18.

FRENCHMEN DENY BIG LOAN TO JAPS FOR MANCHUKUO

TOKIO, Oct. 17.—(AP)—An authoritative French source close to the negotiations today pronounced reports that the Association Nationale D'Expansion Economique of Paris had loaned 1,000,000,000 francs [$57,400,000] to the Japanese owned South Manchuria railway for the development of the state of Manchukuo as absurd.

A representative of the association is now in Manchuria investigating markets and investment opportunities, but thus far no results have been announced, it was said.

Denied in Manchuria.

DAIREN, Manchukuo, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Headquarters of the South Manchuria railway today said there was no truth in a report of a French loan to the railroad, although a French representative was in Manchuria investigating investment opportunities.

4 NAZI CHIEFS TO ANSWER 'CHARGE' OF PLOTTING FIRE

Goering and Goebbels to Testify in Trial.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—(AP)—A dramatic development in the reichstag incendiarism trial came today with the announcement that four highly placed Hitlerite leaders would be called as witnesses to tell of their activities on the night of the blaze.

They are Hermann Wilhelm Goering, premier of Prussia and a reichminister, and Dr. Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, who are accused in the "Brown Book" of being the "brains" behind the parliament building fire last February, Count Wolf Hendrich von Helldorf, and Edmund Heines.

Prosecutor Karl Werner proposed that they be called to "answer the monstrous allegations put forth in the 'Brown Book,'" a volume published by a commission headed by Lord Marley which purports to give cases of alleged Nazi mistreatment.

To Be Heard Under Oath.

Werner said Heines and Count von Helldorf, a former lieutenant who served a prison sentence for a political murder before Chancellor Hitler's advent to power, and the two ministers would be heard under oath.

Defense Attorney Alfons Sack protested that these hearings would be unnecessary on the ground that the allegations were "merely calumniations," but the court decided otherwise.

The courtroom audience laughed when the irrepressible Georgi Dimitroff, one of five defendants accused of setting the reichstag fire, asked the court for permission to "please read this book that is so often mentioned in the court."

Dimitroff's own counsel, however, intervened, telling the judges he himself had informed the one time Bulgarian communist leader of the main points in the book.

Thereupon Dimitroff sarcastically murmured, "Thank you for your able assistance." The judges said they would consider whether to give Dimitroff the book.

Reads from "Brown Book."

The prosecutor read from the "Brown Book" to the effect that Heines and Von Helldorf led Nazi storm troopers into the reichstag building through a subterranean passage connecting it with Goering's official residence and that the troopers carried combustible materials, leaving Marinus Van der Lubbe, a defendant who confessed starting the fire, behind to do the rest.

Werner said these allegations were repudiated by witnesses already heard and that the next phase of the trial would establish Dr. Goebbels did not conceive the plan to burn the reichstag and that Goering did not direct its execution.

Charges have been made in various quarters that the Nazis planned the fire shortly before the election that brought them to power and accused communists of setting the blaze.

ITALIAN PRESS URGES SPEEDY ARMS ACTION UNDER 4 POWER PACT

ROME, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Italian newspapers today asked that the four-power western European peace pact be put into speedy operation in order to solve the disarmament situation.

Virginio Gayda, who usually echoes government opinion, said in Giornale d'Italia that everywhere "action by Premier Mussolini is invoked and waited for that there may be some new initiative capable of mending the broken threads of political cloth."

He called the recently signed pact by Germany, Italy, Great Britain, and France "the last line trench providentially created by Mussolini for the defense, peace and political solidarity of Europe."

CUBAN PRESIDENT CLAIMS MACHADO PLOTS TO RETURN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 17.—President Ramon Grau San Martin tonight said he is convinced that Gerardo Machado, deposed dictator of Cuba, is plotting with former members of his cabinet to get control of Cuba again from his exile in Montreal. The government ordered immediate imprisonment of Machado and 38 officials of his régime and the sequestering of their properties in the sum of $25,000,000. Practically all the accused are now in exile.

President Grau today signed a decree ordering an immediate call to service of national militia comprising 7,500 privates and noncomissioned officers, discharged and retired at various times since 1909. Sixteen Mexican officers are expected here next week to instruct sergeants in their new duties as commissioned officers.

An explosion rocked Havana early today, damaging the largest store of the Woolworth chain in Cuba. Damage was estimated at $8,000. Adjacent stores, also American owned, suffered. Five leaders of the national labor syndicate were arrested for the bombing, which was done, it is believed, in retaliation for the closing of the store until the United States recognizes the Grau government. The Woolworth stores closed five weeks ago when the syndicate, which is affiliated with the national communist labor confederation, ordered more than 800 girls to strike for higher wages and other demands.

Bolivia Pays Tribute to Slain Son of President

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The body of Lieut. Alberto Salamanca Ugarte, 25, son of Bolivia's president, lay in state today at Cochambamba, where it was taken by plane after his death from wounds received in the war with Paraguay. Shot in an encounter in the Nanawa sector, the lieutenant was hurried to Saavedra, but died there Sunday. He entered the conflict several months ago and saw service in every engagement on the Nanawa front. Cochambamba is his birthplace.

LIFE DOOR SHUTS ON MRS. KELLY IN WORKHOUSE

Arrives, Placed in Cell in Cincinnati Prison.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Surrounded by about 30 officers armed with pistols, machine guns and tear gas, Kathryn Kelly was taken to the Cincinnati workhouse tonight to begin a term of life imprisonment for the kidnaping of Charles Urschel, Oklahoma millionaire.

Mrs. Kelly was smiling cheerfully as she was taken through the gray stone portals of the workhouse. Her almost gay attitude was in sharp contrast to the grim faces of the officers who met the slim 30 year old woman at the Union terminal upon her arrival.

As the party was proceeding through a pedestrian tunnel at the depot, a photographer accidentally dropped two flashlight bulbs, which, exploding, sounded like pistol shots. The officers wheeled quickly, brought up their guns for play and crouched low. There was a sigh of relief when they saw the photographer sheepishly fumbling with his equipment.

Chats About New "Home."

Mrs. Kelly, wife of George [Machine Gun] Kelly, who also was sentenced to life imprisonment in the kidnaping, chatted with reporters about her new "home." She was irate, however, about reporters quoting her as saying her husband would get her out of jail by Christmas.

"That is the last way I would want to get out," she said.

Mrs. Kelly will be put to work tomorrow in the workhouse sewing and tailoring shop. She said she didn't know how to sew, but believed she could learn.

The government uses the workhouse here for its "important" female prisoners. The workhouse, a number of stone buildings spreading over 26 acres, is surrounded by a 15 foot wall.

Parts with Mother.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Kathryn Kelly, auburn haired wife of George [Machine Gun] Kelly, her fourth husband, ran through what is called the gamut of emotions today as she was nearing a federal woman's prison to serve a life sentence. The Kellys were among six given life terms in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case.

Part of the display of emotion was occasioned by the parting of Mrs. Kelly from her mother, Mrs. R. G. Shannon, who entered the Shelby county penal farm near here today on a life term.

"I'm just worried about my mother," she said. "She won't last in that kind of life, not being able to see me. She's innocent, too, poor dear."

Later Mrs. Kelly thought of Kelly, for whom she has alternately voiced love and hate.

"Look—this is all I have to remind me of Kelly," she said, showing a handkerchief smaller than that usually used by a man. "But I still love him—I hope he doesn't forget that."

Aids of Kelly Sentenced.

San Angelo, Tex., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Two farmers today were sentenced for aiding George "Machine Gun" Kelly in his attempt to elude government agents in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case. Will Casey, of Coleman county, was sentenced to two years imprisonment, and Cass Coleman was sentenced to one year and a day. It was on Cass Coleman's farm, Kelly's share of the Urschel ransom was dug up.

EX-CONVICT ON JURY DELAYS TRIAL OF 2 AS TORTURE KILLERS

Newton, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—After an unusual delay as a result of finding a former convict on the jury the trial of Harry Shelby of Tilton and John Allen of Danville proceeded this afternoon. The pair are charged with the torture slaying of Mrs. Mary Schrader, 82, wealthy widow, at her rural home near here Aug. 29.

Judge Jett ordered the juror brought before him for questioning. He then ruled that it was through no prejudice, but in order to preserve the record that he must discharge the juror.

Bernard Weldom, 84, brother of the slain woman and Anna Schrader, her 47 year old daughter, took the witness stand and identified the defendants as the men who beat them and the mother in an attempt to force from them the location of money supposed to be hidden about the house.

The daughter identified a dress which she said the bandits had torn from her body. The defendants, she testified, tied her hands above her head to a bed, tied strips of dress about her neck, pinning her to the bed and wired her feet together. Both Shelby and Allen raped her, she said. She sobbed as she told of her mother's death and described the injuries inflicted on the aged woman's head.

SUPREME COURT REJECTS THIRD MURDER APPEAL

Review of Rooney Case Is Refused.

The state Supreme court yesterday refused to review the murder conviction of John Rooney, secretary and treasurer of the Circular Distributors' union; his sweetheart, Rosalie Rizzo, 24 years old, and Henry (Hogan) Berry, a business agent of the union.

Rooney and Berry were sentenced to life imprisonment on their conviction for the murder of Stanley Gross, 21 years old, a watchman for the Goldblatt department store, 1615 West Chicago avenue. Miss Rizzo also was convicted and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The case was the third major crime case in Cook county in which the new state Supreme court, sitting at its first regular term, has refused an appeal for a rehearing. Morris Cohen and Ross King, both of whom have been executed for the murder of Chicago policemen, were denied a hearing in the high court.

Praise Action of Court.

Cook county officials yesterday lauded the action of the court and pointed to the quick justice handed out by the high court as a reversal of the usual procedure followed in Illinois. In former years, authorities said, a petition for a writ of error had been looked upon as a guaranty of a review of the case in the state Supreme court.

At the time of the trial the Rooney conviction was greeted as the first case in which the state had been able to break down the secrecy surrounding a murder in labor racketeering circles. The murder of Gross terminated a campaign of terrorism directed against the six Goldblatt department stores for more than a year.

Climax in Murder.

Window smashings, stench bombings, slashing of merchandise and assaults on employés had marked the refusal of store owners to meet further extortion demands. The climax of the campaign was the murder of Gross.

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday expressed satisfaction over the Supreme court ruling. He said that he wanted to express thanks to the members of the convicting jury, Judge Harry B. Miller, who heard the case, and to his assistants.

4 JURORS CHOSEN TO TRY TRIO FOR BANKER MURDER

Slow Progress Made on Second Day.

The second day's hearing in the trial of three young hoodlums for the murder of a Niles Center bank cashier ended yesterday afternoon with only four jurors accepted by the state and defense. Questioning of veniremen proceeded cautiously with the defense using 22 of its 60 peremptory challenges and the state eleven.

The defendants—John Scheck, Carl Grundhoefer, and Frank Kegolovitz—are alleged to have shot down Harry Mueller during a robbery of the First National bank of Niles Center last May. Scheck already is under sentence to die in the electric chair for the courtroom murder of Policeman John G. Sevick.

State Excuses Fathers.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, seeking a jury qualified for the death penalty, yesterday excused all veniremen who are fathers of boys between 16 and 21 years old—ages approximating those of the defendants.

The only excitement of the day's hearing was furnished with the appearance of Mrs. Rose Scheck and her daughter, Mary, mother and sister of the defendant. Both had visited Scheck shortly before he made his break for freedom in the court of Judge Charles Molthrop and shot down the policeman.

Mrs. Scheck was suspected of smuggling to her son the weapon used in the attempted escape, but she was later acquitted of the charge. She and her daughter each carried a small package as they entered the courtroom yesterday.

Prosecutor Coghlan recalled the murder of Policeman Sevick and demanded that they submit to a search. They were allowed to remain when it was found the boxes contained cookies, sandwiches, and fruit. Rose Scheck, however, was warned by the court to stop her audible weeping in the presence of the veniremen.

Choose Jury for Garage Murder.

A jury was completed yesterday in Judge Benjamin Epstein's court to try Kenneth Rucker and Russell McAtee for the murder of a garage attendant. The state charged that Rucker and McAtee entered a garage at 5013 North Kedzie avenue on March 5 and shot down Leonard Smith, colored, when he was slow in obeying the command to raise his hands.

Then the defendants stole a car, according to the state, and wrecked it when they were pursued by a police squad. A second car was stolen by the defendants in a garage at Kildare and Elston avenues after the crash, the state charges.

Sentence Five to Prison.

Five sentences yesterday in the Criminal court raised to 429 the total number of criminals sentenced since the opening of the war on crime. Those sentenced are:

EDWARD BARBER, 24 years old, sentenced to one to ten years by Judge Harry B. Miller for confidence game. Barber passed a fraudulent check for $25 on Edgar A. Arvey, 317 South Oak Park avenue.

JAMES RIO, 22 years old, sentenced to one year to life by Judge Thomas J. Lynch for robbery of the Graemere hotel, 113 North Homan avenue on Aug. 9.

ALBERT SIGO, 31 years old, sentenced to one year to life by Judge James F. Fardy, for the $30 robbery of Edward Stearns, 4159 West Madison street.

LOUIS BARTH, 21 years old, of Des Moines, Ia., and LAURENCE BELMONT, 19 years old, of Vaux Hall, N. J., sentenced to one to ten years by Judge Phillip L. Sullivan for the larceny of 15 cartons of cigarets from an A. and P. store at 4324 North Hermitage avenue.

FOUR FOUND DEAD IN BOOTLEGGER'S BLOOMINGTON FLAT

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Four persons, two men and two women, were found dead on the floor of a bootlegging apartment of Claude A. Hicks, of this city, this afternoon. They apparently had died of gas poisoning. The dead are: Claude A. Hicks, Marie Baxter, James McCabe, Madelaine Van Ordstrand of Heyworth. The gas jets of a stove were open. A kitten also was found dead.

There were glasses, bottles and alcohol in the kitchen.

DOG'S MOURNING WINS IT A HOME, BUT NOT FOR LONG

The grief of a little wire-haired terrior over the death of his playmate, a police dog, yesterday won the terrier a home and lost it again. Miss Priscilla Parker, a student at the University of Chicago, saw the terrier keeping vigil beside the body of the police dog, which had been killed by an automobile in front of 954 Hyde Park boulevard.

Miss Parker took the terrier to her home at 5114 Woodlawn avenue, but later turned it out because she could not stand its dismal wailing. The terrier returned to the spot where the police dog had been killed, but the body had been taken away. Last evening the terrier wandered forlornly near the scene of the accident.

JUSTICE FINALLY CATCHES UP WITH SIMON LEGREE

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Swift and violent retribution, the kind countless audiences have longed for, fell upon the historic villains of Uncle Tom's cabin here last night.

During the famous chase across the ice after Eliza, the fugitive slave girl, one of the bloodhounds sprang at Simon Legree. While Legree went sprawling across the stage, the hound took a determined grip on the seat of Lawyer Marks' trousers.

The surprising change in plot during a rehearsal at the President theater so upset Little Eva that she was unable to continue. Montgomery Mohn, playing the part of Lawyer Marks, was treated where his trousers had been.

No wonder, for you, like thousands of others have probably been treating yourself for everything but the right thing. Get at the unsuspected cause—your gall bladder. If sluggish, it won't pour into your small intestines the most important digestive juice necessary for neutralizing gastric acid, quickening digestion and disinfecting the intestinal tract. If this juice doesn't flow freely, then your food sours, putrifies, stomach becomes filled with gas and acidity.

From the world's greatest chemists comes a simple, pleasant means to make this digestive juice flow freely, and put you on the sunny side of life. Magnesia Oxoids, little white tablets that release pure oxygen. This amazing oxygen—purer than the air you breathe—plus magnesia, gently stimulates the gall bladder, neutralizes burning acidity and sweeps that poison-packed bowel clean.

DEMOCRATS FAIL TO END INDIANA ROW OVER FUNDS

Senator Van Nuys Shuns Squabble.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Delay in settling the campaign fund dispute between Gov. Paul V. McNutt and R. Earl Peters, Democratic state chairman, came today when the subfinance committee of the state committee explained it was unable to meet because of illness of Miss Florence Smith, La Porte, Third district vice chairman.

The other two members of the committee—Alex Pursley, Hartford City, Fifth district chairman, and Omer Jackson, Greenfield, Eleventh district chairman—discussed the situation informally and set a tentative date for Oct. 26.

Van Nuys Tells Stand.

United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys tonight asserted he would take no active part in the controversy between the governor and the state chairman over control of the Indiana Democartic party and collection of 2 per cent per month of salaries of state employés for an alleged McNutt war chest.

"I am not interested in any one's desire for personal front page publicity," Senator Van Nuys said. "I am interested in the harmonious working of the Democratic party so that it may do the job mandated by the will of the pepole last fall.

"We have too many important things to do to get into a childish squabble over who is going to handle the party's finances. I am not going to take any part in it at all."

Peters Offers Plan.

The statae committee at a session a week ago authorized the subcommittee to take full charge of the financial affairs of the state committee and to employ such agencies as it saw fit in the raising of money.

Peters, who was one of the chief supporters of McNutt in his quest for the governorship last year, has asked that the assessment on state employés be reduced 50 per cent and that all the money be turned over to the state committee.

BARS FAN DANCERS.

Kewanee, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Fan dancing is taboo here. The city council revoked the licenses of two beer taverns last night because the Saturday night entertainers wore scanty costumes.

McNutt Calls for Conference Over Indiana Prison Escape

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—A special meeting with trustees of the Indiana state prison was called today by Gov. Paul V. McNutt to discuss findings in a report made by the trustees on the prison break Sept. 26 in which ten convicts escaped.

Get Terre Haute Clew.

In the meanwhile state police, who made a swift raid into Ohio yesterday in search of clews as to whereabouts of the felons who escaped, turned their attention to the western part of Indiana tonight . They were investigating a report from Terre Haute that a Chevrolet coach, driven by two men tentatively identified as Charles Makley one of the convicts, and Harry Pierpont, paroled convict, had been repaired there.

Pierpont has been identified as the "trigger man" in the slaying of Jesse Sarber, Lima, O., sheriff, in the jail delivery there last week of John Dillinger.

Detrick in Auburn Raid.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Walter Detrick, one of the ten prisoners who escaped from the Indiana state prison, has been identified tentatively as one of the three men who raided the Auburn police station Saturday night, locked two policemen in a cell, and escaped with a machine gun, rifles, pistols, and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Hear of Delivery Plot.

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Twenty armed guards were hastily pressed into service at the state prison here tonight for fear that a group of the escaped convicts who are still at large was planning an attack and delivery. At midnight nothing to substantiate those fears had occurred, but the armed guard was still maintained.

The precaution followed a meeting of C. D. Graham, an electric line employé, with four tough looking men. They drove up to him in a new car and asked directions to Chicago. They also observed they would pass by "the place from where those men escaped."

While Graham was talking to the men he noticed, he said, that they carried guns. Two of the men sat in the back seat of the car, he declared, and carried a machine gun. As soon as they left Graham notified police, who reported to prison authorities.

INDIANA CITIES ASK U. S. CASH FOR SEWAGE PLANTS

A campaign by the Indiana state board of health to stop pollution of Lake Michigan's waters with industrial wastes and sewage dumped by northern Indiana cities was said to be moving rapidly forward yesterday.

Representatives of East Chicago and Michigan City were summoned to Indianapolis on Monday and after a hearing it was indicated the board would require these communities to apply to the federal government for funds to carry out their part of the work. Representatives of Gary, Hammond, and Whiting are to confer with the board next week.

Several years ago the state board commanded all the cities to draw up plans for sewage treatment, but no start on the work was made because the cities were cramped for funds. It has been suggested that all the Lake county cities form themselves into one sanitary district, but this movement is only in the discussion stage. Several million dollars would be required, according to estimates of the state board of health, to complete the necessary works.

It was announced at Hammond yesterday that a contract for the construction of the Indiana Harbor breakwater in the lake had been awarded by the federal government to the Fitzsimons-Connel Dredge and Dock company. The bid was $822,000.

Massie Declines to Discuss Report of Divorce Action

San Pedro, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, husband of Mrs. Thalie Massie, central figure two years ago in an assault and slaying case in Hawaii, declined today to discuss reports his wife might seek a divorce. Lieut. Massie, on duty aboard the U. S. S. Oklahoma, said he did "not care to discuss the report," and added, "it is a matter entirely in the hands of my wife."

McNUTT'S ORDER OF MARTIAL LAW PUZZLES COUNTY

Court Tangle Caused by Proclamation.

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Judge Martin L. Pigg of Sullivan Circuit court and Rex Bridwell, county prosecutor, left here today for Indianapolis to confer with Gov. Paul V. McNutt regarding the law enforcement situation in Sullivan county, center of Indiana mine disorders. The county is under the control of military authorities sent here by a proclamation of the governor.

They were requested by the governor to call following a conference between McNutt and Mayor Otis Hall, William Tennis, clerk of Sullivan Circuit court; Norville Harris, and W. G. Mallott.

The governor charged that law violations had been condoned here and he assured the committee that National Guardsmen would be kept in Sullivan county until he is positive civil authorities can maintain law and order.

Civil Court's Status Questioned.

Pigg and Bridwell seek an opinion from the governor as to his intent and the status of Sullivan Circuit court under the proclamation of military control of the county.

The answer appears to rest on whether the governor, in his proclamation intended that martial law should prevail in this county, or whether guardsmen were sent to act as an agency for enforcement of civil law.

Attorneys here express the opinion that the court was suspended by the proclamation if its intent was to establish martial law. They insist the county cannot be partly under martial law and partly civil court jurisdiction.

Judge Pigg has not conceded that his jurisdiction was in any way affected by Gov. McNutt's proclamation. Gen. D. Wray, Deprez, and his successor, Col. Albert H. Whitcomb, have not conceded that military authorities are under jurisdiction of the court.

Charge No Corporation.

In the week that guardsmen have been in the county they have not delivered a prisoner or filed a complaint in Circuit court. They have held from three to six men under guard each day, but have charged none of these men with violation of state statutes.

Activities of civil authorities since guardsmen came here Oct. 9 have been confined to indictment and arrest of twenty-three miners for rioting, and one operator for failure to post a pay roll bond.

Nothing has been done by either civil or military authorities toward arrest of persons who bombed the homes of Charles Fox and Roscoe White.

Also, it seems, there is no coöperation between military and civil authorities in arresting those responsible for trouble at the Starburn coöpertive mine which brought guardsmen into the field.

The lack of harmony between military and civil authorities has produced stagnation in the activities of civil authorities.

WHAT'S COME OVER JACK?

He looks years younger . . . doesn't complain or grouch around any more

The crowd always dodged when they saw Jack coming. They couldn't stand his grouchy manner—his constant complaints—his pepless, spoilsport attitude. It got so bad he began to hate himself.

Now suddenly he looks and acts like a new man—has literally grown years younger. The secret—he learned what his ailment was and easily and quickly corrected it.

Millions are in the same lamentable plight today and not one in ten can guess the cause.

It's ASTHENIA

(Run-down condition, usually caused by Constipation)

That's the insidious thing about Asthenia . . . it drags you down, slows your mind, robs you of your joys and pleasures, yet you hardly realize you're slipping.

Would you like for once to brush the cobwebs from your eyes—be ready and eager for any task—experience all the glories of this glorious old world? Then rid yourself of Asthenia and stay rid of it.

You think that you're not the least bit clogged—you say that you're "regular" as can be—but physicians will tell you that it is only too easy to deceive yourself in this respect and stay doped with poisons. Thus millions of micro-organisms accumulate in the intestinal tract and produce that dull, achy, pepless feeling known as Asthenia.

Decide right now to turn the tables on Old Man Gloom. Take Pluto Water every morning for 10 mornings, and see a new world in 10 days.

Don't miss a day. Take it before breakfast as recommended—one-fifth glass Pluto Water in four-fifths glass hot water—for ten straight days.

Gentle, Effective

Then you will understand why for nearly ninety years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this ten-day Pluto Water treatment. And why physicians everywhere recommend it as a mild and effective laxative—non-irritating and non-habit-forming.

Two sizes—20c and 45c—at all drug counters. Bottled and sealed at French Lick Springs.

The NEW TASTELESS WAY TO TAKE PLUTO

Make this simple light test

Then you'll know whether improper light in your home is tiring the eyes of your family

Better Light—Better Sight

Poor light tires eyes, increases nervous tension and induces body fatigue. Be sure your family has proper light in every reading place.

PROPER lighting is this simple. You must have enough illumination on your paper or magazine to keep your eyes from straining, from getting tired. The only trouble is that your eyes do not give warning in advance. They get tired before you know it. The best way to know is to have a lighting survey made in your home, by an expert. Then you'll know for sure whether your light is right.

It is especially important that school children have enough light when they read or study. In the formative years, straining and tiring the eyes can permanently affect eyesight. For their protection as well as your own ask for a lighting check-up of your home.

Lighting advice FREE for the asking

This service is absolutely free. Just write or telephone and we will send an expert who will make a complete survey of your home. She'll bring her little "sight-meter" and test the illumination in every reading or sewing location in your home. She may suggest a change in the size of lamp bulb. She may recommend a rearrangement of your lamps. Or your shades. They may be the wrong type or they may be improperly placed.

Better Light, Better Sight

You cherish your eyesight. It's the most precious thing you have. Then why tire it with wrong lighting methods? Let our expert advise you. Phone today. Or, if you wish, visit our Electric Shops to see the free demonstration of "right and wrong" lighting.

What $16,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color more than twice the size of any other magazine page in the world . . . more than 5,000,000 families at a cost of about ⅓ cent per family . . . The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

TO measure the advertising effectiveness of any magazine, you must measure it—NOT BY TRADITION—but by its coverage of the important markets and its interest to people.

The American Weekly will sell more goods per advertising dollar than any other magazine for the simple reason that it is regularly read by the most families in the master markets at the lowest cost per family reached.

These master markets are the 995 key cities of 10,000 population and over, and the people in them account for 70% of all national retail sales. Of The American Weekly's more than 5,000,000 circulation, 76% or 3,883,884 copies are sold in these key cities.

From these centres come 81% of the income tax returns. Within their corporate limits are sold 70% of all drug products, 73% of all grocery items and 86% of all wearing apparel.

The great chain stores who count and clock before they open stores concentrate right here.

In 529 of these key cities The American Weekly reaches a minimum of one out of every five families, while the next largest weekly magazine gives 20% or better coverage in only 195 of these important cities.

In 169 of these 529 cities, The American Weekly reaches 20 to 30% of all the families.

In 157 more cities it reaches 30 to 40%.

In 110 more cities it reaches 40 to 50%.

And, finally, in 93 of these key cities it actually reaches better than one out of two of all the families.

No other magazine in the world can boast such circulation or such key market coverage.

No other magazine in the world will carry your advertising messages at such a low rate per family reached.

For $16,000 each you can buy one or a series of great color pages in The American Weekly and send your sales message forth into more than 5,000,000 homes located in the rich key markets at the rock bottom cost of less than ⅓ cent per home.

That is why the list of important advertisers who use The American Weekly regularly continues to lengthen and grow.

That is why The American Weekly has leaped ahead from ninth to second place among the great national magazines in volume of advertising linage carried in seven brief years.

$62,000 Overpayment for Printing Alleged.

The failure of the county to take action to recover $62,000, the amount of an alleged overpayment to the James T. Igoe company, printers, for the printing of personal property assessment lists during the year from 1923 through 1928, stirred County Commissioner Amelia Sears into action yesterday. She asserted that she will seek to obtain immediate orders from the county board for the institution of a civil suit for the money.

Commissioner Sears said that the proceedings of the board of March 5, 1930, show that the county commissioners then in office directed State's Attorney Swanson to begin such a suit. No action, however, was taken by the state's attorney's office.

Under Illinois laws the statute of limitations in civil matters precludes the prosection of an action in recovery after five years. Commissioner Sears pointed out that the alleged overpayments were discovered in October, 1929, and that the delay has been so long that only a few months are left in which to bring suit. She said that if there was any further delay the county would never be able to reclaim the money.

A statement of the facts in the case were obtained from a report of the situation made to the county board on Oct. 7, 1929, by J. L. Jacobs, the present assessor who then was county efficiency expert.

The report outlined the contract which had been given to the printing firm of Former United States Congressman Igoe, for the printing of the assessment lists under terms which provided payment of $24.50 for each 1,000 names in 1923, and gradually increased to $38 per 1,000 names in 1928.

Comparison of Lists.

The number of names allowed on bills as rendered by the printing company and the actual number of names on the assessment rolls for the six years were given in the following table.

Year—	Actual Roll.	Bills.
1924	243,349	511,245
1925	244,416	561,290
1926	250,850	602,460
1927	249,416	722,950
1928	256,155	831,909

The recommendation that suit be brought against the Igoe concern also was made by the citizens' committee in 1929, according to the report.

U. S. WOMAN, AID OF GANDHI, LOST FROM HIS CAMP

BOMBAY, India, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi said at Wardha today that Nila Cram Cook, an American woman who became prominent as his disciple, disappeared from his ashram, or cantonment, ten days ago and was last heard of in Delhi. The mahatma issued an appeal for her return.

Nila Nagini Devi, or "the blue serpent goddness," the Hindu name assumed by Nila Cram Cook, arrived at the cantonment on the Sabarmati river on May 4.

FIGHT TO BREAK WILL OF MAN WHO LEFT $25,000 TO SIFT DEATH

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—An effort to break the strange will of Horace Elliot Wadsworth, wealthy New Yorker, who left $25,000 to finance an investigation of his death and an additional $100,000 in rewards for the prosecution of those responsible, was begun in Surrogate's court today.

Dr. Lorne Robertson of Stratford, Ont., filed objections to the probate of two codicils, contending Wadsworth was mentally unsound and subjected to undue influence when he added them to the will on Dec. 28, 1932.

Wadsworth died in Reno, Nev., on Aug. 9 while seeking a divorce. An autopsy conducted two days later indicated the cause of his death was acute alcoholism. Although providing in his will for an investigation of his death, Wadsworth gave no reasons for his apparent fear of a violent end.

ASSASSINS WAIT IN GARAGE AND KILL JOLIET MAN

Joliet police were confronted with a murder mystery last night in the slaying of James Fleming, 48 years old, a locomotive engineer and father of three children.

Fleming was shot to death in the garage behind his home at 215 Youngs avenue, Joliet. Two unidentified men surprised him as he was driving his car into the garage. One of them fired a charge of fine buckshot into his body.

William Fleming, 16 year old son of the victim, saw the killers run to a waiting roadster and drive away. Police said Fleming was a law abiding citizen. They are investigating the possibility of robbery as a motive.

BRITISH LINER AGROUND OFF COAST OF FRANCE

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The British owned oriental liner City of Paris, outbound for Karachi, India, was solidly aground on a sandbank tonight, 20 miles off the French coast.

Her master reported the vessel grounded during a heavy mist. He said she was taking no water, but would likely have to wait for morning before tugs could attempt to take her off.

State Awards First Road Job with U. S. Easy Money

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The state highway department today awarded its first contracts to be financed from the $17,750,000 federal easy money allotted to Illinois for road construction under the NRA. All of the work is downstate, consisting of 5.88 miles of paving, 3.55 miles of graveling, 1.29 miles of grading, and a bridge.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Nannie Dale Biddle filed suit for divorce here today against Edward M. Biddle, Ardmore, Pa. They were married at Bryn Mawr, Pa., May 20, 1922, and have two children. Mrs. Biddle charged cruelty.

HIJACKERS HOLD TRUCK SHIPPERS AT THEIR MERCY

Chicago Business Losses Run Into Thousands.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

"En route to Chicago with a $2,200 truckload of butter, R. C. White of Galesburg was beset by three hijackers on a highway near De Kalb early yesterday and compelled to drive to a secluded spot near Riverside, where his captors put him off the truck with a promise that he could recover it later at Lake and Clinton streets, Chicago. White hitch-hiked into the city and found his truck at the designated spot, empty."

This item, culled from the grist of an average day's news, is illustrative of a situation which, according to Chicago merchants and shippers, is costing them and the public hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly. Chicago, they declare, has become more deeply infested with hijackers than any city of the United States with the possible exception of New York, a statement which is supported by the city's anti-theft insurance rates.

Statistics compiled by the cartage theft committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce shows hijacking so prevalent that insurance against it in the Chicago area runs twice to three times as high as in other large cities. Many underwriters, the committee asserts, are now refusing to write this risk in any form.

Costly Economic Factor.

Demonstrating how costly an economic factor hijacking has become, the committee has drawn up a table showing the comparative annual premiums by standard underwriters for insuring general merchandise at $5,000 per vehicle against loss by theft and highway robbery. The table gives the following rates: Indianapolis, $100; Milwaukee, $100; St. Louis, $125; St. Paul, $150; Cleveland, $200; Chicago, $300.

On top of this, the committee asserts, many companies writing anti-theft insurance are compelled to penalize their Chicago policy holders by various liability exceptions. Among these exceptions, the committee asserts, are:

1. Refusal of liability for any hijacking loss within Chicago proper or a fifteen mile radius outside. 2. Heavy deductible clauses within Cook county, compelling the policy holder to bear the first $250 to $500 of each loss. 3. Requirement of one, two, or three armed guards on each truckload.

Organize Special Police.

The cartage theft committee, comprising representatives of fourteen leading mercantile houses and shippers of the city, was organized two years ago at a time when hijacking ran rife in the city proper. At their instance the police commissioner organized a special cartage theft detail to combat the situation and assigned two men, Lieut. James B. Kerr and Sergt. Harvey Guynn to operate the detail.

The coöperation of the entire police department was enlisted when, at the suggestion of the detail, special routes were laid out joining various railroad, produce and warehouse terminals, over which shippers might route their trucks with assurance that these routes were well patrolled, both night and day. Hijacking within the city took a sudden slump, but the brigands engaged in it soon adopted a new technique that enabled them to continue operations. They shifted the scene of their hijacking to highways outside town.

The new technique, as explained by Lieut. Kerr, involves an extensive personnel. The hijack gang may have its own spotters in other cities to tip them off on cargoes billed here, or may have drivers of the trucking company on its pay roll. With the tip on a given cargo telegraphed in code, the gang masses with shotguns and machine guns on a chosen spot, preferably close to a Chicago suburb, swarm aboard the truck as it approaches, eject the driver and proceed to the haven of a friendly warehouse operator for unloading and storage of the loot.

Butter, beer, eggs, tobacco, poultry, dressed meat and even live stock fall into hijackers' hands in cargo lots valued from $2,500 up to $20,000, police records disclose. Some of the loot has been discovered coming up for sale at prices vastly below the market in one sizeable chain of stores, it is said, but the police have not yet been able definitely to identify the merchandise as stolen, so as to permit prosecution.

Notwithstanding the handicap of their small personnel and their equipment with two old model cars, Lieut. Kerr and Sergt. Guynn have made considerable progress, the cartage committee avers. In the two years since the detail was organized they have made 118 arrests, obtained 50 convictions and recovered $70,000 in merchandise.

A notable conviction was that of John Sovetky, so-called millionaire fence, who for ten years sold stolen property in his clothing store at 6234 South Western avenue, beating several state prosecutions, before he was finally found guilty of selling goods stolen in interstate commerce and sentenced to serve ten years in Leavenworth penitentiary.

SALOON SHOT UP IN BLUE ISLAND, NAME ALDERMAN

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

A warrant charging Ald. Andrew Myers of the Second ward of Blue Island with assault with a deadly weapon was sworn to last night by Anton Sadunas, owner of a saloon at 13301 South Western avenue, Blue Island.

Sadunas alleged that Ald. Myers, accompanied by his wife, entered the saloon early in the evening and fired six times at him and Mrs. Sadunas. The alderman's aim was bad and the couple escaped harm. Two windows were smashed by the bullets. Myers then fled, according to Sadunas, shouting that he would be back.

The Blue Island police, who failed to find Ald. Myers last night, said that the two men had been enemies for a long time. If the alderman is apprehended, he is to be arraigned this afternoon before Police Magistrate Carl J. Carlson, who issued the warrant.

PREPARE TO VOTE ON RELIEF BONDS IN SENATE TODAY

Give Arguments Against Lantz Plan.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special]—Arguments in support of the 30 million dollar relief bond issue plan and in opposition to the Lantz plan to require all counties and cities to raise their own funds by direct additional taxation were poured on the state senate tonight in preparation for a supreme test of strength tomorrow.

Proposals that Gov. Horner be asked to lead the battle in behalf of his program were dropped when it was ascertained that the idea did not appeal to him. He feels that he laid the situation squarely in the lap of the legislative branch when, in his message two weeks ago, he said the problem is "inescapably" that of the assembly.

Sexton Urges Passage.

To some extent a spokesman for the governor, William H. Sexton, corporation counsel for the city of Chicago and a member of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, told the senators that some legislation to keep the relief funds coming in is unavoidable and argued that the Lantz bills fall far short of this purpose.

"What purpose would passage of the Lantz bills serve?" asked Mr. Sexton. "They would not bring in any money. The result would be that we would have to attempt to get money through the sale of tax anticipation warrants. And they can not be sold. To speak of the anticipation of taxes in Cook county is sardonic."

He called attention once more to the fact that there will be no further federal relief for Illinois unless the state does its part. He withstood several efforts at heckling and sponsors of the bond bill idea said his talk was of material assistance.

No Final Action.

As had been foreseen because of the absence of several senators, no final action was possible on the bills this evening, but everything was made ready for the big drive tomorrow. Senator Richey V. Graham, president pro tem, expressed his confidence that the two-thirds vote for the program—thirty-four—will be on hand in the morning.

In addition to the arguments from Mr. Sexton, the senate received two declarations answering arguments against diversion of gasoline tax funds to finance the proposed bond issue. One of these came from John H. Stelle, assistant state auditor, in connection with a compilation of statistics showing the slow rate at which counties using relief funds have reduced their road building money.

Calls It Fairest Plan.

"I believe," said Stelle, "that this proposed bond issue is absolutely the fairest method of raising money for relief. Under this plan only those counties which get funds for relief are required to surrender any of their share of the gas tax.

"The entire bond issue is an obligation of the state, but each county pays only the amount paid out for its own benefit. If a county does not need funds for relief it will not have to pay anything on these bonds."

The second declaration in this field, released by the governor's office, was a resolution adopted by the Chicago Motor club, holding that the retirement of the bonds by means of the gas tax receipts will not cripple road building and contending that the Lantz plan is entirely inadequate.

Three reasons for opposition to the Lantz bills were listed as follows:

"1. They would not provide revenues in time to be effective during 1934 when they would be most needed.

"2. Any attempt to make them effective apparently will add approximately 29 per cent to tax rates in the city of Chicago, which reached unprecedented height for the tax year 1931 and which the Civic federation and bureau of public efficiency has predicted will go still higher for the years 1932 and 1933.

"3. The result of these bills, if enacted and relied upon as the sole resource for relieving emergency destitution, would be to leave the local situation practically without relief funds during 1934 and to add to the relief necessities of the future by throwing upon the relief rolls, public employés who could not receive pay because of the handicaps occasioned by this excessive addition to local property tax burdens."

Calls It Preferable.

Speaking of the extent of road building under the bond issue plan, the motor club resolutions said:

"It seems evident to us that this further diversion of gas tax revenues will not cripple road building to the extent that has been feared and will be preferable to any other plan of relief work that has been suggested, and certainly is to be preferred to taking any chance of having a situation in which there will be great suffering and distress with no funds to relieve conditions."

FIRE IN CELL WHERE PASTOR IS HELD FOR MURDER OF JANITOR

Jonesboro, Ark., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Guns blazed again tonight in the factional dispute of the Jonesboro Baptist tabernacle congregation when a hail of bullets was fired into the cell of the Rev. Dale Crowley held in the county jail here for the slaying of W. MacMurdo, the church janitor. The minister asleep on a cot in the cell was not wounded.

Lights in the cell blocks were extinguished and Sheriff Johnson started an investigation.

STATE OFFICIALS PRAISE CHICAGO TRAFFIC SURVEY

Highway Department Will Co-operate.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Director Kingery of the department of public works and State Highway Engineer Lieberman in interviews today both lauded the Massen-McClintock traffic survey as a guide for future construction of motoring facilities in Chicago.

The survey, conducted by Dr. Miller McClintock of the Harvard university traffic research bureau at the direction of the council traffic committee headed by Ald. John A. Massen, recommended a system of elevated highways for Chicago.

"The state will coöperate and collaborate with the city and with Cook county in preparing a construction program," said Mr. Kingery. "The basic principles developed by the traffic study seem to be sound and the compilation of pertinent facts can be used to chart the course of future public improvements for Chicago.

Specific Details Later.

"The administration at Springfield cannot commit itself at this time to an approval of specific routes, engineering designs, nor methods of financing, but I believe no difficulty will be encountered by the state, the city, and the county in reaching an agreement on these questions. Kendrick Harger, the state's district engineer in Chicago, has been instructed to meet with County Highway Superintendent Quinlan and Ald. Massen to take up these questions."

Mr. Lieberman gave a similar indorsement of the Massen-McClintock report with similar qualifications.

"This department," said the state engineer," will make a thorough study of the novel engineering recommended for these Chicago structures. My first impression is that the plan is sound and I am hopeful that research will corroborate this impression."

Favors Grade Separation.

The survey, described by engineers as the most thorough traffic study ever made of a metropolitan area, found that pavements with continuous grade separation offer the only means of substantial relief from the delays and hazards of urban congestion; that the cost of elevated highways is 15.5 per cent of the cost of surface widening for a similar traffic capacity, and that this cost is economically justified and can and should be financed with current revenue from the existing gasoline tax revenue.

"If the three governmental units reach a prompt agreement and start work on these elevated highways," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, "it will be a righteous revolution in the history of public road building. Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and President Whealan of the county board must receive public recognition for taking this step, because without such recognition it would be optimistic to hope for them to proceed. Minor politicians will be opposing the new deal to the motorists.

Politicians May Obstruct.

"These petty politicians will begrudge this assignment of road funds to a major improvement of general benefit. Political machines profit most by distributing the road funds over many minor projects selected for the votes they will promote among those receiving special benefits.

"Paradoxical as it may seem, the very fact that the elevated highways are of general benefit, rather than of special benefit to any politically influenced individual or group, calls for strong leadership from our officials to give the motoring public at large this new deal."

BABY ABANDONED; HOLD PAIR.

Paris, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Fred Bright and Mrs. Addie Smitley was arrested for abandoning an infant girl on a brush heap Sunday. Although wrapped only in newspapers and exposed for twenty hours without care or nourishment, the baby will survive.

CONSTITUTION OF MICHIGAN BARS U. S. EASY MONEY

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Gov. William A. Comstock told the state administrative board today that special legislation will probably be necessary at an extra session to clear the way for a federal loan to permit an extensive state institutional building program.

There is a consitutional barrier to borrowing more than $250,000 on the basis of the faith and credit of the state. Between 25 and 30 million dollars is sought for the public works program. The governor said he has received word from Patrick H. O'Brien, attorney general, who has been in Washington, that federal officials will not approve the loan without special legislation in the light of the constitutional bar.

Many suggestions have been offered, among them the deeding of the completed institutions to the federal government to eliminate the loan feature. This idea apparently does not appeal to federal authorities, however.

The governor suggested today that the legislature might be asked to enact an emergency statute giving the administrative board, a newly created state corporation, or some other body authority to pledge the state's faith and credit. He voiced opinion that the Supreme court, which would be asked to interpret constitutionality of the act, would hold the law valid under the state's emergency powers.

RIVER TRAFFIC DELAYS REPAIR OF LINK BRIDGE

Repairs to the Michigan avenue bridge will not be completed until the end of this week, Thomas Pihlfeldt, city bridge engineer, announced yesterday. Mr. Pihlfeldt had expected that the work would be completed by today, but the passage of craft in the river, mostly yachts and sailboats going to winter anchorages, caused numerous delays. The bridge was damaged on Oct. 3 when it was struck by the steamship Theodore Roosevelt. The amount of the damage has been estimated by Mr. Pihlfeldt at $7,000, for which amount he said he would recommend that the city sue the Chicago-Roosevelt Steamship company, operator of the boat.

OAK PARK IN 1860

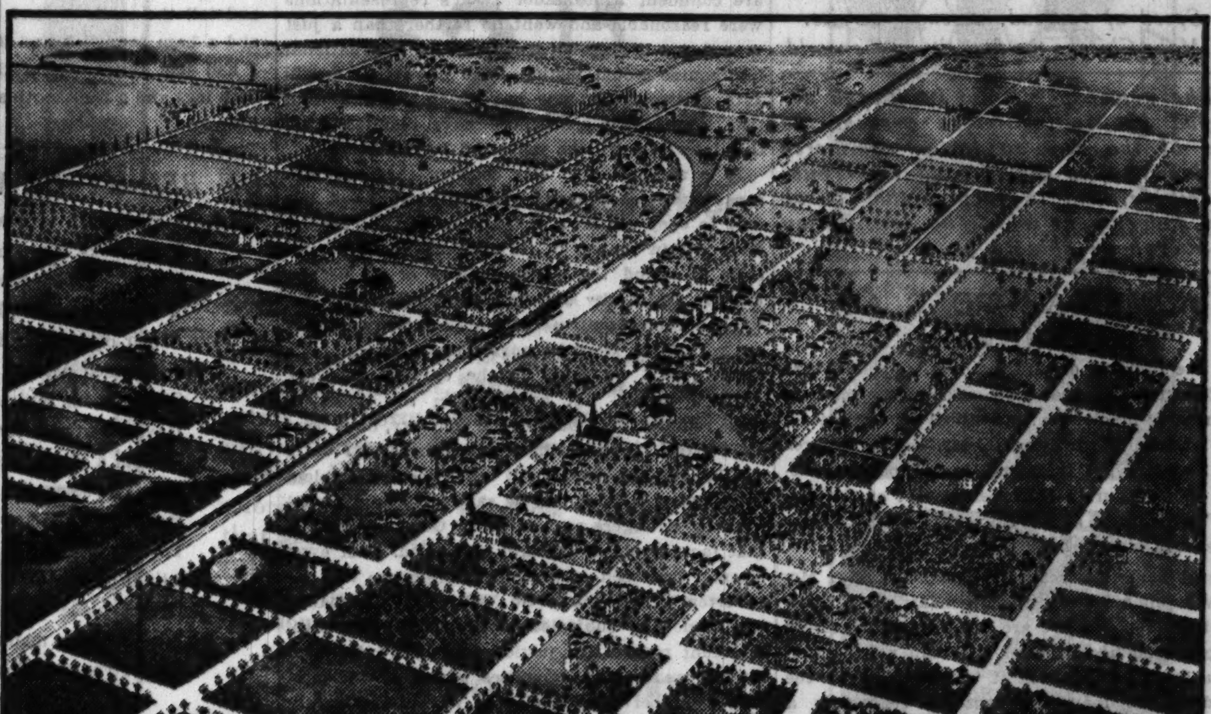
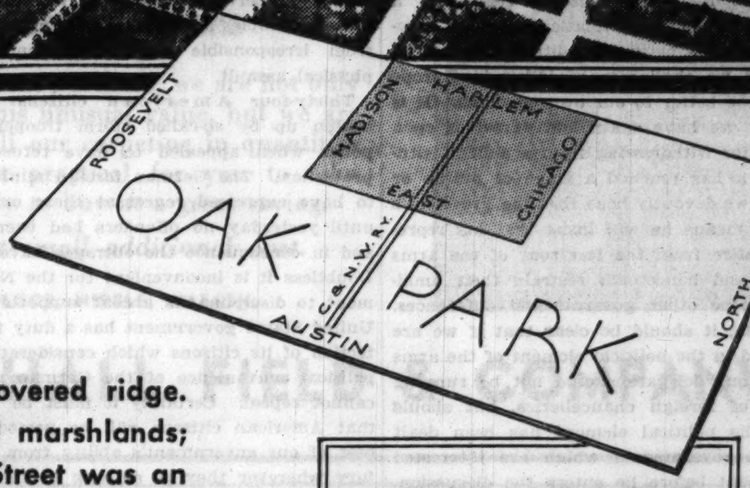
OAK PARK IN 1873

This view, from a lithograph made in 1873 by a traveling German artist, is toward the southwest. It represents that part of Oak Park shown by the shaded portion in the plat, with Forest Park and River Forest beyond. Reproduced by permission of Philander W. Barclay.



100 YEARS of Land Values in Greater Chicago

OAK PARK



1833 Nine miles west of Fort Dearborn rose an oak covered ridge. "All about were woods and prairie, swamps and marshlands; everything as it had been for thousands of years . . ." "Lake Street was an Indian trail." The ridge sloped west to "dense forests along the Des Plaines River, teeming with elk, bear, deer" and other game. In flood time, canoes passed from the Chicago River to the Des Plaines River without portage.

1835 Joseph Kettlestrings, pioneer settler of Oak Park, selected a quarter section including what are now Lake, Harlem and Marion Streets, in the business center of modern Oak Park. He described the site as "the only dry ground between Chicago and the Des Plaines." He paid Uncle Sam $1.25 an acre for it and, from the saw mill where he worked, brought native oak lumber to build his house.

1855 Whaples, second settler of Oak Park, built a log house near Kettlestrings' in 1845. "The first train (on the 'Galena & Chicago Union Railroad', now the Oak Park branch of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway) left Chicago November 20, 1848 . . . and ran from Halsted Street to the Des Plaines River." In 1855 George Scoville paid about $50 an acre for land near Kettlestrings' and built his house under a spreading oak tree. In 1856 there were six primitive houses in the village. Reflecting Chicago's second major depression, in 1857, Oak Park acreage, which had risen to $100 by the end of 1855, fell to $40 in 1861. "Some day it will go to $500," Chicago's first mayor, William B. Ogden, assured Scoville in 1864.

1871 After thirty years' ownership, Kettlestrings sold his choice central acreage, which had cost him $1.25, for $3,000 an acre. The name "Oak Park" was adopted for the village, which had grown to 500 people. The suburban boom that followed the Great Fire brought 300 additional inhabitants to Oak Park and increased the general average of values there to $1,000 an acre. From this point, by 1879, the third great recession in Chicago real estate gradually forced the average value back to $400.

1892 By 1888 there were 3,900 people in Oak Park. Between 1890 and 1895 came street improvements, electric light, gas and telephone. Land advanced in 1892 to an average of $2,400 an acre, or $10 a front foot, and held well even during the panic of 1893.

1926 By 1910 Oak Park land values stood over two and a half times those of 1892. The population in 1910 neared 20,000; in 1920, 40,000; and in 1930, 64,000. By 1915, values had gone to $8,000 an acre, or about $33 a front foot. In 1926 the average for Oak Park's 2880 acres had advanced to $167 a front foot. It receded by 1931, to an average assessed value of $100 a front foot—a figure still three times the peak of 1915 and ten times that of 1892.

After each of the five major panics of 1837, 1857, 1873, 1893 and 1929, aggregate land values in Greater Chicago have shown several years of decline. But these values have always recovered to new peaks, and thereafter have never again receded so low as in any previous major depression. Chicago real estate, conservatively valued and well purchased, has proved itself one of the safest known forms of investment.

100 YEARS of OAK PARK Real Estate Values

DATE	PER ACRE	PER FRONT FOOT
1833	$ 1.25	$ 0.005
1855	100.00	.41
1861	40.00	.17
1873	1,000.00	4.17
1879	400.00	1.70
1892	2,400.00	10.00
1910 (1)	6,250.00	26.00
1915 (1)	8,000.00	33.00
1926 (1)	40,000.00	167.00
1931 (2)	24,000.00	100.00

These figures are averages for the entire 2880 acres within Oak Park's present city limits (see plat above.) (1) Based on Olcott values. (2) Full assessed value. Other values from the study by Homer Hoyt.

Mr. Hoyt's book, "100 Years of Land Values in Chicago," will shortly be published by the University of Chicago Press under the sponsorship of the Chicago Title & Trust Company.

AMERICA'S ROLE AT GENEVA.

As the problem of disarmament, so-called, that is of armament reduction and adjustment, is inextricably involved with political considerations, when the American delegate, Mr. Davis, declares that "we are not interested in the political element or any purely European aspect of the picture," we cannot blame European foreign offices if they are stumped.

We at home are reasonably satisfied with Mr. Davis' pronouncement, though many of us think it rather late. But we are not disposed to stress that point, holding it better late than never. If it is true as reported, that it was dictated by the President, we may hope that it represents a decisive change of our diplomatic policy and practice in favor of American tradition. If that is accomplished we shall stop meddling in Europe and attend the better to our own concerns. It is obvious that we have again laid ourselves open to criticism for withdrawing from a difficult situation when it has reached a stage of put-up or shut-up and we devoutly hope that the President's intervention means he will insist that his representatives retire from the forefront of the arms controversy and henceforth restrain their ambition to compose other governments' differences.

At any rate, it should be clear that if we are not interested in the political element of the arms controversy our delegate should not be running in and out of foreign chancelleries, but should wait until the political element has been dealt with by the governments which are interested in that element before he enters the discussion.

Our diplomacy ever since the end of the war has been a succession of ineptitudes, excused on the theory that as we do not want another war we ought to intervene in every international controversy or collision in order to prevent that catastrophe. This conception we think has no ground in American common sense but has had a curious influence upon successive governments through what passes for our intelligentsia. It has put us representatively in a rôle which we have no wish to fill and which our representatives, with few if any exceptions, are not prepared to fill.

SPOILS POLITICS IN INDIANA.

The factional row which has broken out in the Democratic organization in Indiana will be watched with interest elsewhere. Indiana politics under the régime of the Anti-Saloon league and its Republican allies reached a low level and brought discredit upon a community which by reason of its composition and attainments had enjoyed the respect of its sister commonwealths. With the overthrow of this régime and the transference of responsibility to its political opponent it was hoped that the public affairs of Indiana would be raised to a level more worthy of the best in its history. But the hope grows rather pale when we read that the row is largely over the disposal of a slush fund which opponents of Gov. McNutt charge him with applying to his own political advancement without regard to the interests of the party organization. Out of this factional rumpus it is to be hoped that some good will come to the people of the state, at least to the extent of informing them of how and wherefore their public affairs are being conducted. But in this instance, as everywhere else when such disclosures are made, public benefit depends upon the civic conscience and energy of the people themselves. The history of politics in Illinois gives no excuse for condescension or self-righteousness on this side of the line, but we may be permitted a friendly hope that our neighbors will get something of profit for themselves and their government out of the falling out of politicians.

PRIVILEGED INFORMATION AND CRIME.

THE TRIBUNE cannot agree with Prof. Siebert of the University of Illinois school of journalism that reporters should be brought within the general immunity enjoyed by lawyers respecting the communications of their clients. We are not likely to be charged with indifference to the principle of free press, but we cannot think that public policy requires that newsgatherers should be free to deny to proper authorities—that is, to prosecutors and judges—the information they have respecting a crime or the sources from which it was obtained. It is true, as Prof. Siebert remarks, that "it is in the public interest that a free flow of news be maintained," and if the reporter may be compelled to divulge the sources of confidential communication, as he now may be, except in Maryland and New Jersey, where statutes protect him, his resources are to that extent restricted. It is true likewise, as Prof. Siebert says, that in almost every instance in which newspaper men have been charged with contempt it was because they have unearthed irregularities in official circles which the community had a right to know. Notwithstanding, we think public policy on the whole does not call for the general immunity proposed, but would be better served in the long run by leaving each case to the discretion of the court.

The analogy with the clergyman's or the doctor's immunity does not impress us. It is not recognized in the general rule of law, but only by statute in some states, and we do not think public policy justifies it where it is granted by statute. We do not agree that the doctor or the spiritual adviser is justified in withholding information from the authorities respecting the commission of a crime, or that the law should protect him or a newspaper man in doing so. That clergymen and doctors have been given a privilege in contravention of public policy is no argument for extending this evil. The free flow of news is desirable, but it should flow into the places of law enforcement when it can be used, and we doubt that the present rule which permits a court in its discretion to command the disclosure of information needed in the prosecution of crime checks that flow seriously and on the whole injuriously to the administration of justice.

ASSAULTS UPON AMERICANS.

The American ambassador at Berlin finally was received last week by the German minister of foreign affairs and enabled to express the sentiments of the American government and people at the treatment received by some thirty-four American citizens from Nazi storm troopers. We are confident Ambassador Dodd's representations were reasonable and went no farther than a just regard for the decent amenities of international intercourse would justify. The news that assailants of two Americans have been punished and that satisfactory assurances have resulted from this interview will be welcomed in America.

It is recognized in this country that our citizens in Germany may properly be required not only to obey the laws of that country but to conform within reason to its customs and not willfully to offend the susceptibilities of its people. But the attacks by uniformed and supposedly disciplined representatives of the Nazi party now in control of the German government have, in our opinion, and we think in the opinion of every civilized people, not been within the limits of these requirements, but, on the contrary, have been an outrage upon civilized intercourse. If it is the law of the land that the Swastika emblem or a Nazi parade should be saluted in any special form by strangers as well as by German citizens, that fact should be officially published. But even when it has been so published foreigners who inadvertently or otherwise omit this formality should not be subjected to impromptu violence. A decent respect for justice, for legal order, and for the reasonable amenities which should prevail, even between peoples at war and certainly between peoples at peace, should protect strangers from irresponsible insult and especially from physical assault.

Thirty-four American citizens have been beaten up by so-called storm troopers and the police when appealed to have refused to give protection. The German foreign minister is said to have expressed regret at these outrages, but until yesterday no offenders had been punished, and in consequence the outrages have continued. Doubtless it is inconvenient for the Nazi government to discipline its ardent supporters, but the United States government has a duty for the protection of its citizens which consideration for the political convenience of the German government cannot repeal. Certainly it must be made clear that American citizens will be protected to the best of our government's ability from lawless injury wherever they go so long as they obey the laws of the country to which they have been admitted.

PROTECTION FOR AMERICAN RYE.

The situation in which producers and owners of rye find themselves must puzzle them and any one who credits the authorities at Washington with an acute concern for the protection and betterment of agriculture. Inquiry discloses that rye has been pouring into the country from foreign sources over the modest tariff barrier of our 15 cents per bushel. The rye crop was moderate, and, with the possibilities of new or renewed consumption through the removal of prohibition, the disposal of the crop at a substantial return to American producers would be assured if it were not for the competition of low cost producers abroad. The Democratic pledge was, we believe, to make the tariff effective for the relief of the agricultural producer, and here is a clear opportunity to do so by protecting him from unfair foreign competition and assuring him the reward for his labor which is supposed to be the special concern of the present administration. Yet in spite of strong appeals at Washington the tide of foreign rye pours in.

We do not know whether to credit the suggestion that eastern interests such as the reviving distillers are more influential than the western producers, but the fact remains that rye is far below the level a defensive raising of the rye schedule would enable it to reach and that the President was endowed by the tariff act of 1930 with full power to raise it by executive order if and when he thinks it advisable to do so.

BICYCLES AND TRAFFIC.

[Rockford Register-Republic.]

Return of the bicycle to popularity in this country has presented a serious traffic problem and has imposed new responsibilities upon riders and automobile drivers alike.

Back in the gay nineties, when "wheels" enjoyed their greatest vogue, motor cars had not come into general use and cyclists had only horse drawn traffic with which to contend.

Intervening years, however, have seen some 24,000,000 motor vehicles—automobiles, trucks, and motorcycles—come into use, and the pace of traffic has been speeded up enormously. For this reason conditions as they were in 1893 and as they are in 1933 are vastly different.

It is estimated that more than 3,000,000 bicycles are now in use in the United States. Old and young alike are riding them and deriving healthful exercise and pleasure thereby. But, warns the American Automobile association, the experience of various foreign countries may be duplicated here unless great care is exercised both by cyclists and motorists. In England, for example, 444 riders were killed and 19,071 injured in 1932. Three out of four were adults.

Until regulations governing use of bicycles are formulated the voluntary coöperation of riders is necessary to avert accidents. Traffic and stop lights and signs should be observed. Riders should keep to the extreme right of the street at all times. Bicycles should not be parked at cross walks or in spaces reserved for emergencies, as, for instance, near fire hydrants. Cyclists should not ride abreast, and, whether on city streets or rural roads, should pull to the side upon the approach of fire apparatus or an ambulance. Obedience to these few simple rules will preserve the place of the bicycle as an instrument for healthful pleasure.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS that during her stay in Chicago this week's end she will stop at a hotel instead of accepting one of numerous invitations to be entertained at palatial homes. (When a great personage visits anybody's house that is always a palatial home in newspaper language.) Mrs. Roosevelt says she likes to run in and out at any time she feels like it and that she has many visitors who do the same thing. The first lady is right. I remember when Elbert Hubbard was asked his price for a lecture he said it was $150 if he stopped at a hotel and paid his own bill, but $200 if entertained. I always felt that way, but never had the nerve to do it. When I was entertained I always had to give another lecture at my entertainer's home after the big show was over and then answer questions from the guests until I was black in the face. After which I went into the nursery and changed my discourse into a bedtime talk for Junior and the twins. After which the host would come in and say some of the boys were sticking around and wanted to hear the real lowdown (and as he said this papa would grin and wink one eye) on what I had lectured about. It was about two or three o'clock before I had a chance to get to bed, with a five-thirty train to catch in the morning. Now, at the hotel it was different. I could go right there after the lecture and tell the clerk to send me up a bottle of beer and a ham sandwich and if anybody called to say I had just fallen out of the window and broken both legs and a back tooth and couldn't receive any visitors.

ON BEHALF OF WHISKERS.

They make him look complete.
For ogrelike effectiveness
A beard is hard to beat.
A pair of dainty sideburns,
A dignified goatee,
Or villainous mustachios
Have no appeal for me!
To kiss a cheek well powdered
May give some girls elation . . .
But . . . there are those who may dislike
To use imagination.
I think that Mother Nature
Is in a place to know
What makes a man more mannish . . .
Do let your whiskers grow!

"WAR IS HELL!" as General Sherman so well said, but it seems that it's more heller in Mexico than anywhere else. Mexico City has just reported that in the Mexican army there is a lieutenant to every two privates. Think of that, you doughboys who used to writhe in agony every time the lieutenant looked at you. Which brings to mind the story of the colored soldiers who stood in a crowd after the late guerre in France and were being interviewed by some nosey reporter on what they intended to do when they were demobilized. "What am Ah a gwine ter do when Ah gits out o' this man's army?" replied one of the soldiers. "Youall wantta know the very fust thing Ah'm a gwine ter do when Ah'm deemoberlized? ADD HORRORS OF WAR! Now comes the report that Siam's navy has joined with the rebels and that the revolution in that far off country has assumed a more formidable aspect. When the news that the navy of Siam had revolted was first reported Storm E. Petrel, the Line's special correspondent in Siam, said it was all a mistake. He had been over to interview the Siamese navy and found he had gone fishing. But it seems that later the navy got intoxicated and licked the policeman that was trying to take him to the hoosegow. Then he got hold of a shotgun and, rushing down to the shore, climbed back aboard the Siamese battleship and rowed it out to sea. The government plans to defeat the navy by charging him twenty-five cents an hour for the use of the battleship, but this only further complicates affairs as the navy hasn't got twenty-five cents.

THE EYE IN ART.

THE orbit is a triangular cave, narrow behind and wide in front, and with walls of bone. It holds the eyeball, some fat, a few muscles, and some blood vessels and nerves, the eyeball occupying more space than all others combined.

In studying the pictures at the Art institute one is struck by the difference in the facial expression due to variations in the size of the orbit and in the contents thereof.

The most striking feature of the upper part of Abraham Lincoln's face is the expression of his eyes. His eyeball did not fill the orbit well. Lincoln had no fat on any part of his face. All over his face the bony promontories stood out because the bays near by were not filled with fat, as is generally the case. Part of the Lincoln eye expression is because there was but little fat in this orbit, and part because of the fact that his eyeballs were too small for the socket. This gave his eye region a caved-in appearance and resulted in a droop of the upper eyelid which some interpreted as due to relaxation mixed with apathy.

Most of the paintings in the collection done prior to the year 1600 portray popeyed persons. Their eye expression is exactly the opposite of that shown in pictures of Lincoln. In these pictures the eyeball appears too large for the socket. It projects well beyond the face line and the lids are rather stretched over the rounded surface.

Most of the pictures of this period found in this collection are religious in character, depicting incidents having to do with the martyrdom of Christ or the tribulations of the early Christians. The women give evidence of much weeping. Weeping makes the eyes "swell" by reason of congestion of the blood vessels of the orbit and a little local temporary dropsy. Another cause for this appearance, so nearly general in the faces of the women in these pictures, is excess of fat. Most of them have well rounded faces and doubtless they have plenty of fat in their orbits.

A third reason must have been exophthalmic goiter. Either this disease was very general in western Europe some five hundred years ago or else artists preferred ladies with goiters as models.

In some of these pictures the opening of the eyelids is wide and much white is shown. This is especially true of Rubens' pictures. In others the artists show the lids pretty well closed, making it uncertain in these figures in which the neck is covered to determine whether the popeyes are due to goiter or are the result of weeping.

1. I have been told that it is possible to contract hydrophobia by coming in contact with a mad dog even though one is not bitten. Is this true?

2. I do house to house selling and every day come in contact with a large number of dogs who think it is their duty to smell me and my samples. Of course, if I were bitten at any time I would know it and could take treatment, but I wonder if there is any danger of contracting the disease from some dog which has it in the early stages, with whom I might come in contact. What is your opinion?

REPLY.

1. No.

2. You are in no danger. None of the conditions of infection are present as you describe things. These are: A bite which breaks through the skin, the bite by a dog having rabies.

Rabies in a dog can be diagnosed by a veterinarian. The diagnosis can be confirmed by laboratory examinations.

1. Among the foods richest in phosphorus and phosphates are cocoa, chocolate, almonds and other nuts, those breads and cereals containing much bran, brown rice, cheese, milk and preparations of milk, peas, and beans. Foods rich in lime are chard, spinach, cauliflower and other greens, brown breads and all breads and cereals that are rich in bran, cheese, milk and preparations of milk, almonds and other nuts, cantaloupe, olives. The vitamin D sources are viosterol and cod liver oil.

2. Among the causes are not enough phosphates in the diet, deficiency in vitamin D, and an improper amount of fluorine.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A loans his automobile to B, who has it for several months. C comes along and tells B that as the latter had done many favors for him he would repay in part by working on the muffler of the machine, providing B would pay for the parts. Without consulting A, B gave C money for parts and authority to take the machine with the explicit understanding the work was to be done by C and without any further cost to A or B. C pockets the money and takes the car to a repair shop. After waiting three weeks C states he has a friend working on the car. B reminds him not to incur any expenses, but C runs up a storage bill in addition to repair bill. This happened 18 months ago and A and B were not able to learn of the location of the repair shop until recently. 1. Can A recover the car through suit of replevin? 2. If so, is the cost of suit $25? 3. Please give me your legal opinion of this.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

[Inquiries on problems of farm management, financing or governmental regulations sent to this department must be accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope for reply.]

Mrs. A. C. J. asks: We have 400 acres with two sets of buildings divided into three farms, some of the finest land in southern Wisconsin. This property has just been foreclosed at a sheriff's sale at the request of the Federal Land bank of St. Paul, Minn. Is it not possible to secure a loan somewhere enabling us to make the payment and get the property back again? This county is Republican, and some of the prominent officials here say they have tried to get government loans, but to no avail. Should it not be possible to get a loan regardless of the politics of the county?

Answer: Without having all of the facts leading up to the foreclosure sale we are unable to advise except that the federal government is not supposed to show partiality in granting farm loans. The foreclosure by the Federal Land bank of St. Paul is particularly unusual in the light of an announcement by Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the Farm Credit administration, who on Oct. 2 at Washington, D. C., issued a statement that any farmer in danger of foreclosure or eviction might telegraph him direct and the case would be taken up with the creditor in an effort to refinance the farmer's debt. Mr. Morgenthau, who is in charge of federal land banks, declared the purpose of the farm administration was to prevent foreclosures and evictions if possible.

P. B. asks: I would like to know if the government has land in the states of Washington and Ihado that it is giving to people on homeseeking rates. If there is any I would like to get some, as I intend to go on a farm. I have been out of work for three years, but was a farmer for 18 years.

Answer: Write to the government homestead office, care of the United States department of interior, Washington, D. C., for information pertaining to land for homesteading.

R. V. A. asks: Can an individual who does not now own a farm borrow from the federal land commissioner's fund?

Answer: No, except to redeem a foreclosed farm. This fund is to be used for refinancing farm indebtedness, to provide working capital for farm operations, and to aid farmers to regain possession of farms which they have lost through foreclosure since July 1, 1931. The federal land banks and other farm mortgage lending institutions, as well as individuals, afford sources of credit to aid in the purchase of farms. However, they will require that the borrower have an equity in the farm.

THE PENNSYLVANIA DUTCH.

Mount Morris, Ill., Oct. 12.—Your editorial of today, "Alien Influences in American Affairs," is timely, but the irony in the Berlin celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Germantown is deeper than that which Carl Schurz might think of it in that the settlers of Germantown were Mennonites and Quakers, principally the former, and the entire history of the city's settlement and early development is built around the pious people who left Germany at the invitation of William Penn to secure here the religious rights which were denied them in their native land. Certainly none of the descendants of these early settlers retain any other allegiance than that to the land of their adoption. The Pennsylvania German society, under the presidency and support of Ralph Beaver Strassburger, editor of the Norristown, Pa., Times-Herald, has done much to retain the historical aspects of German emigration to American of the earlier years, and the purpose of this society is purely historical, social, and genealogical. If Carl Schurz established a foundation for the perpetuation of the founding of Germantown as the first German settlement in America, it would have had no attraction for the religious groups who founded the city and whose descendants spread over eastern Pennsylvania, and have become familiarly known as Pennsylvania "Dutch."

Men like former Governors Pennypacker and Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania traced their ancestry to early settlers of Germantown and were interested in perpetuating the history of the pious and self-sacrificing lives of the men who left their native land to seek here in America the free expression of their ideals. Certainly the Nazi government would have been the last one in the world to receive any recognition from the founders of Germantown.

It was at Germantown that William Rittenhouse, a pious Mennonite, established the first paper mill in America, in partnership with William Bradford, the colonial printer, and others, in 1690. Rittenhouse came from a family of paper makers in Germany and was the practical man of the group. He was the first to serve the Mennonite church in Germantown, making paper by day and serving the church on Sundays in accordance with the custom of the church in not maintaining a salaried ministry.

Christopher Sower, the first German printer in America, set up at Germantown and is entitled to rank as high as Franklin in this line. His German Bible was the first to appear in America and several editions have become quite valuable. He was a Dunker and his church did not believe in war. Washington's soldiers invaded his printing office on one occasion and took the sheets of an edition of his Bible from the drying racks and bedded down their horses with them, dragging Sower, then an old man, barefoot and partially clothed, to Valley Forge, where Washington released him.

These are the kind of men who founded Germantown.

EXPERIENCE WITH COUNTERFEIT BILL.

East Chicago, Ind., Oct. 14.—On Sept. 19 I attended the Fair alone and went in at the 35th street entrance. When I presented a $5 bill at the window the cashier gave me 50 cents in change, no ticket, and then said she would have to get some change. When she returned to the window she said I would have to come around to the office, as the bill was counterfeit. As soon as I entered the office she demanded the fifty cents she had given me, which I did. One of the girls said she would have to call a man from the Continental bank downtown, but a man working there said he was called from the Administration building. After waiting for fifty minutes a man by the name of Mr. West came down and he and the cashier went outside and then later called me. I was asked my name and address and also where I had obtained the bill. They did not show me that the bill was counterfeit until I had demanded it several times. Also I was not asked whether I had any more counterfeit bills with me. The whole matter was not handled with any courtesy. They refused to let me call any one on the phone, and each one there asked me if I was alone.

I reported this to the department of justice the following day, and I was informed that the Fair officials had not coöperated with their office and had refused to call them when there was any question about any counterfeit money, which they were told to do.

I am merely writing this for the benefit of the public who might have the same experience and will know how it should be handled and demand that the department of justice be called.

NORMAL COLLEGE WAITING LIST.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—The graduates of the Chicago Normal college of the June, 1929, class, understand there are over three hundred vacancies in the elementary schools. Why aren't the assignments being made for these vacancies?

The class of June, 1929, was posted for assignment the latter part of June, 1933. About a dozen of the girls were assigned and now the assigning has been stopped. Is it fair to the rest of the members of the same class to be divided in such manner? Why not continue with the assignments? The remainder of the class are also ready. They have had the misfortune of being in the first June class of the extended three year course. They have waited for a position for over four years. They have done their part. How much longer will they have to wait?

TEACH STUDENTS TO READ, PLEA OF LIBRARIANS

Find an Explanation for Many Failures.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Can you read?

Much of the trouble of the student as well as the adult world is traced by educators and librarians to an inability to read properly, thus obstructing the way toward those sunny plateaus of literature where great ideas and adventure await.

If the lips move when one is reading it shows that the reader is reading aloud to himself, in infantile fashion, a bad sign of comprehension. Scientific experiments undertaken with eye movements when reading show that a great deal of it is too slow, indicating mechanical difficulties.

Explains Failures in School.

It is this, the librarians were told at their annual conference at the Stevens hotel yesterday, that explains failures in high school and college, in all subjects, and it is this that makes people neglect the greatest gift that the democratic community offers, the free shelves of the public library. Experiments at the University of Chicago and at the University of Buffalo have shown that the so-called poor students are those who take too long in their reading.

Reëducation in reading, both in upper and lower levels of education, is necessary for many students now unable to read properly, the librarians were told. Another way to correct this trouble is to make the process of education more interesting by supplementing classroom with library work. A lesson in geography of South America, for instance, would include a book of adventure in the Andes.

"I believe a better college education could be secured more economically in time and money if the library were the only educational building and all classes became reading periods, supplemented by student group discussions, by frequent and regular examinations, and by written and oral exercises," said Louis S. Shores, director of the library of Peabody colege.

Mediocrity in Classroom.

"The superior student has always suffered from the bore of classroom attendance, and the inferior student has frequently found himself unable to follow the professor's thoughts. It is the classroom as much as any other factor which has tended to level mediocrity achievement for all.

"Today there is no excuse for listening to a lecturer deliver digested excerpts from printed material available for the student in every library. The very nature of the lecture defeats the educational process. One learns most easily by doing. Psychological experiment has established that information comes more readily through the visual than through the auditory senses.

"Ultimately college education is book education, and all other agencies must be made corollary for reading. The library college would place the reading room in the center, with lecture, recitation, and laboratory rooms around it. The student's rate of learning would be limited only by his own ability and the process of digging information out of books would result in an active learning by doing method."

The government of the city of Chicago is one of the greatest publishers in the community, Frederick Rex, municipal librarian, reported to the convention of the Special Libraries association. The latest list of municipal reports and documents sent out by the municipal reference library consists of forty-two reports and thirteen documents ready for distribution.

Mr. Rex urged the importance of a planned and intelligent distribution of public documents to libraries. Under present methods of distribution, he said, it is estimated that 65 per cent of all public reports find their way to the scrap heap after a short time. On the other hand, libraries and other organizations really interested are often unable to obtain a copy.

Plans for adult education relief work were outlined at the council meeting of the American Library association. Federal funds are expected to be available for this work when proper qualifications are given by the states. The work includes field contact with unemployed persons for the development of library service to them, organization of community adult education, surveys of educational opportunities for the unemployed, organization of discussion and study groups for the unemployed.

A correspondence school managed by a public library for the idle young people in rural districts was described by Miss Harriet C. Long of the Oregon state library. Rural readers, it was stated, want to learn all they can about the agricultural adjustment administration and the social science aspects of the new deal.

BUSTER KEATON OF FILMS WILL REWED HIS FORMER NURSE

Ventura, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Buster Keaton, screen comedian, today filed notice of intention to marry Mrs. Mae Scrivens Hawley, his former nurse.

Slipping into the courthouse he asked the deputy clerks not to reveal his presence, but was recognized by a newspaperman. He gave his age as 38 and that of Mrs. Hawley as 28.

Under the California law the marriage cannot take place before Saturday. Jan. 8 the couple was married at Ensenada, Mexico. But that was nine months before his divorce from Natalie Talmadge became final, so the two returned to California to live a "companionate life" until their marriage was legal here.

HEAD OF ESTONIA AND HIS ENTIRE CABINET RESIGN

TALLINN, Estonia, Oct. 17.—Once the hero of the Estonian nation, President Jaan Tonisson tonight tendered the resignation of his cabinet to parliament. The action came as a result of the three day plebiscite which legalized an amendment to the constitution providing for the direct election of a president and reducing the members of parliament from 100 to 50.

The parliament adjourned after accepting the president's resignation. Leaders of the seven political parties met to discuss the election of a new president and cabinet to govern until the republic elects a president next April. Alarmed at the temper of the public, the politicians propose to include a number of military leaders in the new cabinet so that it would have the confidence of the army, the home guard, and the voters.

Both Tonisson's party and the Socialists contend that the country is moving toward a dictatorship, but leaders of other parties do not believe a dictatorship will develop.

A special school board committee decided yesterday to negotiate for new leases on all parcels of school property in the loop. Four of the lessees of this property have not paid rent since last February and their rentals are in arrears more than $100,000.

Trustee Andrew O. Jackson, chairman of the committee, said after the conference that an adjustment of the leaseholds would result in the payment of $341,502 to the board on the basis of a report compiled by Howard P. Savage, business manager of the school system. Representatives of the lessees will be invited to meet with the school trustees to discuss the situation on Friday afternoon.

Seeks Money for Teachers.

"We hope to reach an early agreement," said Trustee Jackson. "Whatever money we obtain can be used immediately for school teachers' salaries."

The school board leases have been in controversy since 1925. The leases have provisions for ten year revaluations, and the appraisals made in 1925 were held invalid by the Illinois Supreme court a year ago. The lessees then began paying the lower rentals based on the 1915 appraisals. The four lessees who have not paid their rent since February have been acting on the advice of their attorney, Samuel A. Ettelson, who contends that enough rent has been paid during the last seven years for the entire ten year period.

It was said that in one stage of the negotiations the school trustees were ready to tell the lessees to pay their back rent "or get out."

Trustee Jackson said that the committee was definitely opposed to entering into leases with revaluation clauses because of running the risk of a lawsuit every ten years, or leases for a long duration of time. The school properties in default on rent are located as follows: 16 South State street, 20-22 South State street, 32-34 South State street, and 31-41 South Dearborn street.

Confer This Week on U. S. Loan.

Officials of the school board were also busy on plans for the meeting this week with the state advisory board on public works in connection with the application for a loan of $14,000,000 from the federal government for the completion of school buildings in Chicago. Joshua D'Esposito, chief engineer for the advisory group, has announced the meeting, but the date has not yet been set.

Trustee Charles W. Fry has requested the school architect, John C. Christensen, to scan the plans for the new school buildings with the end in view of eliminating as far as possible expensive items, such as clubrooms. Mr. Fry pointed out that if the plans could be changed more classroom space might be provided.

Asset Appraisal Started by Receiver O'Connell.

Appraisal of the assets of five or six closed banks of Chicago and vicinity was begun yesterday under direction of William L. O'Connell, general Illinois state bank receiver, with a view to testing the operations of the new Reconstruction Finance corporation program of providing up to one billion dollars for the speedy liquidation of all closed banks in the United States.

In the category of state banks qualified for immediate loans there are five in Chicago and three in Cook county, State Auditor Barrett's office explained. These banks, and their deposit liabilities as of closing date, are as follows Cosmopolitan State bank, $1,696,000; Belmont Sheffield Trust and Savings bank, $248,000; Madison-Kedzie Trust and Savings bank, $1,946,000; East Side Trust and Savings bank, $272,000; Halsted Street State bank, $1,073,000; State Bank of Blue Island, $317,000; State Bank of Palatine, $174,000, and Berwyn Trust and Savings bank, $152,000.

O'Connell Is Optimistic.

Mr. O'Connell, who spent several days in Washington conferring with RFC officials before announcement of the billion dollar liquidation plan, returned here with an optimistic interpretation of how the program will affect Illinois. Various interpretations of the plan had previously been issued from official Washington sources.

For example, in the initial announcement of the plan on Sunday, President Roosevelt was quoted as saying that RFC loans would be extended "to banks closed after Jan. 1, 1933, up to 50 per cent of their deposit liabilities." From the president's statement, the inference drawn here was that Illinois banks closed before Jan. 1 would be excluded from the plan, thus leaving only 88 out of 532 Illinois state banks qualified for loans.

On the following day, Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC elaborated the announcement with a statement that, although banks closed since last Jan. 1 would be sole beneficiaries of the new loan policy for the time being, the plan might be extended to include other closed banks after next Jan. 1.

A Broader Loan Policy.

Mr. O'Connell said his understanding of the new RFC program was the same as that of Chairman Jones. As O'Connelll envisions it, the RFC, which has been lending funds both to open and closed banks all along, but under somewhat stringent rules, is now relaxing its policies so as to lend cash on such collateral as real estate mortgages and construction bonds, heretofore classified as frozen assets, with little or no loan value.

Enunciation of the more liberal policy clears up a point which has heretofore perplexed Chicago banking officials as to how the plan could be made to work.

The perplexity arose from the fact that practically every Illinois bank closing since June 1, 1932, had pledged up to the last iota of its acceptable assets for RFC loans before shutting its doors. With all such assets already pledged, Illinois banks were at a loss to discern where such institutions would find assets for further loans, until Mr. Jones made his statement of the broader loaning policy.

Illinois' Share Problematical.

Mr. O'Connell said it would be impossible, in his judgment, to estimate at this time just what portion of the billion dollars will become available to Illinois banks. Based on President Roosevelt's statement as to the operation of the new lending policy, Chicago banking officials had estimated that no more than $10,000,000, or 1 per cent of the total lending fund, would flow into Illinois' closed banks.

The President had declared that loans would be made up to a maximum of 50 per cent of the total deposits of a given bank, from which local liquidating officials, aware of the depleted condition of the closed banks, estimated the loan average would run around 30 per cent. The 88 closed banks that will receive the first aid had total deposits of $30,000,000 at the time of closing, while the 444 banks closed before last Jan. 1 had deposits of $234,000,000.

GETS U. S. POST AT DENVER.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—H. J. Anslinger, commissioner of the federal bureau of narcotics, announced today that John A. Manning, supervisor of the Detroit bureau, will be transferred to Denver, Colo., within the next thirty days.

A DOLLAR INVESTED IN RELIEF GARDEN YIELDS $6.43 CROP

J. C. Readey, director of subsistence gardens for the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, reported yesterday that each dollar spent on gardens, which unemployed were encouraged to plant in downstate counties last summer, yielded $6.43 in produce. He itemized the produce of the gardens, which cost the commission $194,368, as follows:

1,250,000 cans of canned goods..	$ 125,000
40,000 bushels of potatoes	80,000
200 tons of onions	7,000
4,500 pounds of lima beans	2,700
Total	$1,240,580

"The estimate of returns is conservative," Mr. Readey asserted. "The value of stored beets, carrots, and navy beans is not included. The estimated average of $10 from each garden for fresh produce is one-fourth the estimated value of such a garden during a normal year. The reduced figure is used to make allowance for spring floods and summer drought in some counties."

MOTORCYCLE COP GIVES JOLIET A REAL THRILL

Bernard McGann, 220 pound motorcycle policeman of Joliet, was standing beside his motorcycle yesterday when he saw two of his fellow policemen outdistanced in a foot race with Harvey Heller, 27 years old, wanted in Canton, Ill., as a robbery suspect.

Realizing that he is no man for a foot race, McGann mounted his vehicle and took up the chase. Heller, still leading the chase, dodged into Chicago street, a main Joliet thoroughfare, and dodged into a five and ten cent store.

McGann did not hesitate. He leaped his motorcycle over the curb and tooled it through the door of the store. Heller, looking over his shoulder as he passed the soap department, saw the motorcycle coming down the aisle. Realizing the futility of further efforts he surrendered between the tinware and dish departments.

His wife, Florence, and brother, Clarence, who had accompanied him to Joliet, were found in a Western Union office and all three were held in the county jail for the coming of Canton authorities.

Flying Forecast

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 11 p. m., Oct. 17, to noon, Oct. 18:

Chicago-Kansas City—Much clear sky, but possibly some local cloudiness at times; some risk of light local rains over extreme north portion at beginning of period; strong west to northwest winds and gales at moderate to high levels.

FORESTRY CORPS WILL LANDSCAPE ALONG HIGHWAYS

Two Chicagoland Roads to Be Improved.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Four hundred members of the Civilian Conservation corps have been assigned to landscape two Chicagoland highways this winter. One group will be encamped at St. Charles, Ill., and will work on North avenue from the Fox river to the Des Plaines river. A second group will be encamped south of Elmhurst, Ill., and work on Illinois 54, a new north and south route extending from Roosevelt road south through Hinsdale to the Joliet road.

Trees and shrubs are to be purchased from $200,000 set aside for highway beautification from the $17,750,000 of federal "easy money" allotted to Illinois for road construction. This $200,000 will also pay for approximately 60,000 additional trees and shrubs to be planted on 200 miles of other Illinois roads this winter with labor furnished by local relief agencies.

Work Starts Dec. 1.

The work in North avenue and Illinois 54 to start Dec. 1 will be supervised by the national park service. The plans are being drawn by H. G. Marshall, who occupies the new office of landscape architect for the state highway department. He is also designing the planting of federally purchased trees by relief agency labor.

"We hoped to get more labor from the Civilian Conservation corps," said Robert Kingery, director of the state department of public works, "but Washington ruled that this work would be limited to rights of way of at least 800 foot widths. There are few Illinois roads with more than 100 feet right of way; most of them are but sixty feet.

"North avenue and Illinois 54 have the necessary rights of way and we hope the landscaping will be such as to form a model for future road beautification. Fully grown trees will be planted so as to make an immediate good showing. The design will be naturalistic, avoiding formal rows of trees. The indigenous varieties—elm, ash, pin oak, hackberry and hard maples—will be used."

Program of Beautification.

Mr. Kingery, whose schooling contemplated a career as a landscape architect, explained that this beautification consists of more than merely the planting of trees and shrubs.

"Cuts on hills," he said, "will be graded so that the banks will support shrubbery. On the old roads the shoulders and steep banked ditches will be graded so that the weed cutters can get back to the fence lines. This not only improves appearances, but it also makes the roads safer for any one crowded from the pavement.

"We started this beautification of the highways last spring. Six thousand trees were planted. Maintenance crews were instructed to protect foliage. Local civic groups and relief agencies furnished labor and we spent a little money from the highway maintenance fund.

"This winter we hope to make impressive progress in caring for the roads as they should be cared for as the public's most popular recreational facility as well as a transportation utility."

Aviation Notes

Direct air lines service between Chicago and Washington, D. C., via Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Charleston, W. Va., has been inaugurated by American Airways. The eastbound plane leaves Chicago at 8:30 a. m., arriving at Washington at 4:10 p. m. The westbound plane leaves Washington at 12:30 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 6:54 p. m.

In September there were 17,242 passengers carried by United Air Lines, a 70 per cent increase over the volume of passenger traffic in the same month a year ago, when 10,855 persons traveled on the air line. United Air Lines also carried 295,000 pounds of air mail and substantial cargoes of air express last month. Ninety-six per cent of all mileage scheduled was flown.

GETS TWO LIFE TERMS.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Staging robberies with firearms proved costly today to Ollen Kitching, former convict. Arraigned in Circuit court, Kitching pleaded guilty to the holdup charges and was given a life sentence on each of the two charges.

TURNS 32 MORE PROPERTIES OVER TO TAX RECEIVER

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $432,066, making a total of $78,760,128 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

Oct. 17	$ 18,539	$ 88,414
Uncollected	17,017,766	45,263,121
	1930.	1931.
Oct. 17	$ 88,817	$ 236,296

Thirty-two income bearing properties were ordered into tax receiverships yesterday by County Judge Jarecki. The judge appointed County Treasurer McDonough receiver under the Kerner-Skarda act to collect back taxes totaling $123,000. The treasurer filed 25 more tax receivership petitions against properties owing $42,972.

Judge Jarecki said that he expected several hotels to make large payments on their delinquent taxes during the week. These hotels have been threatened with receiverships unless they comply with their promises made last summer to pay their taxes after their revenues were increased by the World's Fair. The Stevens hotel and Hotel La Salle are expected to make a substantial payment on their tax bill of approximately $1,000,000.

CRITICALLY INJURED IN AUTO.

Moline, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Dr. W. J. Biermann of Wichita, Kas., was critically injured and his father-in-law, Albert Stoelz of Ellinwood, Kas., also hurt when their automobile overturned twenty miles east of here today.

PUBLIC CHOOSES LIQUOR POORLY, DOCTOR ASSERTS

Cleveland, O., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The taste of the average American tongue discriminates very little between "good" and "bad" liquor, Dr. Cyrus C. Sturgis, professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan, said in effect today.

"I hold no brief for prohibition one way or another, but people have not been scientific when they talked about the pros and cons of prohibition.

"Even in pre-prohibition days the people drank some pretty bad liquor, and we may expect a lot more bad liquor when it becomes legalized again."

PIPES and COAL STOKERS have this much in common: To get the best results from either, you have to burn the right fuel.

The automatic coal stoker represents a decidedly progressive step in efficient, economical heating. But, being a machine, it must be run "according to directions". Every stoker presents an individual problem to the coal man. Size of plant, drafts, load carried . . . all must be considered in determining the size and grade of fuel which will operate most economically and efficiently.

Consumers Company is a pioneer in the servicing of stokers. It has spent much time and money in developing the most efficient coal for every type. It employes a staff of recognized stoker experts. It distributes . . . exclusively in many cases . . . the highest grade and most efficient stoker coals in every price range and for every installation.

Consumers stoker service is not equalled in this city. Hundreds will tell you that it has helped them save money or increased the efficiency of their plants. This service is yours without cost or obligation. A 'phone call will bring a Consumers engineer to inspect your stoker and make worthwhile recommendations.

REPORTS 10,000 HORSES DEAD OF SLEEP SICKNESS

They Transmit Disease to Man, Scientist Says.

Three important facts concerning the present outbreak of sleeping sickness in the United States were stressed yesterday by Dr. Karl F. Meyer, professor of bacteriology at the University of California, in a speech before the fourteenth annual Illinois Veterinary conference. The gathering was held at the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois.

First, Dr. Meyer said, the disease is apparently transmissible from horses to man. Second, an epidemic of the disease among the equine population of the United States has caused 10,000 deaths. Third, sleeping sickness is moving eastward and an outbreak among the animals in Illinois may be expected soon.

Serum Fails in Utah.

"Sleeping sickness of horses is not new," the bacteriologist asserted. "It was prevalent in California three years ago. A serum was developed there which seemed to be effective. But in Utah, this year, the serum has proved futile. Inoculated horses seemed to fare even worse than those not inoculated. Records show that 90 per cent of the animals which contract the disease die.

"Two Utah veterinarians, who became ill while attending sick horses, died. There have been a number of cases of sleeping sickness among humans in the vicinity of St. Louis, but none of these has been traced to horses."

The virus causing the disease, Dr. Meyer said, is similar to that of infantile paralysis, but has some points of difference. His conclusion was that the isolation of the germ appeared to be impracticable now. He added that the trouble was widespread and that cases had been reported among Argentine horses this year.

Urges Study of Arthritis.

Dr. William A. Evans, health editor of THE TRIBUNE, asked that the veterinary profession give close study to arthritis in animals and suggested that such work might be helpful in guiding physicians in their studies of the same disease in humans. Arthritis was one of the most common diseases of animals, he said.

Another speaker, Dr. W. H. Welch, former state veterinarian, asserted that the elimination of the public water trough had curbed glanders, formerly a disease prevalent among horses, until only a half dozen cases occurred annually in the United States.

In welcoming the veterinarians, Dr. D. J. Davis, dean of the College of Medicine, University of Illinois, pointed out that research work was still greatly hampered by efforts of antivivisectionists to prevent experiment.

Suit Over Fair Parking Lots Is Sent to Master

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday referred to a master in chancery the petition for a temporary injunction and accounting filed by Timothy J. Klapperich, 7848 Cornell avenue, against W. C. Kominske, operator of several parking lots on south park board lands at the south end of the World's Fair. Klapperich, suing as a taxpayer, asks that Kominske be restrained from destroying his records, and that he turn all his profits back to the park board.

The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

Montana celebrated its day at the Fair yesterday with more than 300 residents of the state participating. They were joined by Chicagoans who formerly lived in Montana in a celebration of barbecue, dances, songs, and ceremonials at the Indian village. No set program was offered.

Charles S. Peterson, vice president of the Fair, represented the Fair, and Gov. Frank H. Cooney was represented by O. S. Warden, publisher of the Great Falls Tribune. Mr. Warden spoke briefly on the flood control program being worked out in Montana, where $17,000,000 has already been appropriated by congress for the Glasgow flood reservoir. Eventually $60,000,000 will be spent on this project.

Only 26 More Days Remain in Which to See the Fair

In the evening a program was presented in the Café D'Alex, where the Montana queen was presented. The queen was Miss Ellen Erickson, daughter of United States Senator Erickson of Montana.

FALL FROM WINDOW FATAL.

Bert V. Clifford, 63 years old, 3538 Herndon avenue, fell while repairing a third floor window of his home yesterday and received a fractured skull which caused his death a few hours later in the John B. Murphy hospital.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Arrangements for the visit of the Graf Zeppelin to the Fair the latter part of this month were completed yesterday at a conference between Dr. Rolf L. Jaeger, acting German consul in Chicago, and Fair officials. The ship will arrive in Akron, O., Oct. 24, and will visit Chicago before Oct. 28, depending on weather conditions. Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, will be joined in Akron by Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States. The two officials will be formally greeted at the Fair on Oct. 26. The Graf will sail over the Fair grounds while in Chicago to give every visitor an opportunity to view it, and will be moored at Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds airport in Glenview, for half an hour to permit transferring of mail.

Purdue university's 115 piece band will come to the Exposition Saturday as guests of the management to take part in Purdue day festivities Saturday and will also play at the Purdue-Chicago football game on Stagg field that afternoon. An evening concert will be given at the Hall of Science court at 6 o'clock. President Edward C. Elliott of Purdue will speak at the Purdue day exercises Saturday at the Fair.

Kinnosuke Adachi, English speaking Japanese lecturer, today will discuss the latest developments in Manchuria, from which country he came to Chicago, at a private luncheon at the Blackstone hotel. At the luncheon given by the South Manchuria railway exhibit at the Fair railroad men, educators, and business men will be given first hand information of the country. Addresses will also be made by Toshi Co, American representative of the railway; Yoshio Muto, Japanese consul general in Chicago, and President Dawes of the Fair.

Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music sorority, will observe its day at the Fair Friday, culminating a series of concerts which have been given in Social Science hall during the summer. A choral program will be presented at 2:45 p. m. on the floating theater, followed by a musicale in the Illinois Host house. At the conclusion of the musicale there will be an initiation ceremony.

All Chicago High school day will be held at the World's Fair grounds on Sunday. Mayor Kelly and other public officials have been invited to participate in the program which will be held in the Court of States. Thousands of alumni of Chicago high schools are expected to gather for the occasion, according to Emil W. Ritter, general chairman.

BROWN DERBY A FREE FAIR TICKET ON AL SMITH DAY

All wearers of brown derbies will be admitted free to A Century of Progress when Al Smith day is observed next Saturday. That announcement was made yesterday by Fair officials.

Former Gov. Smith will be welcomed at the Union station at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, and Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Fair. The party will enter the 14th street gate at the Fair at 10:45 o'clock. At noon the former governor will be a luncheon guest of Mr. Dawes.

Mr. Smith will speak on "an important national subject" in the court of the Hall of Science at 2:30 p. m. Half an hour later he will be the special guest at a reception given by Gov. Horner in the Illinois Host house. The concluding event in compliment to the "Happy Warrior" will be a dinner to be given by the trustees of the Fair at 7 p. m.

Mr. Smith will depart for New York Saturday evening.

PRAIRIE HALTS THE ROYAL SCOT; TOWED UP HILL

Denver, Colo., Oct. 17.—(AP)—With regal British "innards" stoked with proper coal and heralded by the toots of a yardful of locomotives, the "Royal Scot," Britain's crack passenger train, came to Denver today—four hours late and under convoy.

Hauled from Eads, Colo., into Pueblo by a Missouri Pacific train crew, the Scot "made it over the 'ump to Denver," in the words of her engineer, William Hubertson, under her own power. Behind her, however, loafed a Denver and Rio Grande Western mountain-type locomotive equipped to push, if necessary. In the private view of train crews, the Royal Scot couldn't take it.

Hubertson, backed by C. O. D. Anderson, officer in charge of the train, declared that an overenthusiastic stoker near Horace, Kas., pitched some ordinary coal into the tender of the locomotive, which has been using only selected fuel on its American tour. The engine became stopped up, the firebox filled with clinkers and the flue sprang leaks.

Coal, however, wasn't all the trouble. Eastern Colorado water, full of alkali, had its part in stopping the wheels of the pride of Britain's rails.

It was a thoroughly stopped train that the Missouri Pacific crew picked up on the prairie.

The English crew supervised work in the railroad shops here and prepared to leave tomorrow for Salt Lake City with "proper coal" and water. The delay, they said, was the first in the train's 70 years of operation.

Oooh! . . . are we cosy and warm since GAS HEAT came to our house!

Now in effect NEW LOW COST for Heating Homes with GAS

To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas . . . we will install it at our expense and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it

HOUR after hour, day and night from September to May, the comfort of gas heat brings happiness to every member of the family. You never have to remember to shovel coal, set dampers, bank the fire. The little thermostat on the wall tends your furnace 24 hours a day.

Thousands have gas heat

Thousands of families in the Chicago area are now enjoying the comfort and convenience of automatic gas heat. They have taken advantage of our special offer to try gas heat without one cent of investment. Now at new reduced rates the cost of gas heat is one-half of what it was during the 1930-31 heating season.

Don't be annoyed by furnace-tending this year and the years to come. Let us install gas heat in your home. Read how easy it is to have it.

You just tell us that you want to try gas heat. We will install the equipment in your home entirely at our expense. While you are trying it, you pay only $3 a month rental on the equipment in the average home. Use it one month, two months or more. If within the first year you decide that you don't want gas heat—and you are the sole judge—just order it out. Out it comes and the rental charge stops immediately. We remove it at our expense and restore your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order.

If you decide, as we think you will, to keep gas heat, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment.

TODAY — mail the coupon

Get the facts regarding gas heat in your home. Mail the coupon today. Decide now to have gas heat for better health and contentment for your entire family.

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied, it stays. If not—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. We make this offer because of our confidence in the perfection of gas heat.

Three members of a family of Fair visitors were killed and a fourth was probably fatally injured yesterday when their automobile was struck by a Soo line locomotive at North avenue and River road, near Melrose Park.

The dead are G. W. Roop, 59 years old; his wife, Cora, 61 years old, of Fort Lupton, Colo., and their grandson, Clifford Roop Jr., 4 years old, of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Helen Roop, 24 years old, daughter-in-law of the elder Roops and mother of the dead boy, was taken to Westlake hospital, where physicians expressed fear that she would die.

On Way to Visit Fair.

The Roops were on their way to Chicago to visit A Century of Progress. Clifford Roop, son of the elder couple and husband of the injured woman, was to meet them in Chicago. He is employed in the federal pension bureau in Washington. Police last night were seeking him in Chicago hotels to inform him of the tragedy.

Engineer James Ames of Franklin Park said that the Roop automobile was going east in North avenue as the train, made up of a caboose, coal car and engine, approached from the northeast on the tracks that cut the highway diagonally.

The motorist was warned of the approaching train by a flash light signal on the crossing, as well as the whistle and bells of the locomotive, members of the train crew said.

Killed While Pushing Auto.

Joseph Bach, 16 years old, 14804 Hoyne avenue, Harvey, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile while he and two companions were pushing another car, which had run out of gasoline, at 147th and Wood streets, Harvey.

A second automobile death in the south end of the county last night was that of Henry Flasher, 45 years old, of Oak Glen. He was struck at Torrence and Indiana avenues, Lansing, by a car driven by Frank L. Nitt, of Route 1, Chicago Heights.

Isaac Frank, 73 years old, 4923 North St. Louis avenue, a retired business man, was killed last night at Kimball avenue and Ainslie street when struck by an automobile driven by Miss Harriet J. Kaufmann, 24 years old, 5712 Kimball avenue.

The six deaths brought to 829 the number of persons killed in automobile accidents since the first of the year.

Mary Jane Hettinger, 18 months old, was killed by a truck near her home in North Aurora. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hettinger. William Wiskur, the driver, was exonerated by a coroner's jury.

Policeman Allen Roesch, 33 years old, 4450 Marmora avenue, was critically injured this morning in a collision between his automobile and another car at Damen avenue and Ainslie street. He was taken to the Ravenswood hospital. Roesch is attached to the Summerdale station.

R. CATHERWOOD'S WIFE IS DEAD; CHARITY LEADER

Mrs. Lucy Cotton Catherwood, wife of Robert Catherwood, attorney and former president of the Cook county civil service commission, died yesterday morning at her country home, Calderwood, Ambia, Ind. Mrs. Catherwood's Chicago home was at 4442 South Park way.

Mrs. Catherwood was a daughter of the late John Morris and of Susan Cotton Claud Morris of Carvel Hall, Annapolis, Md. She was a niece by marriage of Mary Hartwell Catherwood, the author. She was one of the founders of the Alliance Française and was active in charitable work.

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO SAVE STARVING MASSES IN RUSSIA

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Oct. 17.—Under the chairmanship of Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, representatives of four concessions and ten national minorities living within the borders of soviet Russia met here today and formed an international committee for the relief of soviet Ukraine.

After listening to reports both from the Ukraine and north Caucasus which told of the complete breakdown of the soviet system, of famine and wholesale death, they decided to launch an appeal to the world for succor.

To Open Campaign in U. S.

"These millions cannot be allowed to starve when in other parts of the world people are practically suffocated by a surplus of wheat," their appeal reads.

Dr. Ewald Ammende, president of the European congress of minorities, who was named on a two-man committee to rush relief measures, is leaving soon for the United States to interest American church and philanthropic organizations in the plight of the Ukrainians.

Representatives of the minorities are greatly excited over reports that recognition of Russia by the United States is imminent and hope that Ammende's campaign will retard it.

"It is only after an epic struggle in the world press that the truth about conditions in the Ukraine is at last coming out," said Ammende.

Meet in Church Palace.

The archiepiscopal palace at Vienna was the scene of the extraordinary gathering. Greek Orthodox, Lutheran and Jewish leaders arrived in full ecclesiastical garb and were received by the cardinal in robes. Ten men of oddly contrasting types were ushered in, representing, it is said, ten minorities in European Russia—Germans, Poles, Ukrainians, Rumanians, Greeks, Serbs, Czecks, Jews, Armenians and Hungarians.

A letter dated Sept. 7 from a pastor in a German community near Odessa was read depicting famine, misery and death on a tremendous scale. The Ukrainian produced similar letters which proved to be tales of horror.

Music Friends Open Concert Series Tonight

Pro Arte Quartet Appears at Orchestra Hall.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF you saw the line outside Orchestra hall yesterday morning securing tickets to the concerts to be given by the Pro Arte quartet of Brussels you have some idea probably of how important musically and socially these concerts are, for the line was long and made up of representative looking persons, all anxious for tickets to the concerts.

The concerts were to have been given in the Goodman theater but the demand for seats was so large that they were transferred to Orchestra hall and those who were at the concert hall yesterday morning were those who had not been able to obtain tickets from the Goodman. The concerts, arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge, that noted patroness of music who is a former Chicagoan, are for the Chicago Friends of Music, and each member of that organization has received two tickets to one concert.

It had been planned to sell to the public any tickets that were left over but there weren't any, for every Friend of Music came to the fore and accepted his or her two tickets and "that's all there is, there isn't any more."

First Concert Will Be Given Tonight.

The first concert of the series of three will be given tonight, the second Friday night, and the third Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Coolidge, who arrived Monday night from the east, is at the Blackstone hotel, and Roy Harris, the California composer, and his wife, are her guests there. Mr. Harris and our own John Alden Carpenter are the only two living American composers whose compositions will be on the programs, and they are sharing the spotlight with Mrs. Coolidge at some of the numerous affairs that have been planned for her during her visit to Chicago.

Tonight the Chauncey McCormicks are entertaining at dinner at the Casino for Mrs. Coolidge, and after the concert Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter will give a supper party for her at their Lake Shore drive residence.

Tomorrow night Mrs. Coolidge and the Harrises are going to the symphony concert, joining the Albert A. Spragues in their box. Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. Sprague are cousins. Before Friday's concert Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is to be Mrs. Coolidge's dinner hostess and Mr. Carpenter is entertaining at luncheon for Mrs. Coolidge that day. Saturday night the director of our symphony orchestra, Frederick Stock, and Mrs. Stock will give a dinner for Mrs. Coolidge, who is giving a luncheon that day for Mr. Carpenter and Mr. Harris.

Charles Hamills Entertain Sunday.

Preceding Sunday's concert, the Charles H. Hamills—he is president of the orchestra association—are entertaining at luncheon for Mrs. Coolidge, and that night the Arts club is giving her a dinner. The Spragues have invited guests to meet Mrs. Coolidge Monday night at dinner, and later the party will attend the Boston Symphony orchestra concert in Orchestra hall. And then on to the supper party the Carpenters are giving for Serge Koussevitsky, director of the orchestra, and Mme. Koussevitsky and the Zlatko Balokovics, who arrive Friday to visit the Carpenters.

Tuesday night there will be a reception for Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. Stock in the Illinois Host House and on Wednesday Mrs. Coolidge and the Harrises leave for Pittsfield, where the Pro Arte quartet will give some concerts in the beautiful Temple of Music that Mrs. Coolidge has on her estate there. She also has arranged concerts for the quartet in New York City, in Washington, in the public library in Boston, and at Wellesley college and Yale university. There will be receptions for Mrs. Coolidge after the Wellesley and Yale concerts.

Mrs. Balokovics is the former Joyce Borden of Chicago, a former sister-in-law of Mrs. Carpenter's, and her husband is a noted violinist, so he is delighted to be here for the Pro Arte concerts. The Balokovics live at Eze, on the Riviera.

Mme. Taschereau Guest at Tea.

"I have to get home to my little family," explained Mme. Paul Taschereau yesterday as the reason why she has to leave Chicago after a visit of only a few days, during which she hasen't been able to see one-half the things in Chicago she wanted to see, according to her own statement.

This charming young woman, who is the daughter-in-law of Quebec's prime

Hair Styles Put Emphasis on Care of Neck

"The upward movement plays the leading rôle in autumn coiffures," the demonstrator explained. "The back of the neck really hasn't been seen for the last seven years. It disappeared like women's ears, which have been back now for some time. Now, we shall see the back of the neck once more."

With hats worn off the face, the upward swing of coiffures and low-cut dresses, it was pointed out, the skin has been brought into more prominence by the new modes. As a result the convention is paying more attention this season to beautifying face, neck, arms, and back. The beauty patch has also been brought back.

Another style restoration sponsored by the convention is the ornamentation of the coiffure. Feathers and velvet, ornaments in rhinestones and crystal, including stars and combs, were used. Bandeaux, cornets and even tiaras, reminiscent of prosperity days, were also declared quite correct.

The bob, of course, still lingers, but it is combed high on the head and marked in more ways than one with a degree of elegance. Some heads showed flat curls in layers and cascades of ringlets; one was embellished with an old time "spit" curl right over the forehead.

National Pythian Leader to Attend Meeting Here

The Knights of Pythias of Cook county will hold a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the Pythian temple, 16 East Ontario street, for James Dunn Jr., of Ohio, supreme chancellor of the order. William H. Stephens, grand chancellor of the Illinois lodge, and other grand lodge officers will be present. Plans for the meeting were announced by Sol Schefer, chairman of the state publicity committee.

Joliet Singer Wins Applause in Opera Debut

Lucille Diano Possesses Moving Voice.

Santuzza .... Bianca Saroya
Lola .... May Barron
Mama Lucia .... Marion Selee
Turiddu .... Sidney Rayner
Alfio .... Stefan Kozakevich

"PAGLIACCI."

Nedda .... Lucille Diano
Canio .... Aroldo Lindi
Tonio .... Chief Caupolican
Silvio .... Stefan Kozakevich
Beppo .... Francesco Curci
Conductor, Carlo Peroni.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

This was not the first time by several repetitions that the Mascagni-Leoncavallo joint entertainment was presented by the San Carlo artists, and historically it rates as just about the oldest double bill in existence. Yet there are several reasons why the casts, changed in several items, should be recorded this morning.

Should it be told chronologically? Very well. Mr. Rayner in several appearances during the last few days has proved that the verdict of the Opéra-Comique in Paris is equally applicable to the Auditorium in Chicago. He is a tenor in whom admirers of American singers can take pride, in fact, to whom admirers of singers of whatever nationality can easily extend their suffrages. In voice, personality, and manner, he is distinctly in the picture.

Add to this item Mme. Saroya's superb Santuzza, Miss Barron's brilliant Lola, and Mr. Kozakevich's unfailing effective Alfio, and you can realize why "Cavalleria Rusticana" was loudly cheered.

In the second half of the bill there was a debutante who without question is going to make herself known. Miss Diano as she was on the bill and has been in Italy, Miss Lucille Gowey as she answers her mail in Joliet, was the Nedda. That she was a debutante was apparent in details of acting and makeup, and thereby one clears up the bad news in advance. But these are easily corrected minor affairs. What went to the heart of the matter was that here was one of the loveliest, most persuasive, most moving voices that has sung the part in many a long season. In such a case I refuse to pay attention to lesser technical details. I believe that Miss Diano, or Miss Gowey, can with a bit of training become an important figure on the lyric stage.

Be it added that Caupolican, in addition to owning a voice that sets the audience into rapturous applause, knows more about dramatic values than ninety-nine out of the hundred baritones that sing the rôle of Tonio, and that Mr. Lindi's Canio was a model, vocally and dramatically, of a first class Canio.

It seemed to be an evening of interesting, not to say exciting first performers, for while these agreeable events were taking place at the Auditorium, there was a song recital of uncommon merit at Kimball hall. Lucinda Monroe, soprano, was the artist, and unless all prognostications are wrong, she, too, is due to be heard from. She has a voice of high charm, with most, if not all of the technical acquirements to give it point. In addition, she sang a program of seldom heard numbers as easily and expressively as though she had been competing with the dozens and scores of other sopranos who sing what everyone is used to hearing. She has quality, charm, artistic merit, and the poise of a competent and well trained musician.

In order that the crippled war veterans at the Edward Hines Jr. hospital may have an opportunity of attending A Century of Progress, Nina Mariani, newly found American star, will make her first appearance next Sunday at the Studebaker theater. The proceeds of the concert will be donated for the purpose, and Col. Hugh Scott announces that 250 of the veterans will be taken to the Exposition on Oct. 28 and an equal number during the following week. Postmaster Ernest Kruetgen, Mrs. Edward Hines, Philip Wrigley, Fred W. Sargent, and a number of others have arranged the concert.

The Country Club of Evanston bridge committee is to hold its first duplicate contract party at 8 o'clock this evening at the clubhouse.

Miss Margaret Flett Will Become Bride of Lammot Du Pont

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. here and chairman of the board of General Motors corporation, will take Miss Margaret A. Flett of this city as his fourth wife.

Announcement of the engagement was made today by Miss Flett's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Willis F. Harrington of this city, with whom she has made her home for several years. Miss Flett, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David H. Flett of Racine, Wis., is in her early thirties and is active in charity and club work. She is a director of the Delaware hospital. Mr. du Pont, who is 53, was divorced by his third wife, the former Caroline Hynson Stollenwreck, in Reno last April 1 on charges of cruelty. His first and second wives died.

WEDNESDAY notes from the Tuesday: Lena Newton, daughter of A. Edward Newton, author and bibliophile, is in town visiting Dr. and Mrs. Franz Alexander. Miss Newton and Dr. Alexander studied simultaneously under Freud in Vienna. . . . Which brings to mind that Miss Newton's erudite father is not above enjoying limericks, and when Martin Schwab sent him Solomon Freehof's pamphlet on Marx, Freud, and Einstein, Mr. Newton wrote back and asked if he knew that limerick: "There's a notable family named Stein, There's Gert and there's Ep and there's Ein, Gert's poems are bunk; Ep's statues are junk, Can't make head or tail out of Ein." . . . Prince Matchabelli is in town. He's Baron Charles von Wrangel's boss. The baron is tremendously in demand, being young, handsome and charming, and appears at all the most charming cocktail parties and dinners here. . . . Ben Hecht is in Mexico getting material for a new movie, "Viva Villa." . . . Wonder if the Friends of Music will do what they are considering—but perhaps we had better not go into that. . . . Amusing to see the learned professors at the University of Chicago enjoying Walt Disney's silly symphony, "Babes in the Wood," at International House last night. . . . Many of the exhibits at the Fair are arranging to sell furnishings and commodities, with the close of the Exposition approaching. Could that account for the sign "Lions for Sale" in front of the horrible lion motordrome act on the Midway?

A SOUTH SIDE politician, hearing that one of his henchmen had got out of hand, hunted him up and found him in the corner tavern, slightly oversubscribed.

"Joe, I understand you are sore at me and have been calling me a such-and-such all over the ward," he said.

Joe, straightening up, replied:

"Boss, that's a lie. I haven't called you a such-and-such all over this ward; I've called you one all over Cook county."

BUTLER'S pantry note: The Niles Trammell apartment, on East Walton place, has been recently redecorated, and the other day the china and glass were moved back into the pantry after temporary removal to another place. Mrs. Niles opened the pantry door to find her butler busily arranging the shelves in his pantry and whistling softly as he worked, "Home, Sweet Home."

A PRETTY GIRL with an eye for oddments of various kinds reports that she visited a West Madison street burlesque show the other night to see what a burlesque show was like. She was pleased to identify the music accompanying the last number, in which the girls tossed off skirtlets and other bits of clothing as the bit from "Faust" that accompanies the ascension of Marguerite's soul to heaven.

MOTORING through Gallipolis, O., the other day on his way to White Sulphur Springs, Eddie Voynow had the car radio going and was listening to the world's series broadcast. As he stopped by the red light at a crossing a grinning, freckle faced newsboy stuck his head in the window.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Long hair falling over the brown shirts of their Nazi uniforms, the newly elected actors of the Oberammergau Passion Play today paraded past the Bavarian minister, Herr Esser, in gayly decorated Oberammergau. Together with the newly elected actresses, they will appear in the tercentenary anniversary of the play next spring and summer.

An American touch was provided by the new Magdalene, Klara Mair, who has visited America. She is the fiancée of Dr. Anton Lang Jr., son of the former Christ, who is teaching German at Washington university.

Mae West to Stay in Bed for 10 Days; It's Story Trouble

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Mae West went to bed today for 10 days, but her affliction is only story trouble.

She has the title for her next film, "It Ain't No Sin," but no story to go with it, and one is due in three weeks.

Propped up on pillows in the bedroom of her Hollywood apartment, the star dictates to secretaries. She says she can't work in an office.

She'll stay in bed for 10 days, come out for one day to pose for pictures, and then go back to work for another 10 days.

SYNOPSIS.

Sheila, known as "Bun" O'Reilly, an American, makes a comfortable living abroad by helping fellow countrymen out of difficulties. Fred Crawford, who works on a Paris newspaper, is her friend and counselor. Bun is appealed to by James B. Finlay, an elderly, wealthy American, to help find his young wife, Helene. He wants no publicity. He had met Helene after the war in Bucharest. He had installed her family, the Bobianoffs, in a villa on the Riviera at Grasse. Her brother, Ferenz, he had brought to America. No trace can be found of Helene and her parents since the last time she returned to visit them. Bun's suspicions are aroused by Finlay's niece, Mrs. Craymer, and her ominous appearing butler. She sympathizes with Finlay and accepts the job and 200,000 francs advance payment. A recent newspaper picture, showing Helene standing with a tall woman in a group at Biarritz, is the only clew Bun has to go on. That night Finlay is murdered. Bun's apartment is broken into by a masked man and woman, her maid, Liberté, bound, and the money Finlay had given her stolen. Bun meets Finlay's son, Robert. His unlikeness to his father and his desire for secrecy puzzles Bun. She feels under obligation to continue the search. In Biarritz the photographer, who took the group picture, identifies the tall woman as the Countess de Vernadon, who has a villa at Grasse. Robert Finlay arrives at the hotel with a woman and registers as Count Morales and wife. Bun motors to Cannes with Liberté.

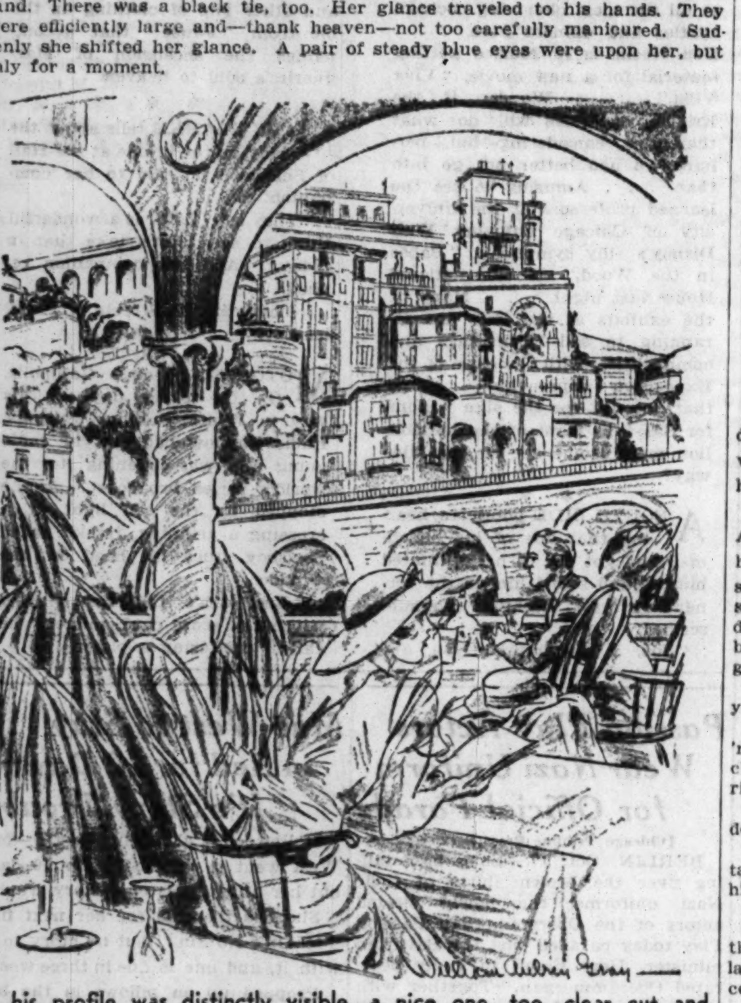
INSTALLMENT XV.

PSYCHIC APPEAL.

Bun hardly listened to the outburst. Now and then some suggestion brought a smile to her lips. The picture of Mrs. Craymer as Robert Finlay's mistress made her laugh outright. But of course that was a situation that a French person could not and would not admit as impossible. It was too much a tradition to put aside. But that there must be some sort of understanding between them—if it was they who had been together at Biarritz—was an arresting thought.

The hotel at Cannes appeared empty. There was only one other guest in the dining room when Bun was shown to a table for luncheon immediately after her arrival. Much to her disappointment, Liberté had been sent off to lunch alone. Two days constant companionship with her was about all Bun could stand at a stretch.

The other occupant of the huge dining room had evidently also just arrived—by the noon train. Bun heard him saying something to the waiter about the comfort of the Train Bleu—in a pleasantly accented American voice. She had always been susceptible to fair men dressed in gray flannels. It was a combination that had some psychic appeal to her. More than once she had found herself developing a romantic strain when the combination appeared. This strain developed with alarming force when she found herself looking at the man a few tables away from her. She could stare to her satisfaction, as his face was turned from her. But his profile was distinctly visible, a nice one, too, clear cut and strongly outlined. Details quickly took their place in her impressions. The gray flannel sleeve bore a wide black band. There was a black tie, too. Her glance traveled to his hands. They were efficiently large and—thank heaven—not too carefully manicured. Suddenly she shifted her glance. A pair of steady blue eyes were upon her, but only for a moment.



But his profile was distinctly visible, a nice one, too, clear cut and strongly outlined.

She finished her luncheon and went out into the lounge for coffee. Somehow, she was a little disturbed. She was experiencing a very definite desire to meet the man in the gray flannels.

She had hardly finished her coffee and lighted a cigaret when a page brought her a card and said the gentleman who had just come out of the dining room wished to speak with her. She looked up and saw the man in gray flannels waiting for her reply; then her glance fell to the card. For a second she thought her sight had become blurred—or that her imagination had again got the better of her. But no—surely there could be no mistake. There was the card and upon it, in distinctly engraved letters the name—"Mr. Robert Finlay."

Bun had only a few seconds in which to compose her expression before the man stood before her.

"This must be a great surprise to you, Miss O'Reilly," he said, without making a gesture to extend his hand.

Bun neither smiled nor frowned. She met the blue eyes as steadily as they met hers and gave no evidence of the questions that were flashing through her mind.

"I suppose you're wondering how I found you. May I sit down?"

He chose a chair near her. His voice was as nice as she had expected it to be, a deep, capable voice that suggested assurance; it was like his personality—full of quiet strength.

"I only arrived in Paris yesterday afternoon. One of the first people to call on me was a newspaper representative—Mr. Crawford."

"Apparently he accepted you at face value."

"I think he was rather prepared to do that. My—what shall I call him—predecessor had not made a very satisfactory impression on him."

"Did Fred—Mr. Crawford—ask for credentials?"

The man's clean shaven lips showed no glimmer of humor. "I showed them to him before he asked to see them. Shall I show them to you?"

He took several papers from his pocket, among them a passport which he handed to her. She opened it and read the name, birth, date, and description of the owner. Thirty years old. This was a comfort. She liked men to be at least two years older than she was. Then she turned to the small photograph. The resemblance to the owner was unmistakable. She returned the passport to him.

"The photograph is less compromising than most passport ones." She struggled towards a lighter note. "Mine puts me at once into the criminal class."

"And these," he handed her several letters, "are to bankers and lawyers. Do you care to examine them?" He waited a moment while she glanced hastily at several envelopes. "You see—well—you didn't do it in the first case. I'd hate for you to make another mistake."

Bun's chin went out. If this man had come all the way from Paris merely to—. But he was speaking again.

"Please open them and read them. I insist, Miss O'Reilly. There is no reason for you to believe I am Robert Finlay any more than there was with the other fellow."

Bun suddenly determined to use her usual method—complete frankness. "Oh, yes there is. I saw you—before I met you—there in the dining room. You're not the sort of person one asks credentials from. Isn't that your experience?"

"Yet you didn't ask for them in the first case."

"Please don't rub it in. I admit I've been the world's worst easy mark. I suppose you've looked me up to tell me to clear out. I don't blame you in the least. I'm quite ready to go back to Paris on the night train and leave you a clear field."

"I'm afraid that's impossible now. You have several valuable clues which I need. Crawford was somewhat reticent. I think he was afraid of involving you. If you consented to work with my father on this case, is there any reason why you should not continue to do so with me? You must realize how vital this matter is to me."

His clear blue eyes grew troubled. What Bun had first taken for animosity vanished completely from them. They were now actually pleading. She glanced about the lounge. There were a few South Americans near the door speaking Spanish in high voices. Beyond them the hall was deserted. But of course one could never tell, especially after the turn events had taken. She rose.

"I think we'd better go to my sitting room. Since we are being watched——"

She led the way to the elevator and then to a sitting room on the third floor. Through the windows was a sweeping view of the Croisette, the beach, and the dramatic red Estorel mountains. Under an orange awning on the balcony were comfortable willow chairs.

Good Morning!

"Damaged Lives," endorsed by the American Social Hygiene association, has not much in the way of original story, but the tale it does unfold is sincere, pointful, excellently acted and directed. Cleverly injected are several brief, humorous scenes that are both gratifying and effective.

The curtain rises upon the cleanly, young love affair of a boy and a girl. Donald is just back from a trip 'round the world, and he wants his childhood sweetheart to marry him right away. She says:

Dad says, "Pouf!" But, just-like-that-Donald proves himself a Magellan of sorts who has made astute discoveries re the shipping business. . . .

Father Bradley immediately succumbs, shows his offspring to an office of his own and speeds the word through his organization that Donald is now to be recognized as executive assistant to the president [himself] and in charge of all ships . . . !

Fast work. O, yes—but they do things fast in the movies.

"NOW let's get married!" begs Donny. But the maid is still adamant. She wants a June wedding. . . .

Alyce is a good sort at heart, e'en though she doesn't always do what she should. BUT——!

When she discovers later that she has an affliction which she has probably passed on to her young fancy of an hour and his girl wife she, well—never mind!

I was especially impressed by Lyman Williams' portrayal of the boy, but all the other players give sympathetic and intelligent performances.

The film is followed by a seven minute intermission during which you can buy some pamphlets if you care to. Then comes a brief and well delivered illustrated lecture on the cause, effect and cure of so-called "incurable" social diseases.

At the preview Monday afternoon there was nothing to remotely suggest sensationalism or off color crowd lure about the Garrick's new attraction.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

CASE SEVENTY-SIX.

In 1928 Prof. Fordney decided to spend an old fashioned Christmas in England. As fate would have it, a few days after his arrival he was requested by Scotland Yard to assist in the investigation of a murder.

"Thank you," replied Mrs. Thistlewood. "Tomorrow is her 14th birthday, and coming on Christmas eve, I'm going to try and make it a particularly happy one for her. But what was it you wanted to see me about?" she continued.

"Well," answered Fordney, feeling much embarrassed, "I knew your husband, Maj. Thistlewood, who was among the first to cross the channel at the beginning of the world war, and I also know of his heroic death a few weeks later in the historic retreat at Mons."

The criminologist looked very uncomfortable but continued, "I'm investigating the death of Col. McGuire. My mission is a delicate one and I would not intrude myself upon you were it not necessary. You knew him?"

"O, yes. I first met him at a party on armistice night. What a tragedy! He was such a splendid man."

"Did you know him intimately?"

"Why, no! I've known no man intimately since my husband was killed!"

. . . .

WHY DID HE THINK SO?

Looks 10 Years Younger Brushes Away Gray Hair

Now you can really look years younger. With an ordinary small brush you just tint those streaks or patches of gray back to your natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. It is so easy to do—at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years success. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Defies detection. No tell-tale "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess. First cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not give your gray, streaked, dull or faded hair its natural color, youth and luster, your money back. Only 50c.

minister, has been the guest of the Mellen C. Martins of Winnetka for several days and yesterday she was the especial guest at a tea given by Mrs. Robert R. McCormick in her house on Astor street.

The little family to which Mme. Taschereau referred consists of her husband, a little daughter 7 years old and a son 4, and although this is her first visit to Chicago and she said she loved the Fair and everything here she couldn't stay away from them longer than a few days. So she is leaving today for Canada with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmon of Thorold, Ont., who also have been the Martins' house guests.

Some of those who enjoyed the tea party were the Schmons, the Martins, Mayor and Mrs. Kelly and Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, who is here to see the Fair; Dr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Small, Mr. and Mrs. Eames MacVeagh, Col. George T. Langhorne, Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Gen. Frank Parker, Admiral Wat T. Cluverius, Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Francis Johnson, Mrs. Fowler McCormick, and Mrs. Jacob Baur [the last named two discovered they were wearing hats made from the same model, strangely enough]. Others were Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mrs. Henry Hooper, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, Mrs. Vincent Healy, Harold F. McCormick, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, and Chester Johnson.

Style Show to Aid Lake Forest Church.

To benefit the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, Lake Foresters and north shore suburbanites—and probably a good number of town residents—have set aside next Tuesday evening for dining and "talkieing" in Lake Forest. The women's board of the church, headed by Mrs. H. Foster Straw, has taken over the Deerpath theater that evening for a fashion show that will start at 8:30 o'clock, followed by the movie "Another Language." Mrs. Phelps Kelley and Mrs. Dexter Cummings are arranging the fashion show, and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis is in charge of publicity.

The models, all debutantes this season, are the Misses Peggy Hixon, Lucy Harrison, Nancy Morse, Josephine Templeton, Patsy Keith, Betty Alexander, Jean Wilhelm, Fleury Leonard, Jean O'Brien, Marie Louise Gardner and Eleanor Janney.

Hamill Will Talk on Book Collecting.

Friday morning at their first meeting of the season members of the Friday club are to hear Alfred E. Hamill discuss "Why Dollars Leave Home." We can think of many reasons why dollars leave home and so can you, doubtless, but the very special reason that Mr. Hamill will discuss and one that he knows much about is the cost of book collecting. He will tell about his own fine library and also something about other well known collections. After the meeting the members will have a special luncheon at the Fortnightly where they hold their meetings.

Many Parties for Mrs. John Towne Jr.

It is going to be very hard for Mrs. John Towne Jr. to return to New York next Tuesday, there having been so many parties for her the last week and there is so much entertaining yet to come with her as the "raison d'être." After a two and a half year absence from Chicago she came out to be the house guest of the James Rogers and now has prolonged her visit to enjoy the hospitality of the Louis Sudlers.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Solomon B. Smith gave a dinner party for her at their Scott street apartment and this evening the Press Hodgkins are having a dozen guests to meet her at dinner. Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill was her luncheon hostess yesterday at the Saddle and Cycle club.

The Sudlers are giving a party on Saturday evening that in size and interest will approach that of the Rogers' last Saturday evening. Next Tuesday Mrs. Towne is motoring to New York with her mother, the senior Mrs. Towne, who has been at the Churchill, and Mrs. Hopewell L. Rogers.

Red Cross Roll Call Committee.

The roll call executive committee of the Red Cross is having a luncheon today at 12:30 o'clock at the Chicago Woman's club to outline the plans for the roll call which starts on Armistice day and ends on Thanksgiving. Mrs. Charles G. King and Mrs. C. Morse Ely, co-chairmen of the volunteer service committee, "are delighted to announce that Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy has accepted the chairmanship of the woman's division."

Those delightful morning musicals, the Kinsolvings, which are such fashionable affairs, will be given again this winter in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. This is the 19th season of the Kinsolvings and many of the same women who were boxholders the first season will have boxes again this year. The first musical will be given on Thursday, Nov. 16.

Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., who returned recently from a trip abroad, does not plan to be in Chicago until mid-November, and we hear from New York, where she is stopping at Carlton house, that she isn't expecting her son-in-law and daughter, the William Albert Robinsons, to return from their tropical cruise until spring. They and their sailboat, the Svaap, are in Panama now and very shortly Mrs. Robinsons' brother, Cornelius Crane, and his wife will be there, too, for they are leaving soon to spend the winter there.

Mrs. Alfred Norval Mitchell of India, the former Mary Elizabeth Couch, is arriving in Chicago this morning with her mother, Mrs. Ira J. Couch, who went to New York to meet her. Mrs. Mitchell is bringing her young son with her, and they will spend several weeks in Chicago.

Ellen Erickson Prolongs Visit.

Miss Ellen Erickson, the attractive daughter of United States Senator and Mrs. John Erickson of Montana, is extending her Chicago visit another week. She is the house guest of Miss Dorothy Healy at her family's south side home. Miss Erickson and Miss Healy has just completed a six weeks' trip to Banff and Lake Louise.

A gay group of people arrived at the Drake hotel yesterday to see a bit of the Fair. They are Mrs. Pierre Lorillard and Miss Leta Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris of New York, Miss Doris Duke and Walker P. Inman of Somerville, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Unger of Madison, N. J.

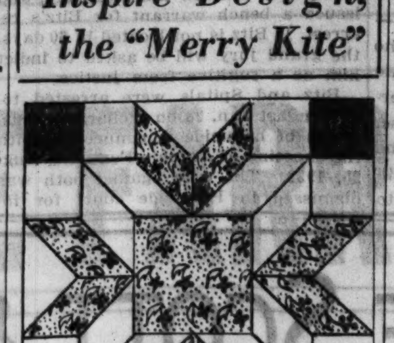
Barbara Ashcraft Mitchell is the name of the most recent addition to the Ashcraft clan. Born Saturday night at the Passavant hospital to the former Ann Ashcraft, the petite elder daughter of the junior Edwin M. Ashcrafts, and her husband, Raymond Otis Mitchell, the tiny Barbara numbers among her other relatives one of the most attractive of this year's debutantes, "Aunt" Virginia Ashcraft, and a very little cousin, Avis Ann Ashcraft, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Ashcraft III., the brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Mitchell.

Members of the Chicago Drama league are expecting to hear some up-to-the-minute reports on the theater when they open their season with a study class meeting at 11 o'clock this morning at the Cordon club for Mrs. Jean Parke Holm is to speak.

Mrs. Sidney Y. Ball will be hostess to the Winnetka Garden club at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at her home at 936 Hill road in Winnetka. Mrs. Katherine B. Ferguson will give an illustrated lecture on "Continental Gardens."

The Sunbeam league has issued invitations for a bridge tea this afternoon at the Stevens hotel. Preceding this there will be an open meeting at 1 o'clock.

Boys' Playthings Inspire Design, the "Merry Kite"



Merry Kite.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Inspired by the kites every boy flies with more or less skill is the quilt pattern known as the "Merry Kite." Their shapes and designs are as varied as the imagination of small boys can make them, but no more varied than can be the prints and colors used in this quilt.

For a quilt pattern in this design send five cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

The Stage

The Theater Guild announces that its Chicago subscription season will begin at the Erlanger theater Nov. 6 with the comedy called "Biography," which has Ina Claire as heroine. There has been some doubt on this point because Olsen and Johnson, stars and managers of "Take a Chance," now at the Erlanger, wish to continue their Chicago run until the expiration of current radio contracts. Under the present arrangement, "Take a Chance" will be moved to another theater to make way for "Biography," probably either the Illinois or the Garrick.

The Princess theater, which has been unoccupied for more than two years except for the brief engagement of "Riddle Me This," will become the home of a Yiddish stock company next Friday night. Thus the Yiddish drama will establish itself in the downtown district for the first time in the 50 years of its Chicago history.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

"When we hoard and hide out best treasures
They grow tender and fragile apace,
'Tis the giving, the using, the blending,
That assigns them a glorified place."

Believing in this bit of verse, the members of the Chicago Woman's club have created for themselves a new and distinct problem. At tea this afternoon they will be presented with a lace tablecloth that is the result of the "giving and blending" of their treasures. Yet it is a cloth almost too beautiful to use.

With brief recollection of the history of the cover, Mrs. George M. Shirk, long an active club member, will make the presentation. It will be accepted by Mrs. Ozora S. Davis, the president.

Five years ago Mrs. Shirk, whose interest in lace and fine needlework is well known, suggested to the house committee that an exquisite cloth could be made out of the scraps of lace laid away in family vaults and dresser drawers.

The house committee issued a request for heirloom lace. Completed today the tablecloth, judged by experts one of the finest and most beautiful treasures of its kind, represents the gifts of 178 persons, many of them members of Chicago's pioneer families. There are headdresses and collars, fragments of lace fans and waists, nightcaps, and handkerchiefs sewed into the delicate whole. Many of the pieces of rosepoint, Bruges, reticello, Duchess and Valenciennes [there are 15 different kinds of lace in all] have had to be repaired. All of them have been cleaned and dyed a delicate ivory. Finished, the cloth measures four yards in length and two and a half yards in width.

Mrs. Shirk has spent most of her leisure hours during the last five years preparing the cloth. She has used a very fine net for the foundation, sewing each piece separately through paper. Now with the pieces that remain she is ready to make two table runners for the club.

Center of interest in the large cloth is the medallion that was given by Mrs. Paul Schulze as a memorial to her son, Lieut. Walter Schulze, who died as the result of the great war. The lace was sent to her by her son from France. It is designated as the peace motif, for Lieut. Schulze carried the message of peace to soldiers in the trenches. It is significant of the purpose of the club, for in its figures it represents the three arts—music, drama, and painting.

The oldest piece of lace in the cover is a tiny bit of reticello, the gift of Dr. Annie White. Grecian in design, it is the kind of lace that fashioned the cuffs of Louis XIV. and the kind that Rembrandt used in most of his paintings. It is a handkerchief, more than 150 years old, and belonged to the lady in waiting to the duchess of Sutherland. Joseph C. Clark of Delphi, Ind., the only contributor not a member of the club, was the donor.

Junior Leaguer Given Lead in 'Border Legion'

BY ROSALIND SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Barbara Adams, a Junior Leaguer just signed by Paramount as feminine lead in "Border Legion," is really Barbara Fritchie, daughter of E. R. Fritchie. Her mother now is the wife of Maj. H. G. Smith, United States army air service, stationed at March field, near Riverside, Cal. The girl, now 19, was signed and had her name changed for screen purposes, last week after Albert Kaufman, studio executive, noticed her at the Colony club, one of Hollywood's midnight spots.

Miss Adams was born in Kansas City.

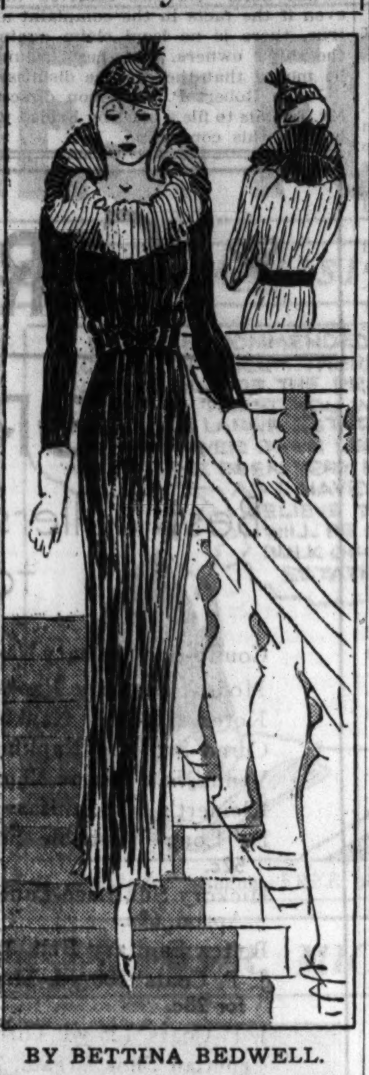
Chicago Couple to Mark 65th Wedding Anniversary

George Warmbach, 87 years old, and his wife, Phillippine, 83 years old, will celebrate their 65th wedding anniversary today in their home at 3032 South Canal street. Both Mr. Warmbach and his wife were born in Wetzlar, Germany, where they were married. They came to the United States and settled in Chicago in 1881. Two daughters, Mrs. Lena Church and Mrs. A. Heim, four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren are expected to attend the celebration.

Halo Collar of Satin Enhances Lovely Throats



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—One of Schiaparelli's dresses that stamped the buyers and private customers alike is a frock with a collar like a halo around the neck. If you happen to have a beautiful, column like throat, there is no better way to high light it than this Schiaparelli halo collar method.

Look at the sketch for the effect. The dress, as you can see, is in Schiaparelli's usual impeccable simplicity, and depends a great deal on the heavy tree bark dark blue silk material for its distinction. It has plain raglan cut long sleeves and at the waistline there is a belt of crêpe ribbon tied in four loops in front.

The collar is made of a special Schiaparelli ribbon, which is made of dark blue quilted satin and over this large white petals of satin also quilted are laid, making the most flattering of frames for the neck. At the back the collar rises very high and below it is a round set-on yoke of the plain dark blue quilted satin ribbon.

Child Should Never Slight His Breakfast

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Is your school child eating enough breakfast? The big part of his day comes after his morning meal. Some children in the lower schools and many in the high schools have only the light luncheon that they take with them. So breakfast takes on great importance as a supplier of energy for current uses or growth needs.

Does your son or daughter eat a good breakfast? If so—well and good. But if not, why not? Look into the reasons.

Your first answer may be, "O, he says he isn't hungry—even when I put an appetizing breakfast before him."

Well, that's possible. But sometimes there's a very simple reason for children's lack of appetite. They've rushed to get dressed or they've been allowed to get up so late that they haven't time to sit down and eat composedly. If, in addition, the school is very strict about promptness, they may have an actual fear about being late. Hurry or fear, or both, can actually take away one's appetite. Haven't you found that true when you were excited and hurried as you were getting ready for a journey—or when you were worried or under a strain?

We have a leaflet on the physical care of children which contains many brief references on the subject, from babyhood to adolescence.

BY MARY MEADE.

Sixty-seven days until Christmas! If these dread words don't startle us into scrambling madly downtown to do our Christmas shopping early, they should at least set us to thinking seriously about fruit cakes. We're playing with the idea of using these pleasant hearties for Christmas presents. For to have soul-warming fruit cakes for the holiday season, one must start the ceremonies soon. Cut, chop, stir and bake, then wrap the precious things in layers of waxed paper and pack in air tight metal boxes, or, better yet, wrap them in a towel soaked in grape juice or other flavorful liquids and set away to age until the Santa Claus season.

Fruit cakes may be dark or white—each variety has ardent followers, although the dark cake is the better known. Here we have an A-1 example:

DARK FRUIT CAKE.

- 2 cups granulated sugar.
- 2 cups butter.
- 4 cups flour.
- 8 eggs.
- ½ cup molasses.
- ½ cup non alcoholic flavoring brandy.
- 5 cups currants.
- 2 cups seeded raisins.
- 2 1-3 cups seedless raisins.
- 1½ cups candied citron peel.
- ½ cup candied orange peel.
- 1-3 cup candied lemon peel.
- 2 tablespoons ground allspice.
- 2 tablespoons ground cinnamon.
- 1 tablespoon ground ginger.
- 1 tablespoon ground cloves.
- 1 tablespoon ground mace.

Wash the currants and raisins in hot water, drain well and dry in the oven. Cut up the citron, orange and lemon peel into ¼ inch pieces. When the currants and raisins are dry, add the fruit peel and mix well with the molasses and brandy flavoring. This mixture should soak overnight.

The next morning, cream the butter and sugar well together. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating well. Sift together the flour and ground spices and add to the butter, sugar and egg mixture. When partly blended, add the fruit mixture which has soaked overnight. Combine thoroughly and spread 2½ inches thick in pans which have been lined with two thicknesses of heavy well buttered paper. Bake the cake slowly in an oven of 200 degrees F. About 2½ to 3 hours are required.

WHITE FRUIT CAKE.

- 1 cup shortening.
- ¾ cup sugar.
- 4 eggs.
- 2⅔ cups flour.
- 1 teaspoon baking powder.
- 1¼ cups white raisins.
- 1-3 cup candied citron.
- ½ cup candied cherries.
- 1-3 cup candied orange peel.
- 2 tablespoons orange juice.
- 1-3 cup blanched almonds.
- ⅓ teaspoon lemon extract.

Cream the shortening, add the sugar and cream until fluffy. Then add the eggs, one at a time, beating several minutes between each addition. Sift together the baking powder and flour and mix with the raisins, citron cut in strips, candied cherries quartered, and the orange peel cut fine. Combine with the first mixture and add the chopped blanched almonds, orange juice and lemon extract. Mix thoroughly. Pour into four bread pans lined with greased wax paper and arrange on the top blanched almond halves and candied cherries. Bake in a slow oven [275 degrees F.] for one hour. As soon as the cakes begin to brown, cover the tops with paper to protect the decorations.

Unethical Gals Make It Tough on Family Life

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Some of these predatory young females let loose in the world today surely do make it unsafe for the married ones. Their utter disregard for the feelings of others is appalling. Read this for an example of what we mean:

"I met a nice fellow about a year ago where I was working. It did not take long for me to fall in love with him. I knew all the time he was married—in fact, knew his wife quite well. When I went out with him at first I never knew he would come to mean so much to me. When I saw I really loved him I told him it was time for us to either break up or get married.

"It was then he told me his wife was expecting a child and he could not ask her for a divorce just then.

"I became friendly with his wife and pretended I was a friend of hers. But recently she suspected her husband and I of seeing each other, and she actually came out with it, threatening to go to my people and tell them to stop me from annoying her husband. My people know him for a single fellow, for he has been coming to my house all the time.

"Do you think it is right for a man to act this way with me? I really want your opinion about this matter.

"J. J."

We fear our opinion of you, J. J., wouldn't be fit to print. But we'll temper that remark a bit, since it's apparent there has been something sadly missing in your character-build. Instead of expressing an opinion, let's ask you to pretend you're the wife and mother of that youngster.

These Clothes Settle Debate About Curves

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Doubting shoppers who have skeptically refused to believe the good news that curves are "in" and visible should dash to town to see the newest collection featured in one curve-conscious shop.

Frankly large sizes, gorgeous things with plenty of elegance, lots of intricate detail that usually mark the most expensive of imported models, have price tags that will make the most cautious shopper cheer for the new deal.

There are all sorts of well designed clothes for afternoon, street and day time wear and lovely evening gowns that will sweep into any crowded drawing room with all the swish and dramatics that nearly every one has forgotten.

It's a section where even a size thirty-six barely slips in and anything smaller is promptly given the air . . . where you must be plump and full fashioned to be welcomed and are presented with a showing of gowns and dresses that ought to more than satisfy all the demands of the gals who are plump and the gentlemen who have been wailing for the missing ladies who were proud of the alluring curves that only a well fed and comfortable existence achieved!

SMITH ABSENCE AT RALLY CHILLS TAMMANY CHIEFS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Sour notes, instead of the usual tones of jubilee, dominated tonight at the traditional "ratification rally" at Tammany hall.

One of the chief speakers—Frank J. Prial, candidate for controller—dared to throw virtually in the face of Boss John F. Curry, a vigorous denunciation of party bosses for their "political arrogance."

Prial, who ran as an independent in the primary and defeated the Tammany choice, John N. Harman, reiterated his independence, and made the rafters ring with his criticisms of the bosses sitting on the same platform with him. It was the first time in memory of politicians that any candidate had carried his independence to the floor of Tammany hall and it left the leaders flustered and speechless.

Leaders Are Flustered.

Later on in the evening an effort was made to strike up some of the old time Tammany enthusiasm by having the band play "The Sidewalks of New York." But even this usually sure-fire pep method brought only a half hearted response; probably because the "big chief"—former Gov. Alfred E. Smith—was absent for the first time in many years.

This was the second sour note—where was Al? It was said he was at home in bed with a cold; it also was said that he was en route to Chicago to attend the World's Fair. Inquiry developed, however, that Mr. Smith is not due to leave for Chicago until Friday.

Tammany had hoped that Mr. Smith would come out and speak a few words for Mayor John P. O'Brien and the Tammany ticket. His failure to appear gave credence to reports that the former governor will remain silent throughout the campaign.

Both Senators Are Absent.

Mr. Smith was not the only important absentee. Both U. S. Senators Royal S. Copeland and Robert Wagner was "engaged elsewhere." And former Mayor James J. Walker remained in France—his retreat. It was in this atmosphere that Mr. Prial arose to tell the bosses what he thinks of them. This is what he said:

"The result of primary day was not only a rebuke to leaders for their political arrogance, it was a mandate to me that I be independent of obligations to the leaders of the Democratic party.

"I accept that mandate, and assure you that when I am elected no leader or collection of leaders can dictate to me. My only responsibility will be the citizens of this city.

Challenges Tammany Leaders.

"Our party would be in better condition today if somebody years ago had challenged the methods of leadership. Had that been done, leaders this year would not have been so overbearing. The reason a handful of men in the Democratic, Republican or any other party dictate nominations is due entirely to our present election law.

"The law should be amended. It should forbid party leaders and party workers from circulating the false information that any one with enough courage to defy the boss by running in the primary is an irregular and a traitor to the party. That is the label they tried to stick on me.

Voters Resent Defiance by Bosses.

"From county leaders down through the district leaders, with few exceptions, and election district captains, the machinery of the party was working to defeat me. Money was spent to advise voters to vote for my opponent, as he was the regular candidate, and to crush me for daring to assert a right inherent in every enrolled Democrat. However, the enrolled voters resented this defiance of their right to select any Democrat. I was nominated over the organized opposition of the leaders."

The pain of his words to the leaders of Tammany, most of whom were seated on the platform behind him, was assuaged only partly by his indorsement of Mayor O'Brien and his other running mates on the Democratic ticket as having been in no way responsible for the conditions in the city today.

O'Brien Voices Confidence.

His remarks were in contrast to those of Mayor O'Brien, making his first major address of the campaign from the same platform. The mayor's declaration was that the century old Democratic organization housed in historic Tammany Hall had survived countless storms and that it would continue to endure.

Mr. McKee was out in Queens, renewed his fight on "bosses" and "political government," and declared his determination to install business economy at the City hall. He was trying to push to the background the dispute with regard to his 1915 article, interpreted as an attack upon the moral outlook of young Jews. His explanation was accepted by some Jewish leaders, among them Judge Irving Lehman, brother of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, but Samuel Untermyer remained a severe critic.

"Now that the unfortunate issue has been raised, which should not have been injected into a political campaign, I regret to say that it cannot be disposed of in the evasive, insincere, and cavalier way in which Mr. McKee seeks to leave it," Mr. Untermyer said.

Mr. McKee drew further criticism from a new quarter. Two prominent Democrats supporting the fusion candidacy of La Guardia attacked McKee's recovery party for posing as the favored child of the Roosevelt administration. By inference they criticised the President for allowing them to do so.

The two protestants were Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, and Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, who withdrew as the fusion nominee for mayor to make way for La Guardia.

Gen. O'Ryan declared that as a Democrat he resented "attempts by Democratic leaders to have the public believe Mr. McKee's campaign has the approval of the President or the national administration."

Farley Assailed by Colby.

Mr. Colby assailed Postmaster General James A. Farley for "placing politics above the welfare of the city," and said that Edward J. Flynn, Democratic leader of the Bronx, merely was trying to replace John F. Curry as the political boss.

Commenting upon the appointment of the newly appointed collector of the port, Harry M. Durning, as chairman of Mr. McKee's campaign committee, Mr. Colby declared it was a "severe reproach to the Democratic party. I don't see how the administration can permit it."

Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury under Herbert Hoover, heartened the fusionists by announcing he would support La Guardia.

ASKS $200,000 FOR SHIP FAILING TO SAVE TWO MEN

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Two years ago this month David Warshauer and a friend, in agony from hunger, thirst and exposure after drifting for days in a little boat on the Atlantic, sighted a steamship on the horizon.

The ship grew larger against the sky, approached, and at last came within hailing distance. Crowds on the ship watched the two men's frantic signals of distress. But the vessel never altered its course, passing away and leaving the men alone and helpless.

This story was set forth in United States District court here today in a suit for $200,000 filed by Mr. Warshauer. The suit is brought against the Lloyd Sabaudo line and the complaint alleges that the ship which ignored his desperate plight in October, 1931, was the Conte Biancamano, owned by that line.

The complaint asserts that the steamship had a duty to rescue the helpless men, if the rescue could have been effected without danger to itself or its crew or passengers. The sea was calm, the visibility good, and the rescue could have been effected with no danger, Mr. Warshauer asserts.

Mr. Warshauer relates that he and the man with him, Irving Touchyner, were rescued Nov. 6 by a coast guard cutter, but that Touchyner died on the way to the hospital, and that the complainant himself has been permanently crippled by gangrene, which set in in both feet as a result of the exposure.

The pair had set out from Oceanside, L. I., on Oct. 25 in a 16 foot open outboard motor boat for Sheepshead bay, but had been carried out to sea by wind and tide, the complaint says. Their gas became exhausted and they drifted. It was on Oct. 31 that the Conte Biancamano passed, the complaint sets forth.

In court today Homer L. Loomis, attorney for the steamship company, an Italian line, asserted that the court had no jurisdiction as the line is not owned here. He also asserted that, even if the facts in the complaint are true, there is no legal claim against the ship's owners. On these grounds he moved that the case be dismissed.

LINDY KIDNAP AID FORFEITS $25,000 BAIL

New York, Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Irving Bitz, alleged racketeer, who was employed with Salvatore Spitale as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's underworld agent in the kidnaping case, forfeited $25,000 bail today when he failed to appear before Judge Cornelius F. Collins in general sessions to answer to a charge of possessing a revolver.

Judge Collins denied a plea to postpone the case, which has been postponed half a dozen times already, and issued a bench warrant for Bitz's rearrest. If Bitz is not located in 30 days, the grand jury will be asked to indict him as a fugitive from justice.

Bitz and Spitale were arrested together last Jan. 28 on a charge of suspicion of homicide in connection with the shooting of Antonio Fontaine, Aug. 25, 1932. The case against both was dismissed in Homicide court for insufficient evidence, but both were immediately rearrested on charges of possessing revolvers.

Spitale showed he had a permit, and he was released, but Bitz's permit had run out. He was held without bail in Magistrate's court last Feb. 1, but that same day a Supreme court justice set bail at $25,000 pending action of the grand jury, and Bitz was released.

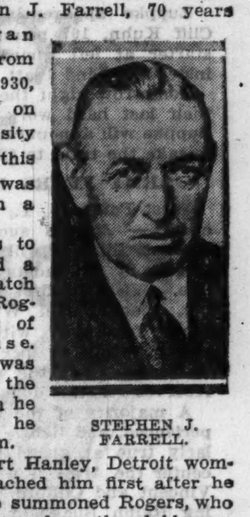
STEVE FARRELL DIES; FORMER MICHIGAN COACH

TRACK VETERAN, 70, STRICKEN ON GOLF COURSE

Directed Wolverines from 1912 to 1930.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Stephen J. Farrell, 70 years old, Michigan track coach from 1912 to 1930, dropped dead on the university golf course this afternoon. He was stricken with a heart attack.



STEPHEN J. FARRELL.

Farrell was to have played a nine hole match with H. T. Rogers, manager of the clubhouse. The match was arranged in the morning when he told Rogers he could beat him.

Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit woman golfer, reached him first after he collapsed. She summoned Rogers, who had not yet come from the clubhouse, and a physician who was nearby. By the time they reached him Farrell was dead.

Best Known as Steve.

Steve Farrell, as he was better known, was a coach and trainer who held the affection of the boys with whom he worked. He did not attend college, but as a youth in Natick, Mass., was one of a famous fire hose team, and there learned to run. On that team besides Farrell were Mike Murphy, who later coached at Yale and Pennsylvania; Pooch Donovan, coach for many years at Harvard, and Keene Fitzpatrick, who was coach and trainer here and later went to Princeton, where he is still serving.

That team, running at all distances from the dashes up to the mile, defeated all challengers in this country and abroad. Farrell ran every distance from the 100 yard event through the 880.

A stray dog abruptly brought to a close Farrell's running career. He tripped over the animal while training for a race and fractured his ankle. This was in 1898. He devoted the remainder of his active life to coaching and training.

Coaches at Yale.

After four years as a private instructor he went to Yale as track coach. He coached two years at Yale, seven years at the University of Maine, and two at Ohio State before taking over the track team at Michigan in 1912.

In his early days at Michigan he was viewed with suspicion by the students, as they had come to believe that Fitzpatrick, here from 1896 to 1910, and Alvin [Doc] Kraenzlein, trainer from 1910 to 1912, were the world's outstanding track tutors. But, when in the spring of 1913 Farrell took a track team considered by experts as having a chance to win eighth place in the eastern intercollegiates, and brought it in third, only four points behind first, he won student acclaim.

Farrell's teams finished from third to sixth in the Eastern intercollegiate in the years through 1917. When Michigan returned to the Western conference in 1918 the team promptly won both the indoor and outdoor track titles and repeated the following year. Up to the time of his retirement, in 1930, his teams won six outdoor Big Ten championships and four indoor titles. Only in two years, 1922 and 1928, did they finish below third.

Develops Great Runners.

At Michigan Farrell made a reputation for developing good athletes into world beaters. He coached such stars as Carl Johnson, only athlete ever to win four events at a Western conference meet; De Hart Hubbard, who equaled or exceeded world records for the 50, 60 and 100 yard dashes and broad jump, and Eddie Tolan, another 100 yard dash record holder.

At the conclusion of Farrell's long term of service the coaches of the Big Ten tendered him a banquet. It was one of the big events of his life, as his team had just won the outdoor championship after having finished in fourth place indoors.

He was born Dec. 26, 1863, at Rockville, Conn., and spent his youth in New England. Professional track was at its zenith when he was young, and he never competed as an amateur.

Yost Plans Tribute.

Commenting on Farrell's work, Athletic Director Fielding Yost said today, "Steve possessed an outstanding personality. He had a keen mind, a ready wit, and was a leader in his profession. He rendered outstanding service to Michigan. He will be greatly missed by his host of friends."

Yost suggested that arrangements probably would be made to declare a brief period of silence or some other tribute to Farrell before the start of the football game with Ohio State Saturday.

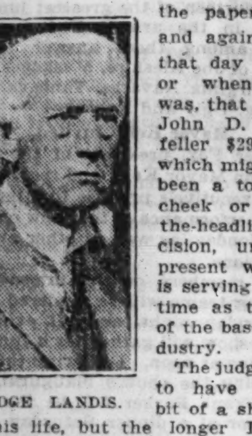
His Act Camouflages True Character.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—You may have read the name of Judge Landis in the papers now and again from that day in 1908, or whenever it was, that he fined John D. Rockefeller $29,000,000, which might have been a tongue-in-cheek or eye-on-the-headlines decision, until the present when he is serving out his time as the czar of the baseball industry.



JUDGE LANDIS.

The judge seems to have been a bit of a showman all his life, but the longer I knew him and the more I learn of him from people who know him better than I do the better I appreciate the old man as he would be if some power were to snatch him bald headed and divest him of his property hat and stick and all the affected, but after all these years, habitual mannerisms that go to make up his act. I have an idea that the antagonism to the jedge, which is not general, you understand, but pretty widespread and, in spots, pretty enthusiastic, ignores the old gentleman who hides behind the affectations of manner and dress.

This is not entirely the fault of the people who misunderstand him, because the old jedge certainly has gone to great pains to clutter up and camouflage his true character with a lot of hammy externals, including the tangled white plume, which suggests an old-time, spread-eagle congressman of the Joe Cannon era, the baggy knees, the common-people hat, and the piercing glare.

How a Glare Can Go Wrong.

One thing that never will intimidate me to any extent is a glare. Maybe you could have glared me down once, but not since the night I happened to sit under Jack Dempsey's corner as he waited for the opening bell of his fight with Jack Sharkey. Sharkey was putting the eye on Dempsey with great concentration and after some time I heard Dempsey say to Leo P. Flynn, "Will you take a look at that guy's eyes, Leo? What's the matter with that guy's eyes? He looks like he's scared crazy."

"I don't know," Mr. Flynn said, "but if you are asking me, I guess it is throat trouble. I believe our little pal is choking up. Sometimes that makes their eyes pop out like that."

So the finest glare in the fight business since John L. Sullivan's glare faded into an alcoholic blear was utterly misunderstood and wasted and I never since have had much interest in a glare one way or another. Some people's eyes simply are not suitable for glaring purposes, just as some people's chins can not be made to jut, but I don't think these things have anything to do with a man's determination, courage, honesty, or formidability.

It's Just Part of the Act.

The late pictures of George Washington give his chin quite a thrust, but Mrs. Shelby Little, who wrote a good book about him a couple of years ago, assured me that this was not a characteristic in his fighting years and that it was due to the poor fit of those store teeth of his which now stand in a glass case at Mount Vernon as one of the embarrassing penalties of greatness.

So I hold the old jedge's glare neither for nor against him, but realize that he probably affected it as part of the character of a judge when he was younger and found it useful in controlling counsel and imbuing miscreants with a proper fear of the law.

Neither have I ever stood in much awe of czars or nut executives of the kind who surround themselves with an atmosphere of erratic and mysterious inscrutability and vary their tyranny with startling acts of the most tender and winning generosity.

I may seem to be tearing the clothes off the old jedge and leaving him just a plain and rather scrawny old man, and if this is so I am arriving at him as I have come to know him since I, myself, discounted the properties which make up the act. I first began to get a piece of him one night in St. Louis during a world series when some of us newspaper barnstormers gathered in a room with the judge and Mrs. Landis, who, be it noted, to the credit of both, never has come to be known as Ma Landis.

They had the dignity never to drag Mrs. Landis into the act and she never has been guilty of any of the cheap conversational back-slapping and flap-jack frying that Mrs. William A. Sunday used to indulge in to promote publicity and business for their religious tent show. Reminded of it, you may realize that you never saw many pictures of Mrs. Landis or herd of her favorite recipe for corn muffins.

The old jedge was right nice that evening in St. Louis. The act was off and he talked very interestingly on various subjects from blackmail to

N. U. TO DISPROVE CHARGE IT LACKS SCORING PUNCH

Wildcats Decide to Make Indiana Yield.

The current impression that Northwestern does not possess a high geared offense is a fallacy which the Wildcats claim they will disprove when Indiana invades Dyche stadium Saturday.

Following the Iowa game the Purple was accused of having neither an offence nor a defense, but after holding a powerful Stanford team scoreless, the possession of a staunch defense was admitted. Now the Wildcats hope to establish that they can go places with the ball as well.

Reports that Indiana will be bolstered by the return of Wendell Walker, 195 pound sophomore full back, and Don Veller, veteran quarter back, have caused concern in the Wildcat camp. Both players have been out of the lineup since the opening game with Miami. Their presence will be expected to add a punch to the Hoosier attack which was lacking in the Minnesota and Notre Dame games.

Polish Running Game.

Yesterday's workout was devoted almost entirely to polishing up the running game. After a brief period spent in studying Indiana plays, the regulars and reserves ran through their entire repertoire of plays and formations.

The first stringers will indulge in their first contact work of the week today in a stiff scrimmage with the freshmen. The same combination which opened against Stanford will be kept intact and, barring injuries, will be picked to start the Indiana game.

Coach Dick Hanley is apparently satisfied with the change which sent Ollie Olson to quarter back and Chuck Duvall, a sophomore, to the full back position. Duvall turned in some fine ball carrying against Stanford and showed that he is a good defensive player as well.

Reserve Backs Get Attention.

Considerable attention was paid yesterday to the reserve backs with the intention of getting them ready for relief duty. Only one lineup change was made in the back field in the Stanford game. Such veterans as Sullivan, Augustson, Lenhardt, Sutton, and Stanul are slated to see much duty against the Crimson.

The crowd at Saturday's game will be augmented by 10,000 Boy Scouts and Y. M. C. A. club members who will be the guests of the university.

HOOSIER OFFENSE SHINES

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Jesse Babb, little Indiana Negro half back, brought back memories of his touchdown run against Northwestern, which nearly deprived the Wildcats of a Big Ten title two years ago, in practice this afternoon when he got away to several impressive end runs against Northwesern formations as the Hoosiers drilled for their invasion of Dyche stadium Saturday.

With Indiana again concentrating on offensive tactics, other regulars also worked well. Bob Jones booted several long punts and his charging in the line was effective.

BRADLEY DECRIES 2D MAJOR CLUB FOR CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland American league baseball club, today denounced the suggestion of Councilman Herman Finkle to bring a National league team to Cleveland. The suggestion was made following the Indians' announcement that they would move out of the Municipal stadium and return to League park.

"The American league would never sanction a National league club in Cleveland. It seems foolhardy to talk about bringing second major league ball club into a city when the one club has lost money for the last six seasons," Bradley said.

REMEMBER CRAMER, MICHIGAN?

Carl Cramer, quarter back, is well remembered in Ann Arbor. He ran wild in 1931 when Ohio State gave Michigan its last whipping. Cramer will be in the Ohio lineup against Michigan Saturday.

What's Become of Old Quick Opening Play?

BY WILFRID SMITH.

What has become of the quick opening, inside of tackle, play which once was used with success by Notre Dame?

We're not calling signals now for Notre Dame or any other university. That's a job we wouldn't want. When the play succeeds you're a great field general, but when it fails you're a chump and the coach needs new material, preferably some one with intelligence.

A famous coach [name deleted] once was asked: "If your team is on the opponents' 2 yard line, third down, what play would you use?"

It Has Been Neglected.

But it has occurred to us, after watching Notre Dame and Kansas, and then seeing Purdue play Minnesota, that the style of attack generally known as Notre Dame shift hasn't utilized the inside of tackle play in recent years. It once was a fundamental play. The Chicago Bears, back in the days when Hunk Anderson, Ed Healey, and Duke Haney formed the left side of the Bears' line, copied the play from Knute Rockne, and how they ripped open the Cardinals' line, not to mention Green Bay, Canton, Akron, and other teams in the professional league.

What is this quick opening play?

In the Notre Dame system, the quarter back lines up behind the center. Behind him, approximately five yards from the line of scrimmage are the other three backs. The play is called quick opening because the back field does not shift. The quarter back takes the ball from the center and hands it to either half back who drives inside of his opposing tackle. The offensive end blocks out the tackle momentarily. The offensive tackle turns in the guard.

It Checks Foes.

The play is a surprise, for the opponents naturally fall into the errot of expecting a shift. The tackle, if a half step outside of the end, or even if directly opposite, is vulnerable. Fred Gillies, former Cornell star, who played several years with the Chicago Cardinals, always feared this play by the Bears.

The play is unexpected. It serves to keep the defense alert until a shift, if any, is made and is equally as effective as a double shift or other delay to keep opponents from changing on the shift count.

The Bears still use the play. They also use the quarter back sneak, which is based on the same principle of unexpected attack.

Why does a team shift?

The primary purpose is to conceal

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW About FOOTBALL STARS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

UNIVERSITY OF IOWA football players have always shown a flair for other than gridiron accomplishments. There was Gordon Locke, one of the greatest backs in Hawkeye history, who served with the marines during the world war and then returned to Iowa City to win honors as a full back and a law student.

The 1933 Iowa squad recently was discovered to have more than its share of outside talent, not to mention several eccentricities on the playing field. Dick Crayne, the sophomore full back, who gave promise of leading the Black and Gold out of the football wilderness by his work against Northwestern, not only can toot a saxophone so that you will stay to listen to him, but also manages a dine and dance establishment when he isn't attending class or operating in the Iowa backfield.

Two of the colored members of the squad are distinguishing themselves elsewhere, Voris Dickerson, an end, as an artist, and Wilbur Wallace, who hails from Washington State, half back, as a dancer. If Wilbur would put you in mind of Bill Robinson when he's doing his stuff at a fraternity or sorority party in Iowa City, it's because he's a former pupil of the noted colored heel and toe artist. Bernie Page, another Hawkeye end, labors as a coal miner to keep himself in condition during the summer months.

Bigger Shoes, Better Footwork, Is Marvin Kuhn's Slogan.

Marvin Kuhn, 190 pound full back, was having difficulty keeping his feet on the field, but believes that he finally has solved the problem, and all by himself. Last year Kuhn, boasting a pair of feet three sizes smaller than any other member of the squad, had his shoes made to order. They were size 6½, and Marvin couldn't seem to lope along as fast as he cared to. This year he joined the rest of the squad in wearing size 9½ boots, and claims that it aids his understanding no end.

Francis Schammel, 215 pounds of guard, came to Iowa City this fall with every intention of winning a regular job in the Iowa line, but a rat interfered with his plans. He arrived in town short of finances and hustled himself a job cleaning out a vacant store building. The folks in charge allowed him to use the basement of the building as a home while the work was in progress, and one evening he went below to sleep. The rats, regular tenants of the basement, resented the intrusion and dispatched one of their number to nip Francis on the ear while he slept. Since that time he has suffered from an attack of boils, which physicians say probably originated with the rat bite.

Iowa coaches put over a fast one of their own this season. In order to defeat the annual terror of scholastic grief which falls upon coaching headquarters throughout the country at the beginning of the season, they hit upon a plan which has enabled them to keep several promising players in good standing. Before being allowed to register, all candidates for football, including freshmen, were given aptitude and intelligence tests by the university psychology department. These examinations were a fair indication of the classroom subjects which the players were likely to pass, and the coaches saw to it that they enrolled in those classes.

MAROONS EXPECT SCORING DUEL IN PURDUE BATTLE

Both Elevens Have Plenty of Offensive Power.

Offensive football such as Stagg field has seldom seen is promised in the Chicago-Purdue game this Saturday. Maroon fans think that the Boilermaker attack last year was the most brilliant offensive display by an entire back field ever shown on the Midway, and some of the fans date back to the nineties. With all the Purdue backs except Horstmann returning, and with a Chicago team that scored 72 points in its two opening games ready to take the field this year, the result may be a spectacle of free running and high scoring.

No Scrimmages Planned.

Coach Shaughnessy, for the third successive week, is eschewing scrimmage and devoting most of the practice to the perfection of plays. The Maroons have 86 plays at their command, including as "different" those which are run either to the right or the left, which is more than enough to provide a new play every time the ball is carried, and they have shown not more than ten plays in their two preliminary games. Yesterday's workout consisted of more work on offense, with a long conference for quarter backs.

Only one question remains concerning the Chicago starting lineup. Merritt Bush, big sophomore, who had been on the sidelines with an injury, alternated yesterday with Deem and Rice at the tackle positions. Otherwise the lineup will be the same as that which has persisted from the first day of practice, and it is likely that Shaughnessy will use these eleven men against Purdue as long as he possibly can.

More than 12,000 tickets, including season books, had been sold last night, the biggest advance sale at the Midway since the Yale game two years ago.

PURDUE SEEKS DEFENSE

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Purdue's coaching staff is faced with a puzzle as it strives to develop a defense capable of stopping the Chicago offense that has run wild in its first two games against non-conference foes.

Coach Noble Kizer admitted tonight that the Boilermakers are groping in the dark in building a defense against the Maroons. Chicago's head coach has made no secret of the fact that he has been keeping his real offensive under cover for the Maroons' Big Ten opener.

With the entire squad back in working harness, after a day of rest, the coaches put in an effective session this afternoon with the squad on both offense and defense. In offensive drill perfection of blocking and speed in reaching the line of scrimmage were emphasized.

HELEN MOODY TO PLAY IN TOURNEYS AGAIN NEXT YEAR

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Helen Wills Moody, whose dramatic default in the finals of the national women's singles tennis championship tournament gave Helen Jacobs her second United States title, will return to competitive tennis next year. Mrs. Moody, recently released from a hospital where she underwent treatment for a spine injury, made the announcement today.

"I'll play tennis again. I'll play in tournaments and I'll try to win," she said. "I suppose it will take a long time to get back into championship form. I shall take up swimming. They say its the only exercise I can have now, because it keeps me off my feet. I get tired when I stand too long."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 17.—Bob Davis has been transferred to the Buffalo club of the International Hockey league, where he will be a playing manager. Davis played defense for the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey league last year.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

IT'S becoming downright dangerous to be a working newspaper man at college football games these days. . . Reporter and radio announcer were barred from Northwestern dressing rooms after Stanford game Saturday. . . Milwaukee photographer was injured by Coach Spears of Wisconsin because his duty to his paper brought him in front of coaches' bench at Urbana. . . Won't be able to walk for several days, Associated Press reports. . . Amateur sport is funny that way. . . Its leaders expect newspapers and radio to lure the crowds, but yelp fiercely at an exchange of courtesy. . .

Paul Pardonner of Purdue, who has made 23 out of 25 drop kicks for points after touchdowns in three years, kicks with either foot. . . He favors the right. . . How did he feel when he was called from the bench to boot the tying point against Minnesota? . . . "Just thought of what the folks back in Lafayette would say if I missed," he said. . . So he made good. . .

Officiating has become so important in intercollegiate football that they're scouting men who work games in the east. . . Jimmy Sheckard, who used to play the sun field for the Cubs at the old west side park, is coaching a softball nine in Philadelphia. . . There's a baseball diamond in Orlando, Fla., called Tinker field after the Cubs' great shortstop. . . Jim Londos, the wrestler, is fond of opera. . . The Green Bay Packers have completed 36 out of 70 forward passes thrown this season. . .

Ike Voedisch, end coach, scouted the Southern California-St. Mary's game for Notre Dame Saturday. . . The Army is the only team Notre Dame scouts in all its important contests. . . . Sheldon Biese, Minnesota's sophomore full back, is no sapling. . . He was graduated from high school in 1929. . . He spent some time on the Pacific coast, attended Wisconsin a year, and entered Minnesota in 1932. . . Art Haley, football ticket manager at Notre Dame, says the demand for seats at the Army game is heavier than it was at this time a year ago. . . And they turned 'em away on that occasion. . .

Dick Hanley scouted the Cardinal-Bears game Sunday for the Boston Redskins. . . Hunk Anderson, Noble Kizer, and Ernie Nevers were other coaches in the stands. . . Bronko Nagurski wasn't so hot. . . Because of the heat, no doubt. . . Travis Brown, West Point back who will play against Illinois at Cleveland Saturday, was appointed to the academy by former Senator J. Thomas Heflin. . . He is captain of the Cadet baseball club. . .

Purdue's starting players lost from 7 to 10 pounds each against Minnesota. . . Wisconsin will be dropped from Chicago's schedule next year and Ohio State will be added. . . Odd, isn't it, not reading that line, Stagg Fears Purdue. . . Before important games teams spend more time learning defense than offense. . . Clark Shaughnessy must prepare his Maroons for three different attacks in as many weeks. . . Purdue, Wisconsin and Michigan employ distinct systems. . .

Pop Warner in a syndicated article appearing in last Saturday's papers picked Haskell to beat his Temple team. . . The game was played the night before and Temple won, 31 to 0. . . . Maybe Pop wasn't expecting them. . .

WESLEYAN AND MILLIKIN RENEW 29 YEAR RIVALRY

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The oldest rivalry of the Little Nineteen conference will be renewed Saturday, when the football teams of Illinois Wesleyan and James Millikin universities clash at Decatur in their twenty-ninth annual game.

Wesleyan and Millikin have met on the gridiron every year since 1904 with the exception of 1906. Millikin has won 17 contests, Wesleyan 7, and 4 were tied. Wesleyan defeated Millikin last year, 12 to 0, but the records show that only once in this period of almost three decades has Wesleyan been able to beat Millikin twice in succession, the Titans winning in both 1922 and 1923.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Galem Stucker, former Morningside college athlete, who was charged with participating in a bank robbery last March at Chandler, Minn., was freed today. The athlete's friends and neighbors testified that he was in Omaha on the date of the robbery. He is 31 years old.

WALSER RETURNS TO ILLINI AND FIGHTS FOR JOB

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Capt. Herm Walser, hard luck leader of the Illinois football team, scrimmaged today for the first time all season and may be able to appear part of the time in the Army game at Cleveland Saturday.

The return of Walser to condition will be a boon to Coach Zuppke, who is hard pressed for a second set of backs. It would be impossible for the former full back, now playing right half back, to obtain a regular place in the lineup at present, but his defensive playing, punting, and blocking would be a valuable asset.

Nearly all the Illini regulars scrimmaged, first in an offensive drill against the reserves, then on defense against the freshmen interpreting Cadet plays. Fred Frink appeared in a suit but did not play.

Tomorrow night the Illini will have their last hard work. On Thursday Zuppke will announce a list of 33 men to take the train to Cleveland Friday.

ARMY FEARS RESERVES.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Army's success or failure against Illinois will be determined largely by the cadets' reserves in the line. With the first string line playing, coaches feel West Point compares favorably with the western eleven, which it meets at Cleveland Saturday. But the strength of the reserves remains doubtful.

A majority of the reserves are experienced, and light. This is particularly true at guard and tackle. At center the Army is well fortified with Vincent and Clifford, who are crowding Ralph Bucknam for the varsity berth.

Available as second string guards are Smoller and Stillman, both of whom participated in the early games, and Abrams and Bearley. Abrams, although he weighs only 170 pounds, has shown well at right guard, while Bearley, who played in some of last year's games, may be Gooch's replacement Saturday.

OHIO FEARS PASSES.

Columbus, O., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Ohio State held its practice behind locked doors tonight. Even newspapermen, who heretofore have enjoyed the confidence of Coach Sam Willaman, were barred from the drill where it is said Willaman is working on special plays and defense for the Michigan game Saturday.

Willaman, however, discussed Ohio's chances against the Wolverines. He was not optimistic.

"We couldn't beat them last year when they had no running attack, and now—they have one and one that clicks, too. That makes them just twice as dangerous.

Willaman Scoffs.

"Reports about Michigan lacking a forward pass attack are so much bunk," he said.

"Kipke hasn't any one fooled about not having a passer this year. It would be foolish for a team that has been winning so many games in the air to abandon that style for a running attack. It isn't so much the running attack that has me worried. it's those passes."

"Have we a punter who can match Regezci?" he asked. "Rush him? Who's going to rush through that Michigan line? It's every bit as good as ours."

Team Leaves Thursday.

Willaman admitted he had been shifting his players trying to find the best combination with the material available. That John Kabealo will be in the backfield where his kicking ability can be utilized is almost a certainty. Outside of Cramer, other back field starters are undecided.

The team will leave Thursday night for Dearborn, where it will stay Friday night, journeying to Ann Abor just before the game.

KIPKE FEARS INJURIES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The Michigan squad again worked on its running attack in a long drill on south Ferry field today. Freshmen were used on the defense in a dummy scrimmage.

Coach Harry Kipke said he would bar all spectators, including newspaper men, from tomorrow's practice. It is anticipated that a number of new plays will be introduced at that time. The regulars will not scrimmage this week. Kipke is afraid of injury. He also wants to guard against a possibility of the team being overtrained when it meets Ohio State Saturday.

EXPECT 6 TEAMS IN AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Plans for the reorganization of the American Hockey league will be completed at a meeting of officials Saturday. Six teams will be in the circuit. They are Kansas City, Tulsa, Wichita, St. Louis, Omaha, and Oklahoma City.

Mike Goodman, coach of the Wichita squad, it was reported, will become manager of the Kansas City team. William F. Grant, president of the league, is said to be ready to give up the managerial duties at Kansas City.

Bears Spurred by Memory of Packer Battle

Memory of the opening battle with the Packers in Green Bay spurred the Chicago Bears yesterday as they opened practice for their return engagement Sunday at Wrigley Field. The Bears won that game, 14 to 7, by outsmarting the Packers on one play and outplaying them on another. Outside of that the 1932 professional football champions were the second best team that afternoon.

When the Bear line outcharged the Packers to permit Bill Hewitt to block Arnold Herber's punt and carry it over for a touchdown and the winning points, it was the only time they were superior to the Green Bay line.

Guard Against Passes.

The Bears are better now, but so are the Packers. Sunday's game will be a last ditch stand for Green Bay since a defeat would practically eliminate the Packers as a west division title contender in the National Pro league.

As the Packers are at the top in percentage of forward passes completed, the Bears are devoting their time to ways to prevent such tactics.

Several players who in the past have humbled the Bears will renew acquaintences here. Among them are Herber, one if not the best passers in the league; Johnny Blood, who is his equal as a receiver; Hank Bruder, Wuert Englemann, Milt Gantenbein, Clark Hinkle, and Roger Grove, backs, and Lavie Dilweg, Augie Michalske, Cal Hubbard, Claude Perry, Rudy Comstock, Art Bultman, and Al Rose, line men.

Packers Roll Up Big Score.

In addition several new men are on the squad, among them Joe Kurth of Notre Dame, Larry Bettencourt of St. Mary's, Cal., and Buckets Goldenberg of Wisconsin.

That the Packers are clicking now is evidenced by their huge score against Pittsburgh, the 47 to 0 score being one of the largest registered in the league this year. Pittsburgh beat the Cardinals, 14 to 13, and last week the Cardinals led the Bears, 9 to 0, only to lose out 12 to 9.

THREE CHICAGO RIDERS ENTERED IN SIX DAY RACE

Three Chicago boys will compete in the six-day bicycle race which starts in the Stadium Oct. 29. They are Mickey Rodak, Steve Wagner, and Tony Schaller. Rodak rode his last race here with William [Torchy] Peden and finished among the leaders. Schaller and Wagner rode as a team until the last day when Wagner was hurt. Schaller then paired with Bobby Thomas, Kenosha, Wis. They placed among the leaders. Thomas, one of the greatest amateur cyclists ever developed in the middle west, will also compete in the coming race.

Studebakers Saved From Rust and Cold

Put in Eveready Prestone now, and the job is done for the season. At $2.95 a gallon, Eveready Prestone is your safest, most economical buy. Zero protection for a 1933 Studebaker Commander requires only 1½ gallons, costing $4.45. For other models and makes, see your dealer's chart.

Don't confuse Eveready Prestone with either alcohol or glycerine. It won't boil away. It won't break down and cause rust. It reduces the rusting-action of water in the cooling-system by 75% to 95%.

DODOS.

So far as we know there is no authentic record of golf "dodos," as the term is used. Since a birdie is one under par, an eagle two under par, a dodo became three under par.

Recently a Helper asked for such a list if there was one, commenting that a dodo is a much more meritorious performance than a hole in one. This we concede, although we wonder whether the thrill is as great. We have no means of personal opinion, as we never have experienced either. The dodo would be impossible to our peculiar kind of golf, but a hole in one on short holes always is a possibility with good luck.

Let's concede that a hole in one requires both a good shot with perfect direction and a certain or uncertain amount of luck. A dodo, then, would require one perfect direction shot of long distance, plus another perfect direction shot of long distance and an amount of luck. Patently the dodo is more difficult. We are assuming that dodos are most likely on par 5 holes, almost impossible on par 4s, and that there are few par 6s in existence.

This Helper's inquiry, published recently, brought several instances of dodos. Rudy Swartout registered one at the Mohawk C. C., par 461 yards, a long drive followed by a brassie. Churck De Long had one at Gary, the second shot being a spoon. Another called to our attention was at Santa Clara, Cal., where a caddy sank his brassie second on a 550 yard hole. Still another dodo was recorded at the Evansville, Wis., C. C., in 1931, when Dick Baird sank his brassie second.

It is not the intention of The Wake to start a Dodo club, but just to prove that dodos do occur ever and anon, although less frequently than holes in one, which really are overrated performances so far as skill is concerned. But what a thrill a hole in one gives (or would give if we made one)!

Dobermans to Compete in Tests at Show

The Doberman Pinscher, the original German police dog, will have its day at the World's fair dog show, which opens Saturday at the First Regiment armory, when the largest number of the breed ever assembled in Chicago takes the floor in a series of trick and fancy jumping exhibitions, obedience tests, and other events in the tenth annual show of the Doberman Pinscher club of America.

American bred dogs only will compete in the various Doberman classes. In the obedience class veteran trainers will compete against the youngest dog handler in the United States, 7 year old Danny Haerther, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Haerther of Lake Villa, Ill., who has entered his champion Doberman, Billo von Reyno.

Among the entries in the trick and jumping exhibitions will be Doberman Pinschers from the kennels of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Reynolds of Lake Villa, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hesselquist of Elgin, Ill., and Percy E. Coston, 7018 Clyde avenue. These animals will be handled by such veteran trainers as Ludwig Gessner, 6029 Northwest highway, and Richard Milke of Lake Villa.

Other out of town entries include Dobermans from the kennels of Felix Vonegut of Hague, N. D.; Otto C. Heuke of Wichita, Kas.; F. W. Winther of Overland, Mo.; Mrs. William Emmet of Braddinson, Fla., and Ralph Cook of Philadelphia, Pa.

Herr Fritz Mueller of Germany, who has come to Chicago to judge the Dobermann Pinschers, will award some 72 prizes, including cash and trophies valued at over $2,000, in 26 events scheduled.

Gruenig, Crane Center, Named on Big 10 Five

Bob Gruenig, former Crane Tech High school star, was chosen yesterday with a team of ex-Big Ten conference players who will meet the Diamond Oilers of Tulsa, Okla., national A. A. U. basketball champions, in a two game series at the 132d armory, Rockwell and Madison streets, Monday and Wednesday nights.

Dutch Lonborg, Northwestern university basketball coach, who is selecting the Big Ten players, selected Gruenig on the basis of his scoring in the Knights of Columbus Basketball league last winter.

Gruenig will join the squad in practice tonight. The former Western conference stars selected by Lonborg who are drilling daily at Patten gymnasium include Joe Reiff, Saul Farber, Bob Lockhart, Bus Smith, Bert Reil, Elmer Johnson, and Frank Marshall.

The Spencer Coals, Central A. A. U. women's champions, continued preparations yesterday for their games with the Durant Cardinals, Durant, Okla., national A. A. U. women titleholders, which will precede the Oilers-Big Ten game each night. Coach Mark Singer of the Spencers said Annie Goldstein and Lillian Rozhan have been definitely named for the starting lineup against the Cardinals, who are unbeaten for more than two years and have a record of 71 consecutive victories.

the center of power as long as possible. Almost equally important is the purpose of making the defense shift its position so that the instant the play is put into motion the defensive line may be improperly balanced or not ready to meet the attack.

Shift Has Two Purposes.

Since the outstanding exponents of the double wing back and unbalanced line [that is, four men on one side of the center and two on the other] have incorporated a shift into that system, there are few major coaches who do not employ some such device to confuse opponents or mask the attack. Coach Hanley, at Northwestern, long one of the ablest of those favoring the double wing back attack, now has designed a line shift.

Football strategy really centers on the principle of striking where the opponents' defense is weakest and doing so without indicating the play. To illustrate, if a team used nine men on the defensive line as Indiana once did against Chicago, the running attack certainly should be stopped. But the back field would be wide open for a passing attack.

Michigan is the only conference eleven which consistently attempts to cover all possible points of attack on all plays. The Wolverines prefer a six man defensive line, a box secondary [the full back and center behind that line supported by two more backs] and a punt receiver always in position to prevent opponents from gaining through an unexpected or quick kick.

Quick Kick Tricky.

But Michigan will take a seven man defensive line near its own goal. In other words, it strengthens against running plays, and since it is near its own goal line there is no need of a safety man or kick receiver.

The quick kick over the heads of the the defense, which is stationed in a short diamond or box defense will gain ground. Usually employed in the early part of the game, it is intended to shove back the other team until the ball is secured near midfield.

Illinois used the wind and superior kicking to gain such an advantage against Wisconsin last Saturday. Minnesota quick kicked repeatedly over the heads of Purdue's backs. However, when an opportunity does come, there must be a power to the running attack or an effective passing game to carry the ball to the goal line.

U. S. ARMY TEAM BRINGS MOUNTS FOR HORSE SHOW

Complete International Field for Jumping Tests.

The roundup of international military jumping teams for the World's Fair horse show was completed yesterday.

Led by Maj. J. T. Cole, the United States Army team arrived with its mounts for the final tuning up process before the show opens Saturday at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue. The Americans are going their rivals from Sweden, Irish Free State and Czecho-Slovakia one better by bringing five men. The Swedish and Czech teams have a complement of four, while the Irish brought only the necessary three officer riders.

Pick of Officers.

In addition to Maj. Cole, the United States quintet, drawn from the pick of cavalry and artillery officers, includes Capt. E. Y. Argus, Lieut. E. F. Thomson, Lieut. C. W. Raguse and Lieut. R. G. Stewart. They were recruited at Fort Riley, Kas., and have a notable record in international jumping competition.

Accompanying the team, which detrained at the La Salle street station, were fourteen of the greatest jumping horses in the army. The most famous among them answer to the names of Joe Aleshire, Muskogee, Clismic, Virginia Navarre, Tanbark, Dick Waring, Ugly and Avocat.

Mayor Kelly Invited.

Porter Fox, president of the show, called on Mayor Kelly and received the chief executive's promise to attend the night performance of the show on Irish day, Monday, as well as other evening exhibitions.

The members of the international jumping teams will be tendered a dinner Friday night, and all exhibitors at the show will gather for a luncheon Saturday at noon. Following this, and preceding the show's inaugural, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker will be the guest of honor at a dinner Saturday night.

WEATHER FAILS TO DIM OPTIMISM OF IOWA ELEVEN

Hear Schammel May Play Against Badgers.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Everything except the weather today added optimism to the University of Iowa's football preparation for the Wisconsin game here Saturday. The chief cause for the rise in spirits was the report from Des Moines that the condition of Francis Schammel, first string guard, was improving rapidly.

Schammel may be released from the Des Moines hospital, where he is being treated for a leg infection, tomorrow, in which case he will return here immediately. Coach Ossie Solem hoped that he would be able to take one or two light workouts later this week and that he could play in Saturday's homecoming game against the Badgers. Physicians said, however, that the veteran right guard may not be in condition to stand a full game.

The squad engaged in a long workout on a rain soaked practice field, scrimmaging freshmen, who used Wisconsin plays. Little information of what the yearlings could do with the Badger formations could be obtained, however, since the slippery field handicapped the ball carriers.

BADGERS GET TO WORK.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin varsity today began its first intensive scrimmage in preparation for the game with Iowa Saturday at Iowa City. Practice was preceded by a slight shakeup in the first team intended to strengthen places in the line which showed weakness in the Illinois game.

Leonard Lovshin, end, and John Ferguson, guard and tackle, were sent to the second team. The new forward line with which Coach Spears experimented was composed of George Deanovich and Richard Heyworth, ends; John Golemgeske and Mario Pacetti, tackles; Frank Bucci and Milton Kummer, guards, and William Koenig, center.

The back field men selected for intensive coaching were Capt. Harold Smith, full back; Harry Pike, quarter back, and Robert Schiller, Carl Sanger, and Thomas Fontaine alternating at half back positions.

Scrimmage of the first team was directed against freshmen and second team combinations, which used Iowa formations. Marvin Peterson, half back, who was thought to have suffered injuries to his left shoulder that would keep him inactive for the remainder of the season, will be able to play with the aid of a special shoulder brace, according to physicians and trainers.

England to Challenge U.S. for Yacht Cup

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Thomas Octave Murdock Sopwith, British sportsman and airplane manufacturer, today took up the task of regaining the America's cup where Sir Thomas Lipton dropped it and filed a formal challenge for 1934 for the most famous of yachting trophies.

With a new all-steel boat now under construction named the Endeavor, he will come to the United States next year to race the pick of America's yachts for the "battered old mug" which Sir Thomas and other British yachtmen vainly have sought possession of since 1850.

Official announcement of the challenge was made by the Royal Yacht Squadron, original donor of the trophy, of which Sopwith is a member. It will be filed with the New York Yacht club, which holds the cup under a perpetual deed of gift from the men who won it in 1850 at Cowes and gave to it the name of their boat, The America.

Shamrock's Designer Does Work.

The Endeavor is being constructed at Gosport by Nicholson and Ganper from a design by Charles Nicholson, who drew the plans for two challengers, Shamrock IV. and V.

Sopwith is noted principally as a builder of airplanes and a pioneer flier, but he has been racing yachts successfully for several years, first attracting attention in 1928 with his Mouette, with which he won many races.

He has been mentioned as a possible challenger for the cup since he purchased Shamrock V in 1932, shortly after the death of Sir Thomas.

He's the 15th Challenger.

Sopwith is the 15th challenger for America's cup. Two challengers were Canadian, the other British. Sir Thomas Lipton was the best known, having sent five challengers to the United States.

It was his Shamrock V. which last challenged for the trophy in 1930 and was defeated in four straight races off Newport by the Enterprise, commanded by Harold S. Vanderbilt.

It is estimated that building, testing and racing a cup boat costs between $500,000 and $1,000,000 and much has been written of the millions spent by yachtsmen competing for a trophy the intrinsic worth of which is not over $500.

Handicaps ranging from scratch to 45 minutes have been allotted to the 141 men and women riders who will compete Sunday in the annual Elgin to Chicago bicycle road race under the auspices of the Homer J. Byrd Athletic club.

The maximum allowances have been given to the six girls who will be competing in the 46 mile event for the first time. The scratch men, who represent the pick of central states amateur cyclists, are:

Henry Sima, Fred Guth, Rene Goosens, Jerry Huvaere, Bob Desplenter, Ed Somedy, Henry Wheelmen; Al Byrd, Ed Triest, Stockholm Cycle club; Frank Lemajeur, Andre Cajet, Harold Ade, Walter Vertenten, Ray Wittauch, Belgian-American Cycle club; August Bensen, Lake View Cycle club; Ray Keller, Milwaukee, Wis.; Don Gill, Kenosha.

The race will get under way at 1 p. m. from North State and Chicago streets, Elgin.

Irish Shock Troops Fail to Stop Frosh

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—A discouraging shock troop scrimmage led Coach Hunk Anderson of Notre Dame to say today that he probably will start and use his regulars for the entire Carnegie Tech game at Pittsburgh Saturday.

Freshmen, using Tech formations, scored several times on the shock troops, who managed to punch over only two touchdowns themselves.

Mazziotti Out of Tech Game.

Anderson announced today that Tony Mazziotti, sophomore quarter back, is definitely out of the Carnegie Tech game with injuries, and that he may not be able to play against Pitt.

GOPHERS STUDY PITT PLAYS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Coach Bernie Bierman today turned to the defensive side of the University of Minesota's preparations for the Pittsburgh game here Saturday. The defense was planned after Red Dawson's return from scouting the Panthers against the Navy. The defense as tried the first day met with onl; moderate success.

With the Gophers still a bit weary from their hard game with Purdue, Bierman indicated that he would cut out scrimmage entirely for the so-called first stringers. The reserves continued to get plenty of scrimmage, however.

PITT SCRIMMAGES.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The University of Pittsburgh football squad scrimmaged today in preparation for the Minnesota game Saturday at Minneapolis. Not a varsity man was excused from practice.

The squad will leave tomorrow night, stopping off in Chicago Thursday to practice on Stagg field at the University of Chicago. A final workout is planned on Friday at Minneapolis. A delegation of Pittsburgh fans will make the trip to the Twin City.

NAGURSKI WILL DO MAT TRAINING WITH STECHER

Bronko Nagurski will train with Joe Stecher in preparation for his professional wrestling début at the Chicago Stadium a week from tonight. Nagurski will meet Pat O'Shocker in one of the preliminary bouts. Thus the Chicago Bears' full back will assist Stecher in preparing a defense against the flying tackle—the forte of Jim McMillen, whom Stecher meets.

Before reporting for football this fall, Nagurski worked out with Joe Stecher. Besides using the flying tackle, he is said to have a fair répertoire of the more intricate mat holds and to be adept at clamping the headlock.

All ten of the wrestlers on the Stadium's card are scheduled to complete their training here next week. Seven of the ten have met Jim Londos. They are Stecher and McMillen, Ray Steele and his opponent, Gino Garibaldi, O'Shocker; George Zaharias, who meets Joe De Vito, and Everett Marshall, who tackles Milo Steinborn.

Wherein Mr. Foley Turns Spot on the Esthetic Side of Wrestling

Joseph Foley, matchmaker of the Chicago Stadium and director of its department of public literature, has turned iconoclast. With one deft blow yesterday he smashed the idols which he built up in the popular fancy through years of toiling at his typewriter and admitted that the wrestling credo of which he was an eminent and eloquent apostle was founded upon falsehood and misconception.

Since the days when wrestling was first placed upon a commercial basis it has been the custom of Mr. Foley and those of his kind to nourish the belief that all exponents of the game were endowed with a maximum of animal strength and a minimum of intelligence. Such popular appellations as "The Human Gorilla," "Bone Crusher," "Ape Man," and "Monkey Face" which the fraternity of press agents has bestowed upon its charges with a prodigal hand have only tended to heighten the suspicion that the antics of wrestlers in the ring were the direct result of a low intelligence quotient or that peculiar form of intoxication brought on by excessive punishment in the cerebral region.

It's a Grunt to You, but Liszt to Londos.

Yesterday Mr. Foley stripped his athletes of this hideous covering of falsehood, and revealed beneath it the golden, cultural qualities of the true gladiator. While crowds have been heaping contumely upon those perspiring wrestlers, whose limbs have been contorted into the form of pretzels and their faces distorted into the most primitive expressions of discomfort, a sensitive soul has been throbbing beneath those forbidding exteriors.

While multitudes have been venting their emotions in boos and cheers for Mr. James Londos, it is highly probable, according to Mr. Foley, that Mr. Londos has been solacing himself with some noble strain from Liszt, or Beethoven, or Wagner and that the sounds which have emanated from his prostrate figure have been not incoherent, aboriginal grunts but divine airs that have been lost upon the unheeding and untutored throngs. Mr. Londos, it seems, is exceedingly fond of opera and spends much of his time improvising classical compositions upon his piano. It is none of this Hey! Hey! Hattie! stuff for Mr. Londos. When Mr. Londos puts a Japanese arm lock upon his baby grand, it evokes only the most classical harmony, with none of this dissonance which the same hold might elicit from his opponent in the ring.

John McCormack recognizes the rare communion of musical souls and often travels considerable distances to visit Mr. Londos in his dressing room for the purpose of discussing the art of music with him. On occasion, of course, Mr. Londos may excuse himself for a half hour to mangle a fellow member of the wrestling intelligentsia for a minor consideration of a number of dollars, but when he finishes this prosaic business he heads back toward his grand piano with a sense of orientation that would shame a homing pigeon.

Dig Deep, Sinner. Your Pastor May Be a Wrestler.

Mr. Jumping Joe Savoldi and Mr. James McMillen, both former students of great institutions of learning, have tucked away larger sums of money than most of the trustees of their respective alma maters have seen assembled in one place at several times. Mr. McMillen is a gentlman farmer and it would not be surprising to find that he devotes his spare time to the cultivation of rare and exotic plants, not unlike Mr. Jack Sharkey, the world's most famous petunia fancier. Mr. McMillen also is a director and considerable stockholder in a professional football team, and many other wrestlers, according to Mr. Foley, are university graduates, bank directors, club owners, corporation executives, musicians, artists, vocalists, etc.

It may hurt the public to learn these truths about their idols, but Mr. Foley feels that it is his duty to reveal them.

The facts are extraordinary. Reverse the findings, and try to compile a list of university graduates, bank directors, club owners, corporation executives, musicians, artists, vocalists, etc., who are wrestlers.

RETURN OF STATE NORMAL END TO STRENGTHEN LINE

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—The return of William Bennington of Bloomington, senior end, for three years a letterman, helped the football outlook at State Normal, today. Bennington is an excellent blocker and tackler. His presence means that Coach Howard Hancock will have three good ends in co-Captains Tom Neil and Stan Sleever and Bennington.

State Normal, resting in first place in the Little Nineteen conference standings, will meet its third league opponent of the year, Eureka, here, Saturday. Eureka is tied for last place in the conference standings, having lost to De Kalb Teachers and Bradley.

De Paul Rights a Wrong; 'Twas Clancy's Score

Coach Kelly then learned for the first time that Clancy, his big tackle, had scored the touchdown that brought the 6 to 0 victory over St. Ambrose at Davenport, Ia., last Sunday.

Clancy's vital part in the triumph had been overlooked in the general excitement surrounding the close battle. There had been a pileup over the goal line following Pete Barskis' blocking of a St. Ambrose punt in the second quarter and Andy Delaney, an end, was credited with the score.

"It was the first touchdown ever registered by Clancy," said Coach Kelly. "So we're certainly sorry Phil didn't get the credit due him."

Ross Leaves Today for Rest in Wisconsin

Barney Ross, lightweight and junior welterweight champion, will leave this morning for Gordon, Wis., to rest for ten days before opening training for a winter campaign. He will be accompanied by Art Winch, trainer and comanager.

His first match since he successfully defended his lightweight title against Tony Canzoneri may be arranged for next month at Houston, Tex., against Davey Abad. Then he is scheduled to face Billy Petrolle at New York on Dec. 8.

After Nov. 16 when the National A. A. U. convention convenes amateur bouts will be lengthened from three to five rounds with two minute rounds instead of three, it was indicated yesterday. The International amateur federation has adopted this change, and the National A. A. U. is expected to concur.

Jimmy Christy, Henry Fuscaldo, Chester Bukowski and Packey Rodak will appear in the amateur show tomorrow night at C. Y. O. center. Christy faces Ralph Thompson, and Fuscaldo will meet Frank Schultze.

Joey Kleko, south side lightweight, will box Steve Pajdo for the third time in a six round bout Friday at Cicero stadium. Kleko, who beat Eddie Chinski at White City Monday, lost to Pajdo and was held to a draw in previous four round matches. Other six round matches will bring together Bud Saltis and Ray Tramblie, and Kid Irish and Sammy Levine. Davey White will box Al Cabalby, and Frank Keevil will oppose Frank Sigillo at four rounds.

Johnny Fitzpatrick and Joey Bozak will fight in a preliminary on the card at Milwaukee, Wis., Monday. . . . Little Pal, Indiana Harbor, Ind., featherweight, will resume drills today after a layoff of three months because of an injury to his right hand. . . . Billy Celebron, Rockford, Ill., National A. A. U. welterweight champion, is in Buffalo, N. Y., where he is to make his professional debut Friday under the management of Hugh Shannon. . . . George Donoghue, president of the Central A. A. U., will confer with the Illinois athletic commission Monday on outlaw amateur boxing. . . . Eddie Ward, Karl Ogren, Bud Saltis and 14 other new members have started training at Traften's gynasium. . . . The Central A. A. U. has sanctioned a show tonight at the Community Recreation center.

Duck Hunting Spots Plentiful Along Illinois

BY BOB BECKER.

With the waterfowl hunting season already under way farmers and other land owners in the duck marshes down state are prepared for the annual influx of hunters who want one or more days in a blind when the mallards and pintails are flying.

While traveling down the Illinois river a few days ago we found not only the day shooting places which take in hunters for a fee but also the club properties eagerly waiting for the big October migration which brings thousands of ducks from the north. Shortly after this migration the Illinois river marshes are at their best for the waterfowl hunter.

Starting in at Bureau, Ill., on the upper river the day shooting places for hunters are quite numerous on the Illinois this season. Our notebook reveals the following memorandum on towns in the Illinois river valley which make a point of caring for hunters:

Bureau, Ill.—This town is just below the big bend in the Illinois where the river starts flowing south. Two or three marshes open to day shooters. Mostly mallard hunting. Rate, $8 to $10 per day.

Putnam, Ill.—Several tracts of land available for mallard hunting. Putnam is below Bureau on the Illinois river. If two men take a blind the charge is about $7.50 per man.

Henry, Ill.—This town is a few minutes by automobile below the town of Putnam. Accommodations for shooting with blinds on land.

Lacon, Ill.—Several large marshes open to day shooters near this town. Choice of hunting open water ducks on the river or mallards and pintails in the marshes is afforded. Rates run from $5 per day for a blind up to $10 per day for hunting pintails and mallards over live decoys. Usually there are lots of ducks in this locality. We saw mudhens by the thousands the last time we hunted near Lacon.

Chillicothe, Ill.—This is down river below Lacon. All marsh hunting at the places which take in day hunters. A single hunter is charged $10 per day and two men to a blind are taxed $7.50 each.

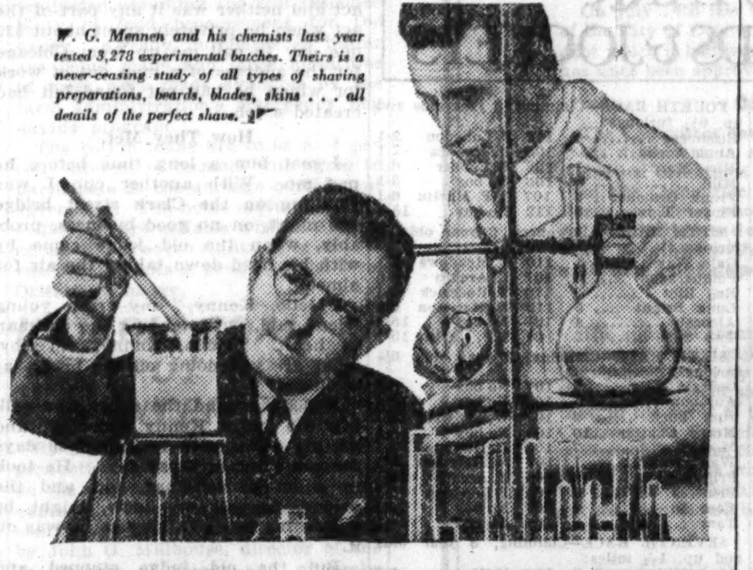
Havana, Bath, and Snicarte, Ill.—These towns are on the lower Illinois. Dozens of marshes and fields are available to day shooters. Rates usually are around $10 per day for blind and decoys.

W. G. Mennen and his chemists last year tested 3,278 experimental batches. Theirs is a never-ceasing study of all types of shaving preparations, beards, blades, skins . . . all details of the perfect shave.



LATHER OR BRUSHLESS

WHICH IS BEST FOR YOU?

MY ANSWER IS BASED ON TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF SHAVING STUDY—

W. G. Mennen

I MAKE both kinds. I have no axe to grind.

After studying shaving for 25 years I am convinced that one type of shave cannot suit all faces. Lather may be best for you—Brushless best for your neighbor. It depends on your shaving habits, your beard and—most important—your type of skin.

That's why I make both. Both wilt wiry whiskers. Both conquer the stubbornest stubble—so that the blade sails through—cuts clean—without pulling the hair—or scraping the skin.

But only your skin can decide which is best for YOU—Lather or Brushless.

If you have an oily skin—I recommend Mennen Lather Shave. You need that lather—to flush out your over-active pores. Mennen Lather loosens deeply-imbedded dirt and grease deposits. Cleanses the skin. Leaves your face healthier!

If you have a dry skin—I recommend Mennen Brushless Shave. It's a cream—not a grease—containing special fine ingredients for dry, thin, tender skins.

If you have a normal skin then it's merely a question of convenience—do you like to use a brush or not?

Either Mennen Lather Shave or Mennen Brushless Shave gives you that wonderful comfort that comes only when you thoroughly wilt your whiskers! . . .

BLUE DAY TAKES HAIRPIN TURNS IN EASY STRIDE

Half Mile Track Veteran Wins Like Machine.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Before a crowd which jammed the tiny racing plant in Cicero he took the track when Starter Tom Brown gave the word and stayed in front until the battle ended.

Skimming the short turns and galloping easily over the heavy track, he marched to victory like a machine. At the end he was well in hand and a length in front of Spartan Lady, a fashionably bred mare from Kentucky which races for Harry Herndeen of Chicago. Mecat, on which there had been a plunge near post time, faltered in the late stages. He was third, yet was beaten three lengths by the winner.

Blue Day Returns $15.72.

Blue Day, after two failures last week at Washington Park, wasn't regarded highly in the betting. As an outsider, he paid $15.72 to win, $7.18 to place, and $3.92 to show. Spartan Lady paid $7.12 to place.

Jockey J. Longden, who piloted Blue Day to victory, has served notice during the first two days of the Sportsman's Park season that he is perhaps the best half mile track rider on the scene. He knows how to make his mounts hug the rails as they round the hairpin turns. Racegoers who do not take the horses he rides into consideration are not likely to acquire much of a fortune.

During the bleak afternoon a cold wind was whistling through the wooden stands. The regulars at the track, who haven't been very lucky all year, shivered from the time the program opened until it ended.

They probably came to a full realization that the $2 lost here and there on Polly's Folly, Hopulikit, Sailor's Rainbo, Spud, Aladdin's Dream and others while the sun was shining might come in handy during the cold days which do not appear to be so far away.

Thomas H. Wins Opener.

Thomas H. nipped Lisheen in the first, Monnie triumphed in the second in which the favorite, Duelist, was out of the money; Prince Plato overthrew Sweet Lassie and Jimmie L. in the third, and Monty M. got a decision over Miss Flip in the fourth.

The fourth race was a contest in which the uncertainties of half mile track racing was most evident. Miss Flip had a commanding lead rounding the clubhouse bend the second time in the six and one-half furlong dash. When she reached the back stretch she quit so suddenly the railbirds came to the conclusion she had broken a leg or some other misery had come upon her.

Cedo Takes Lead, Bolts to Fence.

When she stopped Mrs. Val Crane's Cedo jumped out into a long lead. He immediately bolted to the outside fence. While all this was happening, Monty M. moved up from the rear and went on to win. Miss Flip didn't break down. She simply had stumbled. She came again strongly in the stretch and was wearing Monty M. down near the finish, to take second money.

When Monnie and Prince Plato, two outsiders, won the second and third races, they completed a daily double which paid $144.14. The holders of the winning tickets slapped one another on the backs just as they did away back in May and asked "how long has this game been going on?"

Time, :24 2-5, :50 2-5, 1:04 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Thomas H, $8.00 straight, $2.92 place, $3.06 show; Lisheen, $2.66 place, $2.54 show; Patsy Laura, $8.46 show. Winner trained by B. M. Rosenheim. Went to post at 2:12½. At post 3 minutes. Start good from gate. Won ridden out; second and third driving.

THOMAS H., away fast and suited by the going, was under snug restraint until reaching final furlong, where he was under vigorous riding. LISHEEN, probably best and also away fast, attempted to bolt when leaving the chute, lost ground the final three-eighths, and could not get to winner. PATSY LAURA weakened.

SECOND RACE—Five furlongs out of chute. Purse $500. Net value to winner, $400; second, $65; third, $25; fourth, $10.

Time, :24, :50 1-5, 1:02 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Monnie, $12.30 straight, $5.30 place, $4.96 show; Charlie, $8.84 place, $6.10 show; Actuarius, $21.80 show. Winner trained by C. O. Ray. Went to post at 2:43½. At post 3 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

MONNIE, mildly restrained for three-eighths, went to CHARLIE slowly under strong riding and was up in closing strides. Latter took command quickly, saved ground throughout and held on well under good handling, but was not good enough. ACTUARIUS, taken up sharply at first turn, lost ground thereafter and closed gamely in a fine effort.

THIRD RACE—Five furlongs out of chute. Purse $500. Net value to winner, $400; second, $65; third, $25; fourth, $10.

Daily double paid $144.14. Winner trained by N. K. Beal. Went to post at 3:13½. At post 4½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

PRINCE PLATO, away fast, stumbled before going an eighth, worked his way up gradually on outside and, wearing down JIMMIE L., outstayed SWEET LASSIE. Latter began slowly and came with a rush in final eighth. JIMMIE L. saved ground throughout and faltered slightly under pressure.

MONTY M., in close quarters soon after the start, moved up with a rush after five-sixteenths and, holding on well, outstayed MISS FLIP. Latter, lucky to get through in first quarter, eased herself up when entering final quarter, but came again stoutly in late stages and may have been best. PARA FOUR showed a good effort.

FIFTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse $700. Net value to winner, $550; second, $90; third, $40; fourth, $20.

Time, :24 2-5, :50 1-5, 1:16 2-5, 1:23 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Blue Day, $15.72 straight, $7.18 place, $3.92 show; Spartan Lady, $7.12 place, $4.28 show; Mecat, $3.10 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 4:18. At post ½ minute. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

BLUE DAY raced to a clear lead early, increased his margin when MECAT bore out, continued well under mild pressure, and withstood the challenge of SPARTAN LADY. Latter saved ground while gaining, offered a mild bid in the drive, but was not good enough. MECAT, a forward contender throughout, would have been more formidable but for losing considerable ground on the turns.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse $600. Net value to winner, $475; second, $75; third, $30; fourth, $20.

Time, :25 3-5, :51 1-5, 1:18 2-5, 1:45 3-5, 1:50 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Parties, $19.54 straight, $6.64 place, $4.76 show; Sergeant Hill, $4.16 place, $3.46 show; Jack Murphy, $4.08 show. Winner trained by E. McCuan. Went to post at 4:45. At post 5 minutes. Start bad from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

PARTIES, close to the pace, took command gradually and, holding on gamely, withstood SERGEANT HILL'S rush for a lucky win. Latter, probably best and given a badly judged ride, responded stoutly when urged hard and was rapidly getting to winner. JACK MURPHY had no mishap.

Time, :24 4-5, :50 2-5, 1:18 1-5, 1:46 4-5, 2:00 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: $12.12 straight, $5.38 place, $3.84 show; Beton, $4.34 place, $3.58 show; Prince Dunroyal, $13.00 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 5:13. At post 3 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; second and third same.

BANTU, never a great distance back, responded when urged hard and, wearing down BETON, won drawing away. Latter saved ground throughout and held on well to final fifty yards before faltering. PRINCE DUNROYAL had speed, bore out on the turns, and weakened but was best of others.

Court Refuses to Lift Ban on Dog Racing Track

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—A motion for the dissolution of a temporary injunction forbidding the operation of the Mississippi Valley Kennel club was denied today by Circuit Judge A. D. Reiss. Everett Lane, Centerville, who obtained a temporary writ a month ago describing himself as a "citizen and taxpayer," said he did so because he was promised a state job by Sheriff Jerome Munie and Deputy Sheriff William Hotz.

Babe Daniels Scores Decision Over Short

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Babe Daniels, Minneapolis featherweight, outpointed Wayne Short, St. Paul, in a six round bout here tonight. Daniels, with an advantage of seven pounds in weight, outboxed and outslugged Short. Daniels weighed 135 and Short 128.

Ah Wing Lee, Wallace Bout Off; Lee Is Hurt

Portland, Ore., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The ten round fight between Ah Wing Lee Chinese lightweight of Portland, and Billy Wallace of Cleveland, O., scheduled for tonight, was called off because a groin injury suffered by Lee in a sparring bout, had not yielded to treatment. No future date was set.

the artesian well in their acres up in Michigan which came a gusher that shot right over the roof before they had gone thirty feet into the rock. Moreover, he eased up often to let other people say their little say on one thing or another and the gathering broke up quietly along toward midnight without his having shaken the mane or stabbed anybody with that glare or that corkscrew forefinger as much as once.

As an act I can still enjoy the old jedge's amusing characteristics, but these things don't mean anything compared to the generous, square quality of the U. S. judge who once hocked his own life insurance to raise a thousand dollars to help out of trouble a cub reporter who was legging it around his court. That wasn't in the act and neither was it any part of the act when he privately spent about $20 one day to call me up from Chicago for the address of a man out of work for whom he had not found but had created a job.

How They Met.

I met him a long time before he met me. With another cub I was standing on the Clark street bridge one night, on no good business, probably, when the old jedge came by with his head down taking the air for himself.

"Hello, Kenny," my fresh young friend said, not intending the old man to hear. "Hello, Kenny, old boy, what are you doing on the bridge at midnight?"

Nobody around the court was calling the judge Kenny Old Boy, and getting away with less than 30 days for contempt in those days. He took in a lot of territory, too, and the bridge, for all we knew, might be within his court as long as he was on it.

"Hello, cub," he said. "Oh, I'm just taking a walk. Nice night."

My friend the cub was the same who touched the judge for the loan later on.

As a czar I don't think he has amounted to much, but then the czar business was just an act strictly. As a man, though, he will sum up to pretty good figures when they add him up to his final total, and it does seem a pity that in the maintenance of the act the judge has misrepresented himself to the people entirely.

Bradley Coach Issues Call for Basket Practice

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 17.—Coach A. J. Robertson of Bradley Tech has issued his annual call for basketball practice. Bradley will be represented by an almost entirely new team since the only veterans will be Bill Getz and Lee Handley. Getz will lead all practice sessions during the remainder of the football season after which Handley will join him.

A number of last year's freshmen are ready for the call. Bob Tamplin, Harvey Corbin, John Conqueror, James Cunningham, Frank Finney, and Bob Lahey are among the sophomore players who will report for drill.

The schedule this year is one of the most ambitious ever arranged. Ten Little 19 conference games are to be played, six of them on the home floor. Notre Dame will come to Peoria on Dec. 22 for a pre-season game. Knox college also appears on the Indians' schedule with two games, one in Peoria and the other in Galesburg.

GASOLINE USER TO BE PROTECTED, SAYS SEC. ICKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—If the consumer of gasoline is gouged as a result of the price fixing policy announced yesterday by the government, an attempt will be made to protect him by setting maximum, as well as minimum, prices on petroleum and its products, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes promised today.

Ickes said, however, that he expected competition among dealers to keep the prices of gasoline and oil to the consumer down close to the minimum levels which he announced yesterday and which take effect in December. Cut throat competition and low prices, rather than gouging of the consumer, have been the bane of the oil industry thus far, Ickes maintained. He said that he could not estimate the increase in gasoline price which must result from the minimum crude oil and wholesale prices he set yesterday. He admitted that he had not studied this question.

Will Hear Complaints.

Representatives of the NRA consumers' advisory board, which has protested against his oil price fixing, will be heard, if they wish, when the hearings on the price schedule are held, Secretary Ickes explained.

Explaining that price fixing will break down unless production is controlled, Ickes today warned oil producing states to keep within their quotas. He notified the producing industry that drastic steps would be taken on Nov. 1, as circumstances required to curtail shipments in interstate commerce.

At the same time telegrams were dispatched to the railroad commission of Texas, the Kansas corporation commission and the corporation commission of Oklahoma, giving notice that the wide powers of the oil code would be exercised on Nov. 1, "if production is not curtailed to the quotas allowed. Sufficient time has elapsed for the industry to adjust itself to the new rate of operations.

Texas Limits Output.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—(AP)—An order restricting oil production in Texas to 957,550 barrels was issued today by the railroad commission of that state, and officials of oil regulatory bodies of Kansas and Oklahoma indicated those states voluntarily would bring oil production within federal limits by Nov. 1.

The limit set by the Texas railroad commission, officials said, is 7,445 barrels under the allowable set by the federal government. The order was made effective immediately.

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Copper was reported available today at 7¾ cents from the last quoted price and a drop of 1¼ cents from the recently prevailing market.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—More inquiry developed for cotton goods today at slightly shaded prices. Business was generally quiet. Wool goods sold best in men's wear lines, dress goods and coatings being quiet. Rayons were firm and unchanged. Silks were steadier but quiet. Burlaps were inactive for spot or shipment.

Federal Bureau Asks Salaries of Big Companies' Executives

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—Large corporations with offices here reported today a new and, to them, disturbing development in the form of a questionnaire from the federal trade commission, containing several pages to be filled out with information hitherto considered confidential, bearing upon the salaries and other compensation received by their executive officers. What constitutes an executive officer apparently is not defined.

The information asked is the amount paid in salary, fees, bonuses, commissions, the cash value of stock rights and other indirect compensation which executive officers have received in each of the last five years. There is apparently no indication that the trade commission will attempt to preserve confidential such information as it may receive.

Wanted By Oct. 25.

The information is desired to be in the hands of the federal trade commission Oct. 25. It is not clear from the questionnaire for what purpose the data are needed or desired. Industrial company executives associated the movement on the part of the trade commission with the investigation recently instituted by the President into salaries paid motion picture stars and hazarded the opinion that the government was about to inquire similarly into salaries paid in industry in general.

Several corporation executives at once called in their general counsel and questioned the legality of the questionnaire and the powers of the trade commission. They got differing opinions, some attorneys taking the view that the commission could force the production of any kind of statistical data. Others felt the commission's powers were limited.

Congress Might Support Move.

Comment was general that if the information should be refused and the administration desired it, such refusal would merely delay its production, for congress in its present temper would readily authorize the commission to compel corporations to provide what was asked.

Another questionnaire has been received by certain classes of corporations. It is designed to show the extent to which their employment and pay rolls have expanded as a result of NRA codes. Such a questionnaire was addressed to chain stores and also to some of the large retail stores. It requests data on size of pay roll and number of employés as of June 17 and as of today.

PLAN TO ELIMINATE WASTE FROM UNFAIR PRACTICES IN TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Believing that the elimination of unfair trade practices, particularly between the producer and distributor, would go far to stablize business and aid in the recovery program, Gerard Swope, chairman of the business advisory and planning council for the department of commerce, has appointed a special committe headed by Lincoln Filene, of William Filene Sons company, of Boston, to make an intensive study of the subject.

Mr. Filene expressed the opinion that preventable wastes amounting to many millions of dollars annually have been caused by such practices and that their elimination is urgent and "enters integrally into the success of the recovery program for business."

Particular attention, Mr. Filene said, would be given by the committee to the effects of unfair trade practices upon the consuming public. He pointed out that the cost of such practices not only constitutes a disturbing influence to industry, but is ultimately passed on to the consumer or reflected in lower wages for labor.

"Business men throughout the country are today," said Mr. Filene, "faced with an opportunity of beginning, once and for all, a process of house cleaning which over the years will most certainly make for more profitable business, more stable business and more social stability. In the past the great wastes from unfair trade practices have resulted in lower wages, higher prices to the public and losses which business had to absorb from its profits. "The future, as we see it today, will demand higher wages to employés, fair prices to the public and fair profits to business men."

Bertrand Walker Retires as N. Y. Central Attorney

BUSINESS MEN MORE HOPEFUL, SAYS REYNOLDS

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—[Special.]—Larger volume of business, higher profits and progress are instilling hope in business men, said Arthur Reynolds, former chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and now vice chairman of the board of Bank of America, on his return today from a five weeks' tour of the east.

"Generally speaking,' 'he said, "a larger volume of business is prevailing and profits are running higher. As a consequence business men are hopeful for the future. Yet there can be no question but that the early movement under the new deal inaugurated by the President was rather rapid, in fact, more rapid than could have been expected to be maintained.

"Our progress this far has demonstrated that we should not be impatient, but should expect that our improvement in the future may be slow of accomplishment and may take a number of months. The entire plan under which we are working is so different from the old time ideas and practices that it is impossible to expect that they be made effective rapidly."

NATIONAL LABOR BOARD SETTLES SEVERAL STRIKES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Substantial progress in the clearing up of the national strike situation was announced by the national labor board today. Following the settlement yesterday of the strike of the Weirton, W. Va., steel workers, the board today set in motion plans for the early settlement of the strike in the Art Metal Construction company of Jamestown, N. Y., and the coal fields in western Kentucky. Also it rendered a decision in favor of the air pilots in the Eastern Air Transport case.

Senator Wagner of New York, chairman of the board, said the officers of the Art Metal Construction company will be in Washington tomorrow to confer with the board and he was hopeful that before the end of the day all would be peace in the Jamestown strike zone. At the same time, Senator Wagner announced the settlement of coal strikes in Alabama which will restore work to 2,000 miners employed in ten mines.

BANKERS WARNED TO MAKE LOANS FOR PUBLIC WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—The banks of the country were told today that unless they lend money to cities and states to launch public works in addition to those being financed by the federal government, they may find themselves supplanted by one national banking system.

Henry T. Hunt, general counsel of the public works administration, issued the warning, declaring that congress had expected the 3 billion 300 million dollars easy money fund to supplement and not replace bank lending for construction.

Banks have not lived up to this expectation, he affirmed. In retaliation the government may see fit to form "one system and thus provide an agency to finance a national plan," he said.

Ickes Raps Unworthy Projects.

At the same time that Hunt warned the banks, Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes told state advisory boards of his organization to disregard political and other pressure and turn down unworthy projects. Many proposals not deserving attention are leaking through to Washington, he said.

"Congress did not expect the public works fund to be the sole recourse of cities, but to eke out borrowings from other sources." Hunt, in denouncing the banks, declared. "This expectation so far has not been fulfilled. Although the government has made available to financial institutions almost six billions of dollars, the cities will have been able to borrow in this year from them not more than 600 millions, a half billion less than the average. If recovery is to be achieved, they must do their part and provide credit. Perhaps congress will find it necessary to constitute the 49 banking systems of the country into one system and thus provide an agency to finance a national plan."

Berle Urges Bank Law Changes.

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—A thorough revision of federal banking laws, especially of the Glass-Steagall act embodying a deposit insurance plan, was called for today by Prof. A. A. Berle of Columbia university, one of President Roosevelt's economy advisers. Addressing the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York, he said he believed the next session of congress would be ready to adopt an improved act.

The association later heard a special committee report that a permanent plan of deposit insurance was "unsound in principle and does not offer an ultimate solution of the banking problems of the country." Delegates voted, however, to defer action until a special meeting.

620,000 RETURN TO WORK ROLLS IN SEPTEMBER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, announced today a return to employment of more than 620,000 workers during September. This continued for the sixth successive month a steady rise in pay rolls and employment from the low point of last March, which, according to the bureau of labor statistics, showed an estimated gain of more than 2,700,000 workers and an increase in total weekly wages disbursed of nearly $64,000,000.

"The gains in pay rolls in the seventeen groups surveyed by the bureau," Miss Perkins said, "indicates that approximately $10,000,000 more was paid out in weekly pay envelopes in September than in August."

Pay rolls, which still lag behind employment, are now at the October, 1931, level, and employment back to the level of April of that year, she announced.

Employment Index Rises.

Employment in manufacturing industries increased 3.2 per cent last month, as compared with August and pay rolls increased 2.7 per cent over the month interval. The index of employment in September stood at 73.9, compared with 71.6 in August, and the September index of pay rolls was 53.3, compared with 51.9 in the preceding month.

Lagging pay rolls indicate part time employment, but they also show that people are going back to work, even if not on a full time basis.

"This increase in employment of nearly two-thirds of a million persons does not represent the total number of persons who were returned to employment in all branches of industry," Miss Perkins said. "The industries surveyed each month by the bureau of labor statistics normally employ about twenty million of the forty-nine million of gainful workers of the country.

"Reports of the interstate commerce commission show an increase of 16,000 workers on class 1 railroads between August and September.

Public Works Helps Some.

Data available for public road construction show a gain of approximately 35,000 workers between the last day of August and the last day of September, and agriculture normally employs more workers in September than in August.

"Only a very small portion of the more than 300 million dollars which has been let in contracts by the public works administration to date had been awarded on Sept. 15, and the increase in employment resulting from these contracts is not reflected in these September employment tabulations."

The seasonal increase is canning, Miss Perkins said, accounted for an addition of 70,000 workers to that industry in September. The percentage gains in the wholesale trade, also seasonal, and building construction industries, in which the general trend is downward at this time, indicate an estimated reëmployment of more than 20,000 workers in each of these groups over the month interval. Smaller gains were shown in the remaining groups.

Factory Jobs Up 200,000.

The increase of 3.2 per cent in employment of manufacturing industries last month represents an estimated gain of over 200,000 workers, and the increase of 2.7 per cent in factory pay rolls indicates that the total weekly pay rolls of factory employés in September were approximately $3,000,000 greater than the total weekly pay rolls disbursed in August in all manufacturing industries combined.

The September factory index figure of 73.9 shows a gain of 34.1 per cent over the last March low of 55.1. The pay roll index in September of 53.3 stands 59.6 per cent above the level of the March pay roll index of 33.4. These percentage changes, according to the bureau of labor statistics, indicate an increase in employment in manufacturing industries of approximately 1,700,000 workers over the six months interval and an increase of nearly $64,000,000 in weekly wages in September over the total paid in one week in March, 1933.

General Motors Overseas Trade Shows Big Increase

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—General Motors corporation reports sales in overseas markets in September totaled 11,356 units, an increase of 97 per cent, compared with September last year and 40 per cent above the like month in 1931.

Chesapeake & Ohio Net for Nine Months Higher

Chesapeake and Ohio railway in the nine months ended Sept. 30 had net income of $20,393,857 after taxes, charges and sinking fund appropriations, equal to $2.66 a common share. This compared with $15,437,252 or $2.01 a share in the corresponding period of 1932.

STOCKS REBOUND WHEN U. S. BUYS WHEAT, COTTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—Advices from Washington indicating that the government was coming to the aid of the falling speculative markets by heavy purchases of wheat and cotton precipitated a spirited rally on the stock exchange today. Trading assumed the broadest scale in weeks and prices advanced 2 to 7 points. Volume was around 2,483,000 shares.

Technical conditions contributed strongly to the rally. The market has been on the decline for weeks and the bears obviously have lately been running into too much support for their taste. An advance of 80 cents in the official price of gold, a moderate slump of the dollar in the foreign exchange markets and information indicating a return of capital suggested support for securities and helped to set the stage for the turnabout.

Short Sellers Retreat.

When the Washington dispatch telling of the government's entrance into the wheat market came the shorts proceeded to take it on the run. This started prices whirling upward and buying orders began to pour in from all directions. Then came word that the government was not only buying wheat but that it was a large scale buyer of cotton, and the rally became general. Prices moved up steadily during the last two hours or so, with activity brisk in every department.

Liquor and mining shares set the pace but chemicals, various specialties and some of the rails also were in brisk demand. The bulge in wheat, which followed receipt of word of the government's new venture in the grain pit, had a healthy effect on the farm implements and mail order issues. J. I. Case scored a net gain of nearly four points.

In the repeal department, National Distillers again was the outstanding leader, rising more than 7 points above its previous closing level.

High Grade Rails Advance.

Various high priced rails came back from their yesterday's lows with a bang. New York Central, Union Pacific, Atchison, New Haven, Delaware and Hudson, and Lackawanna were up 1 to more than 2 points.

The petroleum stocks had another of their good days and the various Standard Oils recovered 1 to 2 points of their late losses.

Utilities braced up anew and the chemicals were given a fling, with Allied Chemical going up more than 4 points.

All the old line leaders like United States Steel, American Can, American Telephone and the like moved ahead in aggressive fashion.

Armour to Erect Building to House Canning Factory

A building permit was issued to Armour & Co. yesterday for the erection of a three-story brick building, designed to house a canning factory at 1238 West 43d street. The cost is placed at $65,500.

RFC Seizure of Bank Voting Power Hints of Political Rule

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Now that three leading banks in New York and one in Chicago have decided to accede to the administration's demand that banks increase their capital structures by selling preferred stock to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and banks in other cities are preparing to follow suit the question of voting powers for this preferred stock is the principal subject of conversation and negotiation.

Reports have come from New York that the delay in getting the program under way there has been due in large part to the bankers' objection to the RFC insistence on voting provisions for the preferred.

The emergency banking act of March 9, which authorized the purchase by the RFC of preferred stock in manks, makes no provision for conferring voting power upon the RFC merely because it buys the stock.

* *

Holders of such preferred stock, says the act, "shall have such voting rights and such stock shall be subject to retirement in such manner and on such terms and conditions as may be provided in the articles of association with the approval of the controller of the currency."

In other words, whether or not the RFC is to obtain voting rights depends upon the results of negotiations between the individual bank and the directors of the RFC. After they have arrived at a mutually satisfactory arrangement the bank's articles of association are to be amended accordingly and then the amendments are given to the controller of the currency for his approval.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC, however, has repeatedly insisted that the stock he buys must have voting rights. There has been published a letter received by Mr. Jones from President Roosevelt in which the President pointed out that it was not the purpose of the administration to assume control of the management of banks through acquisition of their preferred shares. Nevertheless, Mr. Jones is reported to have demanded votes even though they were not to be exercised.

* *

This is a new departure for the Reconstruction corporation and is a step not required under the law. In the past the RFC has lent millions to banks, railroads, insurance companies, and other financial institutions without asking a share in the voting control.

The financial community both here and in New York have been unable to account for this move on the part of the RFC. It can hardly be justified on the ground of the lack of soundness of the investment, because the preferred stock of the nation's leading banks is about the soundest form of investment that the RFC could make.

A government body which is ready to make 10 cent loans on 9 cent cotton, without any qualms as to the soundness of the investment, it is pointed out, could hardly justify its demands for a share of voting rights where the security it acquires is of the highest grade, as in the case of preferred stock in the biggest banks.

* *

The argument has been advanced that in the case of some of the smaller and weaker banks the RFC feels that it should share in the management to protect its investment and that it could not discriminate in favor of the big institutions without creating a distinction in the public mind.

If the RFC succeeds in enforcing its demands for votes, the outcome, it is believed, will be a shift of supervisory powers from the federal reserve board and the controller of the currency to the Reconstruction Finance corporation. This shift the RFC is understood to favor, because, unlike the federal reserve board, it has blue chips at stake.

This may alter somewhat the complexion of the national banking system. In the past the office of the controller of the currency and the federal reserve board have been assumed to be above partisan politics.

No such claims are made for the Reconstruction corporation. Gradually appointments in district offices are being shunted into the political grab bag, it is reported. In the Chicago regional office of the RFC officers and clerks are now chosen on the basis of political sponsorship. Officers lacking this sponsorship have been resigning to take banking positions.

The assurance that the RFC will stay out of bank management even though it should acquire voting rights is accepted in the financial district as a sincere pronouncement but one which is susceptible to shading later on should political necessity become too pressing.

BROKERS DOUBT BEING QUIZZED BY U. S. SENATE

The declaration of Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the United States senate committee on stock market practices, that he will subpoena all members of the New York stock exchange, was taken with a grain of salt by Chicago brokers yesterday. Between 50 and 60 Chicago brokers hold seats on the New York exchange, but as far as could be learned none of them had received a summons from the senate committee.

Pecora's threat was regarded by brokers here as a publicity stunt designed to get his name in the limelight while running for office. The belief was expressed that none of the members will ever appear before the senate group.

Brokers were emphatic in declaring that if they were forced to go to Washington the government would have to foot the bill for expenses. One broker pointed out that the committee's $50,000 appropriation would fall far short of paying the expenses.

2 BAKING FIRMS' PROFITS HIGHER IN LAST QUARTER

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—The National Biscuit company reports for the quarter ended Sept. 30 net profit of $4,145,208, equal after preferred dividends to 59 cents a common share, compared with $3,415,597 or 47 cents a share in the previous quarter and $3,902,692 or 55 cents a share in the September quarter of 1932. For the first nine months of this year net income totaled $10,643,633, equal to $1.48 a common share, against $12,402,688 or $1.76 a share in the same 1932 period.

United Biscuit Company of America reports net profit of $293,200 for the September quarter, equal to 59 cents a common share. This compares with $208,122 or 41 cents a share in the preceding quarter and $184,342 or 36 cents a share a year ago. For the first nine months of 1933 net profit was $710,446, equal to $1.41 a common share, against $646,785 or $1.27 a share in the corresponding 1932 period.

U. S. OPENS VAST WHEAT BUYING TO HELP NEEDY

40,000,000 Bushels Likely Total.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The Roosevelt administration today arranged for the purchase of approximately 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and completed its cotton loan program in moves calculated to provide resistance to recent falling prices of the two commodities.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, announced purchase of the wheat at six markets through the Farmers National Grain corporation for the account of the federal emergency relief administration, which will distribute it to the needy.

In some official circles it was also regarded as likely that the relief administration would shortly announce a plan of cotton purchases for relief purposes for the winter.

Additional purchases of the grain throughout the winter—reaching a possible high of 40,000,000 bushels—were reported in contemplation by the government to supplement its purchases through the new surplus relief corporation.

Arrange for Cotton Loans.

At the same time came announcement that the organization of the Commodity Credit corporation had been completed and would be ready by the end of the week to make available the first of its loans to cotton producers. Loans of eight and ten cents a pound, depending on the type of cotton, will be offered to producers on the unsold portion of this year's crop provided they join in the acreage reduction control program for next year.

The wheat purchases were made at the Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Omaha, Buffalo and Baltimore exchanges. They consisted of both cash wheat and some for December delivery. The farm credit administration made a temporary loan to the Farmers National Grain corporation to make the purchases. The relief administration will pay for the grain soon after it takes it over and other purchases will be made from time to time as required in the relief program.

Will Process Part of Grain.

Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, wil arrange for the processing of the grain where necessary. His office reported that the quantity of wheat that would be required for the needy was still uncertain. It was estimated that the purchase of 1,000,000 bushels meant that material would be available for 60,000,000 loaves of bread.

Hopkins' organization estimated that it would have the responsibility of feeding approximately 15,000,000 people this winter. The initial purchase if distributed among this large group of needy would amount to only about four loaves of bread for each person. As a result, it was estimated that frequent additional purchases would be required if the relief organization contemplated assuming the full responsibility of food procurement for the needy. Already purchases of butter are being made and large quantities of meat were made available by the farm administration's emergency hog buying program.

The cotton loans are to be at 4 per cent interest to farmers who agree to participate in the acreage curtailment agreement. The notes mature on July 1, 1934, or are callable when the price of middling seven-eights spot cotton reaches 15 cents a pound on the New Orleans exchange.

ILLINOIS COAL OUTPUT UP AS WINTER NEARS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Coal production in Illinois mines continues on the upgrade as the winter months approach. According to the monthly coal production report issued today by John G. Millhouse, director of the department of mines and minerals, Illinois mines during September showed a gain of 112,198 tons over August, and also a gain of 452,140 tons over September, 1932.

Seven more mines produced coal during September than in August. Employment was given to 766 more men, as mines continued the same general trend in average days worked.

Production in the coal fields for this year, including September, reached 24,140,294 tons, compared with 20,318,998 tons for the corresponding period of 1932.

New Federal Bond Offering Quickly Sold

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—The federal government tonight closed the cash sales of its new 3¼ per cent bonds, having sold all of the half billion dollars in two days.

Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, in announcing the end of the cash sales, explained that trading of the new bonds for Fourth Liberty loan bonds, which are being refunded, will continue for some time.

Two operations have been under way in the current bond offering, the refinancing of the Fourth Liberty loan, at least in part, and the sale of bonds for cash.

Any Fourth Liberty loan bond may be traded for one of the new issue, and those Liberty bonds bearing serial numbers ending in 9, 0, or 1, or bearing the letters J, K, or A, must either be traded or cashed because they have been called effective April 15, 1934.

The cash offering of the new bonds, limited to 500 million dollars or thereabouts, was well received, the treasury said. A large oversubscription probably will be shown when federal reserve banks complete the sending in of data. Sales, however, have been somewhat slower than those on the treasury's bond offering in August.

DOLLAR SAGS OFF TO 68.16 CENTS AS DEMAND LESSENS

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Repatriation of American capital and covering of short dollar commitments by European speculators slowed down today and foreign exchanges rallied sharply.

The dollar, rather heavy all day, closed weak in terms of the pound and continental gold currencies. In terms of gold the dollar closed at 68.16 compared with 69.59. The reversal of the dollar trend was attributed by dealers partly to a change of opinion regarding nearby monetary stabilization in the United States and to improved sentiment regarding the European political situation.

The British pound sterling held a net gain of 4½ cents at a cable rate of $4.59, French francs gained .11¾ of a cent at 5.74¾ cents, Dutch guilders spurted 1.17 cents to 59.20 cents and Belgian belgas and Swiss francs advanced .37 and .55 of a cent, respectively. German marks rallied .73 of a cent at 34.85 cents and the Scandinavians, Canadian dollar and far eastern funds firmed.

Salary 1½ Millions in 4½ Years.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Albert H. Wiggin, retiring last winter as chairman of the Chase National bank, received from the executive board a salary of $100,000 a year for life. He had received about $1,500,000 in salaries and bonuses from the bank and other corporations in the four and a half years immediately preceding his retirement.

The banker's compensation was revealed today when Mr. Wiggin was called to testify before the senate banking committee. His salary from the bank, he disclosed, was $175,000 in 1929, $217,750 in 1930, $250,000 in 1931, $220,300 in 1932, and $52,970 in the first six months of 1933. In addition to these amounts, aggregating $917,020, the bank, which during part of this time was losing millions, paid him $350,000 in bonuses.

$83,000 More in Directors' Fees.

His pay from the various directorates he held during this period, Mr. Wiggin said, amounted to about $83,000 a year, of which about $40,000 at one time came from Armour & Co.

To questions put to him by Ferdinand Pecora, counsel to the committee, Mr. Wiggin acknowledged that his associates always suggested the additional compensation he was to receive.

"And I helped to fix theirs," he added.

Mr. Pecora was interested.

"You helped to fix theirs and they helped to fix yours?" he asked.

Mr. Wiggin nodded assent. "Yes," he explained, "we all sat together."

It was brought out by Mr. Pecora that loans to some of the fifty-nine companies from which Mr. Wiggin drew salaries figured in the losses of the Chase National bank. Mr. Pecora, dwelling on the subject of loans, placed particular emphasis on some of them.

$3,100,000 Loan to B.-M. T.

A loan of about $3,100,000 made to Gerhard Dahl, chairman of the board of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit company, was revealed. The callateral was considerably less. Another loan of about $3,300,000 to A. R. Graustein of the International Paper company went into the record.

Evidence was presented that Mr. Wiggin at one time had drawn $20,000 a year from the B.-M. T. and $2,000 a year from the paper company.

To the holders of Bonds and Notes of

The City of Detroit, Michigan

On July 14th last the undersigned Committee advised all holders of Bonds and Notes of the City of Detroit, Michigan of the Refunding Plan for the readjustment of the City's debt which it had worked out with the cooperation of the City Administration and which has since been approved by the Public Debt Commission of the State of Michigan.

Distribution of Interest by the Committee.

The Committee has recently collected a substantial payment of interest for the account of its depositors, in accordance with its agreement with the City. It is expected that additional collections will be made as funds are available. Pending consummation of the Plan, the Committee expects to make a pro rata distribution of funds to the holders of all Bonds and Notes who have deposited with the Committee on or before December 15, 1933. All bondholders desiring to share in this distribution must, therefore, deposit their holdings with the Committee on or before December 15, 1933, as Bonds and Notes not deposited will not be eligible to share in such distribution.

Cost of carrying out the Plan.

The approval granted by the Public Debt Commission of the State of Michigan to the Refunding Plan stipulates that the cost of the refunding shall not exceed $1,000,000 which is to be paid solely by the City of Detroit, as provided in the Contract. It further stipulates that no assessment shall be made against the depositors for any part of this cost, except that, in the event of the failure of the City to pay such cost when and as provided in the Contract, the Committee may defray the same from pro rata collections made on the deposited obligations. Such collections are to be reimbursed when payments are later made by the City. This stipulation of the Public Debt Commission is entirely satisfactory to the Committee which from the beginning has maintained that no part of the cost of carrying out the Plan should be borne by the bondholders.

Progress of the Plan.

Bonds and Notes deposited with, and controlled by the Committee, the holders of which have accepted the Refunding Plan, amount to $150,599,632. This amount constitutes 53 per cent of the obligations of the City which are affected by the Plan.

The Committee desires to consummate the Refunding Plan as promptly as possible in order that bondholders may soon receive the new refunding bonds and the regular payment of their interest as provided in the Plan. This can be accomplished only through the prompt cooperation of all bondholders in immediately depositing their Bonds with the Committee. Bonds and Notes should be deposited with any of the following institutions, accompanied by a proper Letter of Transmittal, which will be provided by the Secretary, or by any of these institutions:

Bankers Trust Company, New York, New York.
City Bank Farmers Trust Company, New York, New York.
Detroit Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan.
The Michigan Trust Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The Committee urges the immediate deposit of all Bonds and Notes covered by the Refunding Plan. Copies of the Plan are available to all bondholders who should address their inquiries to the Secretary of the Committee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—The listed bond market rallied moderately today, with foreign loans scoring the best recoveries. In the domestic corporation issues utility bonds showed wider recoveries on the average than did railroad and industrial issues. United States government bonds closed irregular, six of the thirteen active issues holding unchanged, three moving up 1-32 to 2-32 points, and four easing 1-32 to 4-32.

French and German loans led the recoveries in the foreign group, the former gaining 1½ to 3¾ points and the latter up to a maximum of 3 points. Swiss government 5½s rallied 4⅝ points. Less talk of a stabilized dollar, with the consequent firming of the leading foreign exchanges, prompted a better tone in the foreign issues, notably the so-called gold payment bonds.

In the domestics railroad bonds were actively dealt in, with advances and declines in the more active liens about a standoff at the close of the market. Particular strength was manifested by the obligations of Alleghany corporation, Baltimore and Ohio, the Erie, New York, Chicago and St. Louis, and Southern railway. Setbacks were generally accorded the liens of the International-Great Northern, the Missouri Pacific, and many of the issues of New York Central, New Haven, and the Pennsylvania.

Mild rallies were noted in both domestic and foreign bonds on the Curb exchange. The principal gains amounted to a point or two in both groups. Trading on the Curb, as on the Stock exchange, was fairly heavy.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Declares 50 Cent Extra

Directors of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share and also an extra dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock, both payable Nov. 15 to stockholders of record Nov. 4. The extra dividend is equivalent to two quarterly dividends omitted on the stock in the current year.

American Hide & Leather.

Investors' Guide: Will you give me information on preferred and common stock of American Hide and Leather?—B. H. H.

Answer: American Hide and Leather company supplies about 18 per cent of all the calf leather consumed in this country and about 10 per cent of the side upper leather. Between 90 and 95 per cent of output is for manufacture of shoes.

Operations during the last 15 months have been at a profitable rate for the first time for more than five years. This was due to rising prices, which eliminated inventory writeoffs, and larger sales.

Tannery operations in September, 1933, were at about 80 per cent of capacity. Net income for July and August, 1933, was $240,000, or $2.40 per preferred share. It was estimated on Oct. 4, 1933, that net for the three months to Sept. 30, 1933, equaled $3.50 per preferred share.

Realization of profits on the large inventory built up during periods of low prices, and increased volume sales enabled the company to report profit of $628,000, or $6.28 per preferred share, for the year ended June 30, 1933. This compared with loss of $1,374,000 in the preceding year, loss of $704,000 in the 1931 year and loss of $68,000 in the 1930 year.

On Sept. 2, 1933, current assets, including $208,000 cash and $2,212,000 inventories, totaled $3,275,000, and current liabilities were $147,000. There were no bank loans or funded debt.

There are outstanding 100,000 shares of 7 per cent preferred on which no dividends have been paid since Jan. 1, 1921. There are unpaid dividends of approximately $200 a share accumulated on the preferred.

The tanning industry during the last 10 years has been confronted by a shrinking market, overcapacity, overproduction, and a widely fluctuating price structure. These are factors which may yet have a determining influence on future earnings.

A continuation of present earnings will place the management in a position where it can make a decision as to which course it intends following—straight payment of preferred dividends or recapitalization.

Investors' Guide: I noticed your article concerning Chicago Utilities company stock. I am interested in purchasing worthless stock certificates at nominal prices for educational purposes. Will you please give me the name of the party who made this inquiry so I might contact with him?—A. P. L.

Answer: Sorry, but the names of all inquirers must be held in confidence. We suggest you consult your local broker. He can probably put you in touch with some person who would be willing to dispose of worthless stocks at waste paper prices.

GOVERNORS OF 3 STATES REFUSE WHEAT EMBARGO

Court Fight Likely Over North Dakota Action.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 17.—(AP)—The effort of Gov. William Langer of North Dakota to extend the wheat shipment embargo to six other states in what he termed "a patriotic service to the government" by seeking higher prices for the farmer was meeting with difficulties tonight.

Even before Gov. Langer sent messages to six wheat states' executives a court fight over his order loomed. And three of the six governors said they would not join him.

A fourth declined comment after the attorney general of his state said he lacked authority. The other two could not be reached.

Gov. Langer, who told the governors he believed a six state embargo would help the national recovery program by increasing agricultural purchasing power, expressed satisfaction with developments since he proclaimed his ban on out-state shipments yesterday.

Takes Effect Thursday.

It becomes effective at 12:01 a. m., Thursday, and the governor has power to call out national guardsmen, if necessary, to enforce his order against movement of about 58,000,000 bushels of wheat now in the state, the state adjutant general to whom enforcement was left, was out of town today and plans for enforcement awaited his return.

Counsel for four railroads, all doing a big business in hauling North Dakota grain, studied the embargo proclaimed in this year's chief wheat production state—and considered what legal steps might be taken to combat it.

Expects Court Action.

Gov. Langer asserted a court attack would not surprise him but that he belived his action and the law legal.

Messages were sent by Gov. Langer to governors of South Dakota, Montana, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, and Kansas, urging them to "unite solidly" in declaring an embargo.

Early reaction to his proposal was not favorable, however, Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota said he did not know whether he had authority to declare an embargo but would not hesitate if he believed the farmer would be aided. He questioned effect of the embargo, however, and said he would not proclaim one.

Gov. Tom Berry, South Dakota, expressed sympathy with any plan to increase wheat prices but said he would not issue a ban on wheat shipment. He said he believed he lacks authority.

Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa asserted he had no intention of issuing a prohibitory order, while Gov. C. W. Bryan of Nebraska declined comment after his attorney general said he lacked authority.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—COFFEE was higher today on trade and commission house buying late in the session, probably influenced by the upturn in wheat. Locals and other trade interests sold. DETROIT TO PAY PART OF INTEREST ON CITY'S BONDS NOW IN DEFAULT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—The city of Detroit, Mich., bondholders' refunding committee announced today that the initial payment of interest on Detroit's funded debt, exclusive of water and street railway bonds, since it went into default in February, would be paid on or before Dec. 15. The amount to be disbursed is $1,118,730, although this amount may be increased by further collections.

B. A. Tompkins, vice president of the Bankers Trust company of New York, who heads the committee, explained today that only the bonds and notes deposited with the committee would be eligible to share in the distribution. A total of $150,599,632 of bonds and notes, representing 53 per cent of the total outstanding, has been deposited with the committee.

To consumate the refunding plan, whereby bondholders will receive the new refunding bonds and the regular payments of interest as provided in the plan, the committee asks the immediate deposit of all remaining bonds and notes covered by the plan. The city's obligations which do not come under the plan are the street railway bonds, on which the interest has been paid regularly, and the water bonds on which the interest payments were resumed on July 1, last.

SHAWINIGAN NET SHOWS INCREASE FOR 3D QUARTER

The Shawinigan Water and Power company report for the three months ended Sept. 30 shows an increase in revenue, compared with the preceding three months and the corresponding period of 1932. Gross revenue for the third quarter of 1933 amounted to $3,096,556, against $2,986,540 in the second quarter, and $3,079,109 in the third quarter of last year.

Net revenue, after general operating and maintenance expense, power purchased, water rentals, taxes, and insurance and United States exchange on fixed charges, amounted to $1,790,822, compared with $1,658,681 in the preceding quarter and with $1,790,143 in the third quarter last year.

Directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 12 cents a share on the common stock, payable Nov. 15 to shareholders of record Oct. 25.

GRAINS RECOVER; WHEAT UP LIMIT ON U. S. BUYING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Government buying of cash wheat and futures for relief purposes, officially said to have been around 1,000,000 bushels, came to the assistance of the grain market yesterday. This buying helped along an advance that did not culminate until the price was 5 cents above Monday's finish, the maximum amount permitted under the exchange regulations for one day. Corn gained 4 cents and oats 3 cents, also the maximum.

All commodities soared upward during the day, cotton gaining around $2.50 per bale with trade reports suggesting purchases of around 40,000 bales in New York by the AAA, presumably representing interdepartment government operations. Silver was up 110 to 140 points; cottonseed oil, 22 to 31 points; sugar, 2 to 5 points; rubber, 29 to 43 points, and hides, 15 to 19 points. In a majority of instances these advances more than recovered the sharp decline of the previous day.

Grain Closes at Top.

The grain markets all finished at the best figures of the day, but only after the most violent fluctuations witnessed since the debacle last July. December wheat, which closed at 69⅞ cents on Monday, opened as high as 74¼ cents, broke to 67½ cents, a new low on the crop, under a wave of liquidation, and then advanced to 74⅞ cents at the close. December corn closed at 41⅞ cents after selling as low as 37⅝ cents. December oats, after selling at 25 cents, a new low for the season, sold up to 28½ cents at the last.

Rye gained 4⅝ to 5 cents for the day, with December closing at 52¾ cents. Barley was 4½ to 5 cents higher, the December being 44 cents. This delivery is the only future in any grain that has not sold at a new low for the year during the last three business days.

Price Changes Violent.

According to trade gossip there was heavy and persistent buying of wheat futures yesterday by one of the largest professional traders in the country. He is understood to have been out of the market for a number of months, but is quoted as saying he regarded the break as having run its course and is backing his judgment with heavy buying orders. At one time prices on the blackboard were as much as one cent out of line with the actual trading in the pit.

At the low point yesterday all grains, based on gold, had reacted to around the lowest levels reached by the May delivery last March, or before the bank moratorium. December wheat at the inside figure, gold basis, was around 47¼ cents per bushel; corn, 25⅞ cents; oats, 17½ cents; rye, 30¾ cents, and barley, 25½ cents.

Range of Prices in Gold.

The range of prices on the December deliveries of leading grains for the season to date, compared with the lowest level reached by the May future last March, follows:

	March Low.	High.	Low.	Close Yes'day.
Wheat	$ .46	$1.24	$ .67½	$ .74⅞
Corn	.23½	.77	.37⅝	.41⅞
Oats	.15¾	.52¾	.25	.28½
Rye	.32⅞	1.11½	.44	.52¾
Barley	.25½	1.02	.36½	.44

URGE ROOSEVELT BREAK BRITISH ECONOMIC RULE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—Great Britain is waging economic warfare on the United States through its control of the world gold market and its pound "equalization fund," it was charged today in a letter sent to President Roosevelt by the Coommittee for the Nation, whose membership includes several prominent industrialists.

The committee urged President Roosevelt to declare that the United States intends to exercise control of its own currency, the domestic price level, and the price of gold "upon which all commodities and securities are valued throughout the world, and that this price level is going to be gradually raised forthwith, as stated in your message to the London economic conference."

Charges British Domination.

"We submit," the committee declared, "that so long as Great Britain has absolute undisputed control of the world price of gold, just so long will the Bank of England and the British equalization fund continue to dominate the American dollar, the American price of wheat and the price of commodities and securities.

"The British are waging an economic war. It is significant that every debt discussion with the British during the last two years has been accompanied by a sharp break in the pound sterling. It is to the British interest and strategy to interrupt our recovery program until they achieve cancellation of war debts.

Urge Raising of Prices.

"It appears urgently necessary for you to take immediate command of the price of gold and the exchange value of our dollar, and through these raise our price level of wheat, commodities, and securities, so that, as a nation, we may control our economic destiny independently of Great Britain.

"We are fearful of the consequences of further postponement of monetary action at this crucial state of our recovery program."

Members of the committee include J. H. Rand Jr., president of Remington Rand; Frederick H. Frazier, chairman of the General Baking company; Vincent Bendix, president of Bendix Aviation corporation; Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and F. H. Sexauer, president of the Dairymen's League Coöperative association.

COTTON PRICES REBOUND $2.50 BALE; CLOSE AT TOP

Cotton prices advanced around $2.50 per bale yesterday, with the close around the top. There was a liberal run of buying orders, both for trade and speculative account, with sentiment becoming more bullish as the day progressed.

Closing prices were at net gains of 48 to 51 points in Chicago and 42 to 51 points in other markets. Spots in New York were up 45 points at 9.45 cents; New Orleans, 45 points higher at 9.05 cents; with Houston and Galveston 50 points higher at 9.05 cents. Prices follow:

BUILDING WORK GAINS STEADILY SINCE LAST MAY

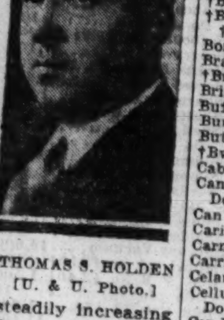
BY AL CHASE.



THOMAS S. HOLDEN [U. & U. Photo.]

Substantial progress on the road to recovery was reported for the construction industry by Thomas S. Holden of New York, vice president in charge of statistics and research of the F. W. Dodge corporation, who spoke yesterday at the annual convention of the American Hardware Manufacturers' association at the Palmer house. In an address before the builders' hardware section of that body Mr. Holden said construction has been steadily increasing since May until the September total of contracts actually let was the largest for any month since September, 1932.

The increase in contracts awarded was mainly in residential and factory work, which, he pointed out, are the most important indicators of recovery.

"Private construction work has been on the increase, as compared with last year, ever since May; a sustained improvement for five months," said Mr. Holden. "The month of May also saw a big increase in the volume of new plans for contemplated projects, much of it in anticipation of the federal public works program.

Most Contracts Since 1932.

"The volume of contemplated new work has steadily climbed month by month, until September saw the largest amount recorded for any month since April, 1930. The September total of all contracts actually let, including both private and public work, was the largest for any month since September, 1932.

"The progress that has been made is readily shown by the following figures: Contracts awarded for all classes of work in the thirty-seven states east of the Rocky mountains amounted to $122,615,000 in September, compared with $52,712,000 last February, which was the lowest figure recorded in many years.

"Contemplated new projects, planned for future contract letting, reached a total of $846,726,000 in September, compared with $101,843,000 last January, the lowest point reached in volume of new plans.

Tariff Revision Favored.

America's present tariff policy of equal rates to all nations should be revised so that high living standard countries, such as England, would pay the lowest rate, and nations like Japan, with low living conditions, pay the highest, according to Dr. Arthur L. Faubel, professor of economics, of New York university, who also addressed the hardware convention.

Dr. Faubel declared that the present equal tariffs to all countries works against the nations who might be America's best customers for high grade products.

BUTTER FUTURES BREAK ON HEAVY LIQUIDATION

Butter futures crashed under heavy selling on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, November breaking to the lowest level since last April. Closing prices were ⅜@½c lower. Eggs closed unchanged to ⅛c lower. News from Washington indicated the government plans to buy 9,000,000 pounds of butter next month for relief purposes. With stocks of 90,000,000 pounds, the trade was disappointed over the news, holding the buying would not prove of benefit before the production season started next spring. Selling was heavy from the start, liquidation coming out strongly. At the close, buying came in and caused a fair rally from the lows.

Eggs were under pressure but gained support at the close and rallied. Covering was noted on the early break and new buyers were encouraged later by storage news showing 20,000 cases more out than last year. Receipts: Butter, 218 cars; eggs, 181 cars. Deliveries: Eggs, 23 cars. Prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was strong today on covering and buying by cotton houses. Demand was promoted by the sharp gains in lard, cotton, grains and commodities generally on the report that the government was buying wheat for the Federal Emergency Relief corporation. Final prices were 22 to 31 points net higher. Sales, 39 contracts. Bleachable spot and Oct. closed, 4.00c; Dec., 4.27c; Jan., 4.34c; March, 4.59c; May, 4.68c.

HOGS CONTINUE DROP; AVERAGE 30 CENTS LOWER

Additional sharp losses were registered in hogs yesterday, with trading in big type swine practically demoralized. A heavy carry-over was in the pens after trading closed, many of them averaging over 300 pounds. These kinds sold $1 under a week ago.

The break during the first two days of this week has been the sharpest in many months, with prices off 60 to 80 cents, compared with the close last week. Top grades sank to the lowest point since Sept. 12, the top for full carload lots at $4.60 comparing with $5 early on the preceding day and with $5.55 on Monday last week. A small consignment yesterday sold at $4.65.

The general average was down 30 cents more at $4.20. Many heavy butchers selling at $4.50 to $4.75 a week ago were draggy at $3.50 to $3.65.

Other Markets Decline.

Sharp declines were reported at all outside markets and additional losses in the fresh pork trade added to the pressure on hogs. Buying yesterday again converged in the better grades of young hogs weighing 220 pounds and under, while the butchers and lard type swine were discriminated against, particularly the hogs exceeding 300 pounds in weight. The bulk of the good to choice 150 to 250 pound averages cashed on local account within a range of $4.40 to $4.50, with large local packers the principal buyers on the depressed market. However, all interests were again cautious.

The largest cattle receipts in two years continue to depress the market. Monday's actual arrivals were 28,882, the largest receipts since November, 1931. Yesterday's receipts exceeded expectations and were further augmented by a big carry-over from Monday's stagnant trade, resulting in another dragged out session at the lowest prices in more than 22 years.

Steer Market Depressed.

Unevenness yesterday ranged from steady to 25 cents lower than Monday. Prime 1,350 pound steers topped the market at $6.35, the highest sale of full carload lots, although a small lot of 1,080 pound long yearlings reached $6.40. As in hogs, buyers are bearish on overfat cattle and are discriminating against steers weighing over 1,400 pounds.

Lamb prices lost another notch yesterday, despite light receipts. Buyers were bearish in view of the sharp losses in cattle and hogs lately. City butchers sorted strong weight native lambs at $6.75 and below, while packers bought their selections at $6.50 to $6.75.

LARD SOARS MAXIMUM LIMIT FOLLOWING GRAIN

Lard yesterday reversed its action of Monday and advanced its maximum and closing around the top with net gains of 45 to 50 cents on futures. Bellies were actively bought and closed 12½ to 37½ cents higher the latter on October. The advance in grains and cotton had a strengthening influence on hog products despite the decline of 25 to 50 cents in hog prices.

Cash trade was better especially in lard with an advance of 50 cents in regular lard, 52½ cents on loose and 30 cents on leaf lard, while cash bellies were in demand with an advance of 12½ cents to 4.62½ cents.

Liverpool lard was 3 to 6d higher. There were export clearances of 1,105,180 pounds, and of bacon 103,500 pounds. Prices:

set aside by the Chase National bank as reserves against losses during the period of four years and seven months ended July 31.

Senator Adams [Dem., Colo.], displayed a keen interest in Mr. Wiggins' directorships. Replying to question of the senator, Mr. Wiggins said he had resigned most of these, but he did not disclose on what boards he is still serving.

Senator Adams wanted to know whether the bonuses Mr. Wiggins received had been paid as a credit to him for profits. Mr. Wiggin thought they had been.

Senator Adams wanted to know whether it worked the other way when losses had been suffered. Mr. Wiggin smiled and said they didn't. Both agreed the bonus "worked only one way."

Other Salaries and Bonuses.

Winthrop W. Aldrich—now president—salary, 1930, $87,500; 1931, $[illegible],000; 1932, $135,556; 1933 [first half], $87,500.

C. S. McCain, chairman board of directors—1929 salary $28,205, bonus $10,000; 1930, salary $129,166, bonus $40,000; 1931, salary $150,000; 1932, salary $135,556; 1933, $64,244.

John McHugh, chairman executive committee—1928, salary $100,000, bonus $10,000; 1929, salary $100,000, bonus $5,000; 1930, salary $100,000, bonus $10,000; 1931, salary $100,000; 1932, salary $92,687; 1933, salary $45,125.

R. S. Clarkson, vice chairman of the board, received a salary running as high as $77,916, with a bonus of $25,000, in 1930.

The list showed 92 vice presidents received salaries running as high as $77,000 and bonuses as high as $10,000 in 1930. One salary was as low as $2,500. Only about half of these officers got bonuses.

Reviews His Banking Career.

At the outset of his testimony Mr. Wiggin, reviewing his banking career, said that when he went to the Chase National as vice president in 1904 its capital was $1,000,000, surplus $1,000,000, and deposits $54,000,000.

"In 1911 I was made president," he said. "At that time the capital was $5,000,000, surplus $5,000,000, and deposits $100,000,000. The bank reached its greatest stature in 1930, following the merger with the Equitable Trust company. At that time the capital was $148,000,000, surplus $148,000,000, and deposits in excess of 2 billion dollars.

"At that time it was the largest bank in the world. Today it is one of the largest banks in the world and the largest bank in the United States."

John D. Rockefeller is the largest stockholder, Mr. Wiggin said.

Mr. Pecora announced tonight that six of the "most active" members of the New York Stock Exchange were served with subpoenas today, requiring them to appear before the committee Friday morning. They are John P. Duncan of W. E. Hutton & Co., Frank Murphy of Jules S. Bache & Co., Sayer Dominick of Dominick & Dominick, Edward A. Pierce of E. A. Pierce & Co., Louis J. Drevers of Erich & Drevers, and John M. Prentice of Hornblower & Weeks.

ARE YOU READY FOR A PERMANENT POSITION?

What has it cost you to try to find a job? How many calls have you made? What were the prospects? How is your former position shaping up? Are you likely to have as good a position as you had in 1927-'28-'29? If you have dependents, an aim in life and a little vanadium steel in your backbone, here is permanency beckoning to you. Perhaps in no other position can a man cash in on will-power, hours worked and determination as he can here—and likely nowhere else is so little value placed on past experience.

T. L. started much as you would start. He was a mechanic—a good one. But even good mechanics found themselves without work. Mr. L. gradually worked up to his present income. He felt happy when he made an average of $50.00 a week, happier when the average was $65.00 — and confident when it was $100.00. Last week this man earned $115.00, and the week before $137.50. His months range from $550.00 up to $650.00. He is one of the men who help new men coming into this business.

A. B. has been in this work nearly eight years, and he has had lots of success in that time. One day the end of last week he made $73.00 in a single day. H. A. W., in his 66th year, made $48.00 in one day last week. Both he and A. B. had been salesmen. H. H. had been an engineer. He duplicated Mr. W.'s performance. B. B., who was without any experience even bordering on this work, made close to $50.00 in a single day last week.

These are ordinary earnings. We can show you some big earnings if you are interested and believe you can hit the ball and make like success for yourself. All of the ingredients are here. If you mix them together, you will find that they consist of enthusiastic effort and the systematic way you put in your time. But please don't get to thinking of this as easy. If it were, then we would not take the lid off and let a man name his own income, based on results. But here you are never cut down. Our men make more in this work than they did for the same results five years ago. They never miss their money. It is here always for every man who earns it.

There are men in this office [and this is one of hundreds throughout the world], who have had incomes of $150.00 in a single day, and many with $200.00 to $245.00 weeks. There are men in this business who make regularly $800.00 to $1,250.00 and some even more monthly, on the SAME basis of compensation that YOU will realize. In no way have they any advantage over you. In fact, such men are happy to train and help you. Neither they nor you pay out any money here. Nothing to invest, deposit or buy. No collateral to put up. But—you do need good character references. This is not an opening for the man off the street. The floater will not get anywhere here. We want and must have men with family responsibilities, neither too young nor too old, in fairly good health and able to do a good day's work without alibis or whining.

I expect the same of YOU as my company expects and demands of me. I can't sell an excuse to my company. I can't explain away a failure. They and I know that there are men who start out like cannon crackers and end up like duds. Others start small and steadily increase their earnings. There are stern demands facing you and your family daily. There are expenses that have to be met. It takes real money to meet them. And it takes real work to earn that real money. If a man has a sufficient idea of what the depression has been about, and realizes that many fine past positions are no longer available, then he will have a better idea of this business of ours that is available and which is closing its fourth consecutive record sales year. The world may have been topsy-turvy but this business has gone straight ahead. And MEN have been paid generously and without wait or excuse. There is always plenty of cash here to immediately meet every demand. On that basis this marvelous business has grown. Nowhere on earth is it dependent on seasons. It is not just a fill-in, but it is regular, steady, dependable, and above all else, full time. We want men who will come ready to learn how this business is done, so that they can do it that way—not to tell us how they think it can be done. In our field we lead in sales throughou the entire world.

If you are sincere and wish both income and permanency, will start on a reasonable basis, and make your way as fast as you wish, getting more and more as you earn it, then come for an interview prompty at 2:00 p. m., no other time, Wednesday, Oct. 18—in Room 215 at 1046 Wilson Ave. Ask for John H. Wright.

Learn Beauty Culture at DeLee

Girls who learn beauty culture and hairdressing at DeLEE under the personal supervision of MADAME LOUISE, assure themselves good paying, pleasant positions. Visit DeLEE today and let the Dean explain exactly why you can get a better position with more pay if you are trained the DeLEE way. If you can't come in, write for the FREE DeLEE book!

Individual Instruction

At DeLEE you are not herded in a classroom with a hundred other girls. You actually receive individual, personalized instruction. The DeLEE "university type" of schooling is available to YOU at tuition fees no greater than those charged elsewhere for the ordinary "trade school" type of training. Terms can be arranged to suit you. When you are graduated the FREE DeLEE employment service will help place you in a good position. Visit DeLEE today—it's America's most modern, most beautiful beauty school. Or—write for the Free DeLEE Book, "Your Career in Beauty Culture."

SOLUTION TO CASE SEVENTY-SIX

Mrs. Thistlewood said she had known no man intimately after the death of her husband. Had this been true the girl, Evan, could not have been her daughter, or the daughter of Maj. Thistelwood.

Knowing that war was declared by Great Britain against Germany on Aug. 4, 1914, and that the historic retreat at Mons started on Aug. 24, 1914, the girl could not possibly have been the daughter of the major had her 14th birthday been on Dec. 24, 1928.
